WHERE 'WE WILL' THERE'S A WAY

—Chicago's New Proverb.

BY HENRY M. HYDE.

"We are going into competition with the devil."

The Socialist administration of Milwaukee had opened its municipal dance hall, and Emil Seidel, then mayor, was defending it against the attacks of people who declared that public dance halls were all sinks of iniquity and sin. Seidel admitted that the ordinary public dance hall was a recruiting station for the red light district. He went as far as the most fanatic reformer in painting the evils of such resorts under private ownership and run on a commercial basis.

The reformers and opponents of the Socialist administration declared that instead of opening another dance hall the city government should pass a law closing all public dance halls.

EXACTLY at that point Mayor Seidel took issue with them and with the ancient fetish of making the world better by edict.

He recognized the fact that the love of excitement and amusement is born in every boy and girl; that, in every great city, there are tens of thousands who have no opportunity of getting recreation and amusement in their homes; that the public dance hall offers to many their only chance of any kind of social life, and that to close the halls would simply drive them into other and even more questionable ways of meeting a deep and legitimate human need.

Instead of adopting the negative policy of issuing a formal and more or less ineffective edict against disreputable halls, he proposed that the city should "go into competition with the devil" by opening a public dance hall in which young people might enjoy themselves under the best auspices.

THE public dances held during the Seidel administration were increasingly successful. But at the next election the Socialists were defeated and the dance hall was closed. There remains only the expression of the new ideal of government, which depends no longer on the policeman's club to suppress evil manifestations and perversions of fundamental human needs and passions, but devotes itself rather to offering a proper and beneficial outlet for the irrepressible activities of men and women.

Lest any one be too much shocked at the idea of a municipal dance hall it may be worth while to point out that municipal dances are regularly held in most of the small parks and playgrounds of Chicago and that during the winter municipal dances are held at public expense in the schoolhouses which have been opened as social centers.

Incidentally it is on record that in one or two instances public dance halls of the usual character located in the neighborhood of the playgrounds have been forced to close. So Chicago has the advantage of Milwaukee in that to some extent its "competition with the devil" has been successful.

IN Milwaukee the fight on the municipal dance hall was chiefly due to the fact that it was a project of the Socialists. In Chicago, where on a much larger scale municipal dances are in successful operation, there is no audible opposition to the plan—largely, again, because there is no taint of Socialism about it. At least, if the municipal dances were proposed by the Socialists one is certain that there would be a large and violent outcry against them.

All of which illustrates how men quarrel about words; how unreasoning most people are in their support of or opposition to a given plan. If the Socialists were simply to change their name it is probable that many of their ideas and projects would receive almost universal approval, while at the same time it is

FEDERALS SLAY FRIEND OF MADERO

Incidents of Day in Mexican Crisis.

Congress may show world solidarity of American people by passing resolution approving President Wilson's stand.

Gen. Huerta believed ready to listen to further peace parley after pressure by foreign nations, which point out inability of disrupted country to negotiate further loans.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Congress may give emphatic evidence to Mexico and the world of the solidarity of the American people where foreign questions are concerned.

Following the personal delivery by the president probably on Monday of his message describing the Mexican situation and the futile negotiations with Gen. Huerta, a resolution may be passed expressing the approval of the legislative branch of the government with the way in which the chief executive is handling the situation.

If such action should be taken it will be a striking demonstration of the unity which prevails in this government in connection with foreign controversies. The men who are advocating the adoption of a resolution such as described claim to be encouraged by the way their proposal has been received by the Republicans and Progressives who have been approached.

All Congress Not in Accord.

It does not necessarily follow that what the president has done in connection with the Mexican situation is satisfactory to senators and congressmen even of his own party. He explained his policy to the members of the two foreign relations committees, and some of those who heard him expressed astonishment at his apparent belief that the Lind mission could be a success.

The Minnesotan was sent to Mexico City to demand the retirement from office of a man who had everything to lose and nothing to gain by such a course. Moreover, it was evident that Huerta would utilise the interference of the United States to create an anti-American sentiment from which he would derive profit.

What Lind Mission Has Done.

What was expected has come to pass. The sole gain of the United States from the dispatch of the Lind mission has been:

First—A demonstration to the world of the desire of the United States peacefully to end the strife in Mexico without offense or injury to the sovereignty of Mexico.

Second—To convince Gen. Huerta that a stage in the revolution has been reached where the material interests of the United States force it to demand a cessation of the warfare.

Third—To prove to the American people that the Washington government is not indifferent to the outrages perpetrated upon Americans and their interests in the neighboring republic.

Wilson Sees Peace Ahead.

The president is confident that, given time, a peaceful result will flow from the negotiations he has initiated. Gen. Huerta has been making desperate efforts to obtain funds with which to continue his campaign of suppression of the revolution.

He has failed in Europe because of the absolute refusal of the United States to recognize his government. Without funds he cannot maintain himself in power for any length of time. The poverty of his resources and the emptiness of his treasury will be strong arguments undoubtedly for him to be less stiffnecked in his attitude toward the United States.

The authorities here also have reason to believe that various foreign governments, especially those of Latin America, will urge Huerta not to go too far in dealing with this country.

The great states of South America are concerned over the development of a situation which might lead to the permanent occupation of Mexico by this government. Rather than permit anything of the kind, they would go to the extreme limit of diplomacy in order to force Huerta to yield.

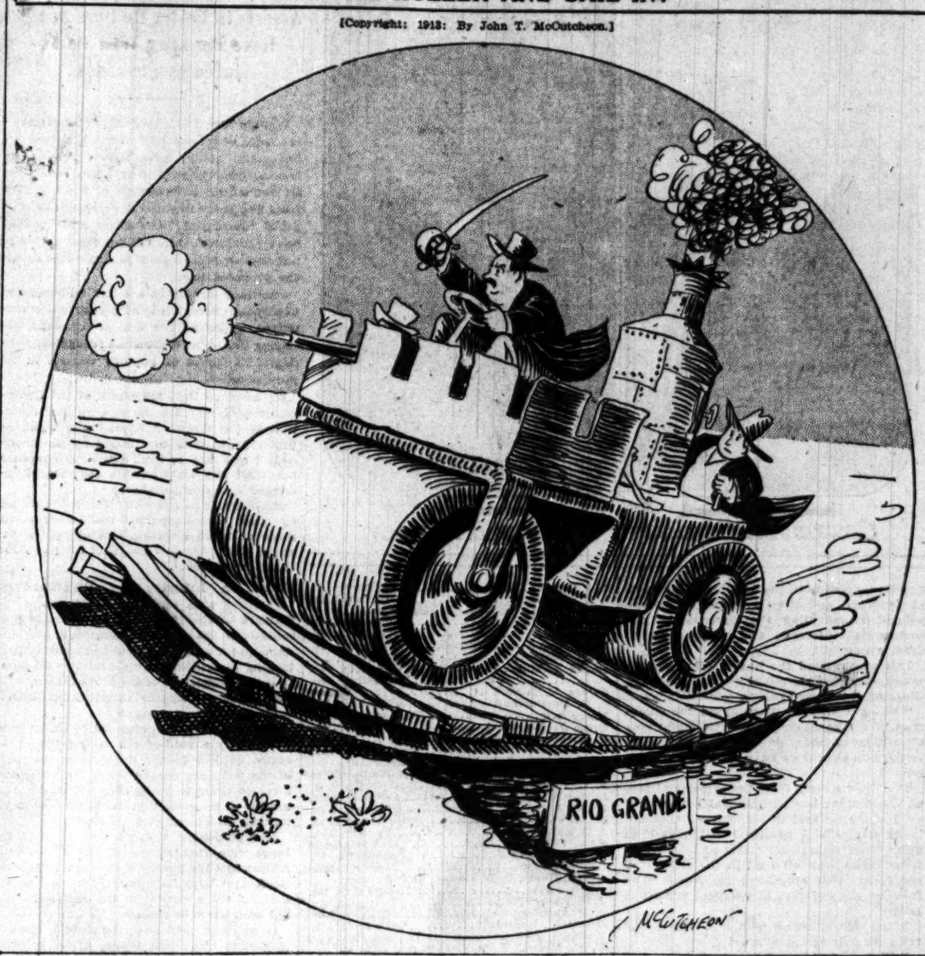

Secretary Bryan Warns Mexicans.

Curt warning to both the Huerta and Constitutionalist commanders at La Boquilla, Chihuahua, Mexico, that the United States will hold them personally responsible for any violence against Americans by "any one claiming civil or military authority" was sent today by Secretary Bryan through American Consul Letcher at Chihuahua City. Mr. Bryan's telegram said:

"Information having been received by this government that threats of violence and

LAKE FRONT PLAN WINS U. S. CONSENT

SHORE LINE APPROVED.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Within the next ten days the government will grant permission to the South park board to carry out the Burnham plan of beautifying Chicago lake front.

Acting Secretary of War Breckenridge will authorize a projection of the shore line between Sixteenth street and Jackson park to a point more than half a mile out in the lake. A similar project between Grant park and Sixteenth street already has been authorized for the location of the Field museum.

With the new shore line fixed, the park authorities will reclaim the submerged strip of land and lay out therein a system of boulevards, lagoons, and other landscape effects proposed in the Burnham plan.

South Park Board Seeks Permit.

The application for a permit to fill in a strip along the south shore was made by President Payne of the South park board following the consummation of the agreement between the city and park board and the Illinois Central railway in respect to riparian rights and right of way. The permit was asked under the authority congress gave to the secretary of war to change shore lines in Chicago to accommodate park improvement plans.

After an extended study of the Burnham plan and a hearing, Col. Zinn, the government engineer in Chicago, reported to the war department that he found no valid objection to the proposition. The application then was taken under advisement by Gen. W. H. Bixby, chief of engineers, who personally was not in sympathy with the plan. Gen. Bixby always has favored the location of commercial harbors on Chicago lake front and had little patience with the beautification scheme.

Property Owners' Objections Lost.

Numerous objections to the application were filed with Gen. Bixby by Chicago lawyers representing south side property and other interests. The agreement with the Illinois Central was attacked by these parties as an iniquitous bargain.

Just before retiring to private life a fortnight ago, however, Gen. Bixby recommended that the secretary of war issue the permit. The general approved the application on the ground that the change of the shore line would not interfere with navigation so long as Chicago elects to devote its lake front to park purposes.

The police made arrangements to provide for the family.

SHE'D MAKE A GREAT COP, "ABE" OF MAYOR'S STAFF SAYS

Woman Applicant Exhibits Muscle and Shows Strength by Hoisting Clerk in the Air.

Abe Merinbaum, pardon clerk, was in charge of Mayor Harrison's office yesterday when an alert, aggressive woman entered.

"What is it you want?" Merinbaum asked after he had told her the mayor was on his vacation.

"I want a job as a policewoman."

"Have you been recommended as fitted for the work?"

"I'm fitted all right. Feel my muscle," and she nearly burst her right sleeve as she contracted the biceps.

Abe put a finger and a thumb on the place she designated. Then he laughed.

"I'll show you! Come on over here!" and grasping Abe's shoulder she started to drag him across the railing.

Abe isn't so big as "Jim" Donohue, the mayor's bodyguard, now on an outing in Michigan, and his heels were in the air. Only the grasp of his hands on the railing saved him.

"'Snuff! 'Snuff!" he yelled, and the police force candidate released him.

"All those jobs are filled. We're all out of 'em," he stammered when he had caught his breath.

Atlantic City Gas Victim a New York Girl Who Was Engaged to Wealthy Club and Sports Man.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Positive identification was made late tonight of the body of the pretty young woman who ended her life by inhaling illuminating gas in the Hotel Islesworth. She was Miss Veronica Bishop of New York, who asserted she was the fiancée of Louis E. Larocque, the wealthy clubman and cross country rider who committed suicide by leaping into Long Island sound from Darling's dock at Port Jefferson on the night of Aug. 5.

Miss Bishop is the same girl who made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide from the same spot that Larocque made his fatal jump.

She was intercepted as she rushed upon the dock from an automobile early on the morning of Aug. 18.

Insurgents Declare Intention of Firing on Kaiser's Consulate and Cruiser at Nanking—Aid Ordered to Scene.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Advices received by the German foreign office today from Nanking, China, indicate that trouble is impending between the German naval officers and the southern revolutionaries, who threaten to bombard the German consulate and the German cruiser Emden.

The insurgent leader sent a letter to the German consul at Nanking, declaring that the Emden had bombarded the rebel positions on Lion hill, and announcing his intention of retaliating on the German cruiser and the consulate. The consul denied the allegation.

In the meantime the German armored cruiser Scharnhorst has been sent to Nanking.

KAISER IN RANKS OF TEETOTALERS

Forswears Fatherland's Famous Beer and Refuses Choicest Wines.

TALKS ON TEMPERANCE.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—The kaiser has joined the ranks of teetotalers. He has forsworn the fatherland's famous beer and cut out its choicest wines. His favorite drink is now lemonade with a dash of orange juice, but he does not force this beverage on his guests, to whom the usual wines are served.

These facts have become public since the kaiser returned from his vacation cruise. Little space is given to them in the newspapers for the same reason perhaps as when the minister of education of a south German state some time ago opposed the establishment of a good templar lodge on the ground that it threatened one of the most important industries of Germany.

Long Cruise Without Liquor.

It is reported that the kaiser did not touch any alcoholic beverage throughout his northern cruise. Persons who are in close contact with him say that this is the result of the emperor's conviction that alcohol lessens the working capacity of a man. He often expresses the opinion to members of his entourage that immoderate drinking is one of the greatest factors in retarding the development of nations.

Some time ago the kaiser demanded the latest alcoholic statistics as to suicides, accidents, and crimes, which resulted from immoderate drinking. After a study of these statistics he experimented on himself and found that even small quantities of liquor lessened his energy and capacity for work, whereupon, with characteristic impulsiveness, he cut out alcohol entirely.

Talks on Temperance.

He never missed an opportunity to descant on the value of temperance and the result is that the members of his suite who like their wine touch it lightly when dining in his presence.

While he was swearing in the naval recruits at Wilhelmshaven recently, the emperor took occasion to deliver a lecture on temperance and drank a toast to water.

He also recently told army officers who asked if there would be any objection if his health were drunk in water that on the contrary he would be well pleased.

CHASED TO DEATH BY BEGGAR.

Unidentified Man Tries to Escape Persistent Alms Seeker and Is Crushed by Car.

Five cents might have saved the life of an unidentified man crushed to death last night by a Wabash avenue car at Eighth street. The victim was trying to escape a professional beggar when the car struck him. In the dead man's pocket was found 60 cents. He had been heard by passersby to tell the beggar he had no money to spare. The beggar was so insistent he did not give up the chase until he saw his quarry ground under the wheels. Then he ran.

RELEASED TO SAVE WIFE'S LIFE.

Michigan Farmer Let Out on Bond Following Shooting of Chicago Woman.

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—His wife so ill that she is liable to die at any moment, George Seibert, the Fruitland township farmer, was released today upon signing his own bond for $1,000. The physician for Seibert's wife declared unless the woman saw her husband at once she probably would succumb. Seibert had been arraigned upon a charge of assault, following his shooting of Mrs. Charles Roselle, a Chicago woman, who still is in a serious condition.

BANKERS PREPARE TO YIELD TODAY ON WILSON BILL

Currency Conference Committee Adopts Policy of Conciliation and Co-operation.

REYNOLDS' WARNING HEEDED

HEATED DEBATES ENLIVEN SESSIONS

If the recommendations of its committee on resolutions are adopted the American bankers' conference, in session in Chicago, will yield today to President Wilson's currency reform plan while urging several amendments before final enactment.

The resolutions committee of the conference at midnight recessed after spending last evening in going over the Glass-Owen banking bill paragraph by paragraph. Early in its deliberations the committee decided not to present to the conference a resolution offered during the afternoon by James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank of Chicago.

The Forgan resolution demanded that no currency legislation be enacted at the present session of congress. It calls for the formation of a new commission to draft an entirely new bill.

Way to Get Legislation.

The attitude of the committee on resolutions was in line with the spirit of the address delivered late in the afternoon by President George M. Reynolds of the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago.

Mr. Reynolds urged the conference to deal with the national administration in a cooperative and conciliatory spirit. Such an attitude, he predicted, would evolve a bill which would improve present conditions and be susceptible to modification and amendment later.

The entire first day's session of the conference, called by the currency commission of the American Bankers' association, at the Hotel La Salle, was featured by sharp debate on the Glass-Owen currency measure. The meeting was attended by 200 bankers, representing all sections of the country, most of them delegates from clearing house associations and state bankers' organizations.

The committee on resolutions will report this morning, and further acrid discussion is expected.

Expects Approval Today.

After the night meeting of the resolutions committee, of which Mr. Reynolds is a member, he predicted that the conciliation tone would meet with the approval of the conference.

"We hope to be able to present the recommendations of the resolutions committee by noon tomorrow," he said. "Some heated debate may result, but I believe the temper of the bankers present is to follow the wisest course—coöperation with President Wilson."

Mr. Reynolds said the conference would take the committee's recommendations up as soon as they were finished and he had no doubt action would at once be taken, so the conference could finish its business this afternoon.

Forgan Demands New Bill.

Early in the day Mr. Forgan precipitated the discussion by taking a radical position diametrically opposed to that later assumed by Mr. Reynolds. Mr. Forgan branded the entire bill as bad and favored the drafting of a new measure by the conference.

"The Glass-Owen measure is not a measure of expansion," Mr. Forgan declared, "it is a measure of the most damnable contraction that ever took place in any country."

This denunciation excited general debate and the climax came when Mr. Reynolds sounded his note of warning by pointing out concessions already made by congress and predicting more if delicately handled. Mr. Reynolds held a conference with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo in New York Thursday and many of his utterances were regarded as almost those of the Wilson administration because of his thinly veiled language.

Reynolds Sounds Warning.

"I am not anxious to exploit as a prophet," Mr. Reynolds said in his address, "but I have had considerable contact with the people who are in control of this legislation, and I think I have some justification for the prophecy which I propose to make here today. That is, that it will be possible for us, if we work in a spirit of coöperation and are conciliatory in our attitude—if we strive to harmonize in our differences, to compromise—we can accomplish something.

"I do not mean we must fail to express our opinion upon any subject, because I would not ask any man to hide his light under a bushel.

"We are confronted with a condition and not a theory, and it seems to me the condition is whether we want legislation. If you have read the newspapers you must have noticed that since the bill has gone into the house caucus all this contention of filibustering which comes to us from Washington does not portend any good to the bill, because it is all raised by men who are so extremely radical they would put us out of business if they could.

Condition to Be Met.

"While I recognize the condition is extremely close and while I have grave doubts whether Mr. Owen himself can take his own bill out, I believe President Wilson will be able to put through some currency bill at this session.

"Furthermore, I am imbued with the belief that he intends to put through some currency bill. The question is: Are we ready to coöperate with him to the extent of having put through the best bill that shall be devised under all circumstances and then take

Sees Concessions to Bankers.

In recapitulating the concessions made to the bankers by the house committee he mentioned the treatment of the United States bonds securing bank notes aggregating $730,000,000. The reincorporation of that clause and its subsequent modification he considered caring for "the most important thing in the whole currency legislation from the standpoint of practical banking." He also called attention to the modification allowing central reserve banks to determine the bank rate.

"They have modified the section which relates to the earning power of the investment which the member bank will make," Mr. Reynolds continued, "namely, by increasing the rate of interest which the bankers will receive, who will be stockholders, from 5 per cent to a division of the profits above 5 per cent, forty per cent of the profits above 5 per cent going to the member banks after the 20 per cent fund has been created, and thereafter that would be divided among all the banks in proportion to the balances which they carry.

Advisory Committee Praised.

"They have provided furthermore for an advisory committee, which we contended for at the time as a compromise, and while I grant you that thus far the advisory committee is not clothed with any power, yet it is the basis of such power, and I believe we can get that committee clothed with some veto power which will take away the danger very largely.

"They have incorporated in the bill a section providing for a savings department in the national banks, which was not included in the original bill, and which, while defective in many respects and particularly in respect to the investment of savings accounts, will, I think, serve national banks very advantageously.

"I think Mr. Forgan or some gentleman this morning stated that there were 3,700 banks now maintaining savings departments by warrant of the grace of the controller of the currency, for which they carry 25 per cent reserve. Now the savings departments provided for in this bill allow for a segregation of their capital to such an extent that it may be a little burdensome, but those are only matters of detail which can be modified and clarified.

Assured It Will Be Modified.

"The bill as it is before the house caucus does not provide for the modification of the reserve section as we had hoped, but I violate no confidence when I say that those in control of this legislation have given us assurances they would modify them in the bill when it goes to the senate, and that the recommendations of the bankers in reference to the reserve shall stand—12 per cent for the country banks and 18 per cent for the reserve city banks, and 20 per cent for the present reserve city.

"I believe that with proper action, by the exercise of patience and diplomacy, we can have the number of reserve banks reduced to five. I believe one is infinitely better than five, but we are confronted with an attitude on the part of the party in power that makes it possible to have that considered at this time.

"Therefore, it seems to me that if we follow the line of policy which will start out with the smallest number taking the least possible money from the banks of the country and grow up gradually to a bigger condition, that it is very much safer and better. I think we can have that section of the bill modified so that we can get along with five or possibly six federal reserve banks."

Mr. Reynolds was accorded extended applause, and a similar demonstration was given Festus J. Wade of St. Louis when he backed the Chicagoan and attacked the political feeling that he believed pervaded the discussion.

"Bankers Not Ignored."

"It seems to be the general idea among all bankers that the powers that be at Washington have ignored us as a class of business men," Mr. Wade said. "At the bankers' convention in Atlantic City I found this rumor so circulated that it became an accepted fact. Later our committee met President Wilson and others at Washington and found the reverse to be the case. We were given a hearing from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. and given the most courteous attention.

"I regret that for the first time I am opposed to Mr. Forgan. Some years ago we bankers unanimously supported a currency bill in a Republican congress and we had a Republican president. The bill never came out of the pigeon hole. Then there was the Aldrich bill under almost similar conditions, and we got nothing there.

"Mr. Reynolds tells us that if radical legislation is made possible the people may insist on subscribing for the stock in the reserve banks. That is not new, for it is so in the Bank of England, that of France and Germany.

"No, gentlemen, the way to get what we want is not by hitting the heads of the powers that be. If we can't agree on anything better than a sweeping denunciation of the national administration we had better adjourn. We should strive to get a bill that will not benefit us as bankers alone, but as citizens of the United States at large."

Hepburn Presents Objections.

The objections of all favoring the central bank system to the twelve regional banks provided in the present bill were presented in the opening address, made by A. Barton Hepburn of Chase National bank of New York City, chairman of the meeting. The Glass measure recognized the principle of one bank, he thought, so "why should it not be correctly applied?"

"Why should not the law create one central bank, which should have branches wherever there is commercial need for them?" he asked. "Such a plan would be simpler, less cumbersome, and more certain in operation, and far more efficient. There would then be no need to give the federal reserve board authority to direct one section of the country to loan money to another, for the central authority would then control all the deposits and all the loans, and they would make loans to those sections of the country where most needed.

"As matters stand today, whenever stringency in the money market exists, our 25,000 banks begin competing with each other to strengthen their cash reserves. In doing so they intensify the stringency and aggravate the trouble. The disposition of bank managers to strengthen their individual institution is natural and inevitable.

Resolution Urges Commission.

"In viewing the proposed legislation one of the most natural questions, then, is whether the establishment of these regional reserve banks will remedy or aggravate that condition. Will there not naturally and inevitably be competition between the regional reserve banks, competition between the twelve sections of the country, and may we not in the end have competition for cash holdings between individual banks added to the competition of section against section, reserve bank against reserve bank?

"The framers of the measure evidently recognise that danger and seek to palliate it by giving to the federal reserve board the authority to force one reserve bank to loan to another. Under the conditions that would exist would not the exercise of that authority fail to accomplish the just distribution of funds? Is there not a strong possibility that in exercising that authority factors would be created that would endanger the smooth working and permanence of the whole plan?"

Mr. Forgan followed the chairman with resolutions prepared by them which went into the currency bill exhaustively and wound up by demanding that no currency legislation be enacted until the next regular session of congress, and that a committee be appointed representing the government, the commercial interests, and the bankers to draft a new bill.

This precipitated the heated discussion in which Mr. Forgan, referring to Chairman Glass of the house banking committee, said:

"When I was in Washington the chairman of the house committee told me he was utterly incompetent in handling such matters. Why should we have such men to draft laws?"

This drew a reply from Congressman Glass at Washington last night in which he said:

"I modestly said to Mr. Forgan that not being a practical banker I felt myself at great disadvantage in dealing with the question. That was all said in the privacy of my room. His statement as quoted is as false as his violation of personal privacy is gross."

When Mr. Forgan was told Mr. Glass' reply his only comment was:

"Well, I can't help it."

Many Enter Debate.

The discussion over the Forgan resolutions was participated in by Reynolds and Wade, Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust company, Chicago; H. A. Moehlenpah, president of the Wisconsin State Bankers' association; W. T. Fenton, president of the National Bank of the Republic, Chicago; J. J. Sullivan of Toledo, Joseph T. Talbert, vice president of the National City bank, New York city, and C. A. Hinsch, Cincinnati, most of whom favored more conservative action.

Resolutions Committee Formed.

The following were selected as the committee on resolutions:

CURRENCY COMMISSION—James B. Forgan, chairman; George M. Reynolds, John Perrin, Los Angeles; Sol Wexler, New Orleans, and A. Barton Hepburn, New York.

STATE BANKING ASSOCIATIONS—E. J. Hill, Connecticut; Nathan Adams, Texas; George A. Helderness, North Carolina; H. A. Moehlenpah, Wisconsin, and R. S. Hawes, Missouri.

CLEARING HOUSE ASSOCIATIONS—E. F. Swinney, Kansas City, Mo.; R. F. Maddox, Atlanta, Ga.; Stoddard Jess, Los Angeles; S. O. Fitton, Hamilton, O., and Graham G. Lacey, St. Joseph, Mo.

When the committee adjourned its afternoon session to participate in an informal dinner given at the La Salle by the Chicago Clearing House association, members reported little progress made. Chairman Heburn objected to being named on the committee, because, as he said, "the administration at Washington is trying to create a sentiment for the bill by attacks on Wall street." He was finally persuaded by Mr. Forgan that that was the reason he should act.

Conciliation Banquet Note.

The spirit of conciliation and compromise marked the attitude of the speakers at the banquet in the evening. Every speaker who touched upon the currency question made a plea for the acceptance of legislation which they declared would not be all that was desired but which might be built upon later.

The speeches were impromptu and were limited. Harry A. Wheeler, vice president of the Union Trust company, began the argument for calm action by the bankers.

"There is no need for frenzy," he said. "There are three separate interests that must be satisfied in this legislation. First, the bankers—and we know that we are not going to get all that we want, but we must realize that there are others in the country also interested, and we will have to give in on some things. Then the administration must be satisfied, and, thirdly, the commerce of the country.

"We must not take the stand of condemning everything just because it does not please us in its entirety. Let us compromise and we will get a workable foundation which later we can build upon and rearrange until it is more to our needs."

George H. Russell of Detroit, John Phillips of Green Valley, Ill., and Joseph Chapman of Minneapolis spoke in the same vein.

BRYAN SUPPORTS CURRENCY BILL

POINTED TO AS 'DESERTER'

Asserts in Letter He Does Not Believe Banking Will Be Injured by Provision.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Supporters of the administration currency bill scored an important victory in the house Democratic caucus today when they brought to their aid an unqualified indorsement of the measure from Secretary Bryan and defeated the proposed "insurgent" amendments that would have prohibited interlocking directorates in national or state banks incorporated under the proposed law.

Secretary Bryan, in a letter addressed to Chairman Carter Glass of the currency committee, approved the bill as it stands, declaring President Wilson had recognised fundamental rights of popular control in its provisions.

He asserted that the plank of the Democratic platform against interlocking directorates was aimed chiefly at trusts and he urged Democrats to "stand by the president" and not to load down the currency bill with any amendments that might endanger its early passage.

Mr. Bryan's action was bitterly denounced by those who supported the amendments, some of them accusing him of having deserted the progressive wing of the party for that of reaction.

Fight on Interlocking Directorates.

Fortified with the backing of one of the framers of the Baltimore platform, Representatives Glass and Underwood met the demand for an amendment to prohibit interlocking directorates with a counter proposal that the Democrats of the house take up general legislation against interlocking directorates at the next session.

A resolution by Representative Underwood adopted by a vote of 130 to 60 referred the entire subject to the Democratic members of the judiciary committee of the house and directed them to bring in a bill at the next session of congress that would prevent interlocking directorates of all kinds.

Administration leaders tonight said the large vote that supported the Underwood motion and the hearty approval that greeted Secretary Bryan's indorsement of the bill assured the approval of the complete Glass bill with but little change.

It was not until near the close of the session that Chairman Glass, after declaring that President Wilson did not want such an amendment incorporated in the bill, brought forth the Bryan letter.

Fought Trust Directorates.

In his letter Secretary Bryan declared that for many years he had advocated a law preventing a duplicating of directorates.

"While the principle applies to banks as well as to trusts—although, I think, in a less degree"—the secretary wrote, "the plan has been considered mainly as a means of dealing with the trust evil. Competition cannot be effectively prevented where the same men act as directors of competing companies.

"I am as much in favor of the remedy now as I was when I began to advocate it; in fact, more so, because recently disclosures have given further proof of the employment of this means of eliminating competition; but I do not think it wise to make it a part of the pending currency bill.

"The bill embodies certain provisions of great importance and is, I believe, fundamentally sound. The provision in regard to the government issue of the notes to be loaned to the banks is the first triumph of the people in connection with currency legislation in a generation. It is hard to overestimate the value of this feature of the bill.

Government Control of Currency.

"In the second place, the bill provides for government control of the issue of this money. This is another distinct triumph for the people, one without which the government issue of the money would be largely a barren victory.

"The third provision in this bill, which I regard as of the first importance, is the one permitting state banks to share with national banks the advantages of the currency system proposed."

CITY DANCE HALLS ROUT PUBLIC DENS

THREE or four years ago there was an epidemic of Socialist victories all over the country. In two score widely scattered towns and cities Socialists were chosen as mayors, aldermen, and other municipal officials. To many sane and sober, if prejudiced minds, the thing was ominous. Terrible were the prophecies of revolution and disaster. It was the beginning of the end of law and order.

To the fanatic and equally prejudiced Socialist these first triumphs of his party were even more significant. They meant, somewhat vaguely, the coming in of a new era; the final downfall of the capitalist; the quick rising to supreme power of the working class.

AND then, after all, nothing—or next to nothing—happened. Some of the Socialist officials did their jobs well; some failed utterly. In certain cities the administration was charged with graft; in others the officials became involved in most unsocialistic squabbles for the spoils of office. Actual executive power exerted its always sobering influence; some of the unselfish devotion which always characterizes the leaders of a party which is fighting in opposition seemed to vanish—as is also always the case—when and where the party came into power.

But in any party to which thousands of poor men gladly pay a regular monthly tax out of their slender earnings, without even a hope of getting "on the pay roll," there must be much that is worth while. It remains for the citizens of Chicago—including now the women—to take from the Socialist propaganda and platform what seem to them the best and most immediate issues.

ONE of the most interesting things for which Socialism in Chicago is responsible is the establishment of the Workers' Municipal Government school. It is not likely that one out of a hundred Chicago voters has ever heard its name. Yet in this school for the first time in Chicago voters are being trained and educated in a practical way to take up the work of municipal government.

It has been running for the last two years, with a number of professors and lecturers, not all of whom are Socialists. The first year there were more than a hundred students registered, the school meeting two evenings a week for twenty weeks, with a tuition charge of $2.

By way of making the study and instruction as practicable as possible the students were organized into a moot city council and each assigned to one or more of fourteen committees. To each committee specific problems were given and its members were required to work them out and present their solution to the full council for approval. Thus there were committees on finance, public health, education, parks and playgrounds, garbage and waste, new city charter; gas, electricity, and telephone; transportation, police, streets and alleys, labor conditions, housing, and unemployment.

IN the work of studying the questions assigned to them the members of the committee conferred with appropriate members of the regular city government, thus getting an idea of the difficulties which confront the official in actual practice.

Among these first year students it is encouraging to notice there were several employés of the city controller's office and the city gas department. One of the first year graduates was C. M. Madsen, a working painter, afterwards elected to the lower house of the state legislature.

Whatever one may think of Socialism, there can be no doubt that any agency which makes a considerable number of young men acquainted with the machinery and the ideals of city government is doing a good work. For in a great city like Chicago the ignorance of men and of issues with which the great mass of voters approach the polls is a far greater menace to good government than the corruption and bribery which exists among a few.

GAYNOR TO FIGHT TAMMANY TIGER

HITS BLOW AT ENEMY.

Asserts He Has Prevented Spoilation; Expects to Get Support of Some Republicans.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Edward E. McCall has agreed to take the Tammany designation for mayor when it comes to him tomorrow. He was decided on at a Tammany conference late last night. R. Ross Appleton, chairman of the principal Gaynor committee, said today Mayor Gaynor had promised to lead a fight against McCall and John Purroy Mitchel, the fusion nominee. Thus New York is confronted with a three cornered fight of a sort not unlike that which resulted in Mr. Gaynor's own election four years ago.

The events of today came quickly—more quickly than the Tammany men themselves expected. None of Mr. McCall's friends thought he would be able to weigh conditions so swiftly.

When Mr. McCall reached the office of the public service commission this morning he was ready with his reply.

Gaynor in Tart Statement.

Mayor Gaynor was reluctant to discuss the Tammany choice. He denied himself to interviewers, but in answer to a written request for a statement of his intentions he sent out the following:

"There is one thing I can say to the whole city. I have not turned the city, or the ratepayers and taxpayers of the city over to the spoliation of any one. I have not turned them over to the spoliation of any organized band, who make that their pursuit in life, and whose smug and sleek faces and figures are standing evidence that they wax rich and fat by filching by this cunning way and by that, the taxes paid into the treasury by their industrious and respectable neighbors. The rentpayers and taxpayers may now turn themselves and the city over to the spoliation of such people if they want to. I am able to say that I have not done it.

"Whether I am to run again depends entirely on the wishes of my fellow citizens. I have had a pretty hard time for four years to hold my own against all comers, and against every corrupt influence, but I have been mayor."

Says Gaynor Will Run.

The mayor's statement reached the newspapers a few minutes before several of the chairmen of various Gaynor committees reached the city hall. R. Ross Appleton came at the mayor's request. They talked for half an hour and then both left.

"Will he run independently?" Mr. Appleton was asked.

"He will."

"Has he told you he will in so many words?"

"He has."

Mr. Appleton was asked to tell where the managers of Mr. Gaynor's campaign expected his support to come from. He replied that half of it would come from the Republicans.

M'WEENY REJECTS ALL AUTO LIGHTS

4 DAYS TO STOP GLARE.

Condemns Devices Offered for Protection of Pedestrians Under New Law.

BY REED L. PARKER.

All headlights on automobiles in Chicago fail to meet the requirements of the law as interpreted by Chief of Police McWeeny. They are either too brilliant or too dim, he says.

The chief personally superintended a review of motor cars at the Rush street bridge last night. For two hours members of the police department, lighting experts, engineers, and a committee from the associated roads organizations of Chicago and Cook county watched the passing show. At the end the chief made his sweeping declaration.

As a solution to the problem, which should be solved, he said, by Tuesday night, the chief submitted an idea of his own, which he said should reduce brilliant reflection to an absolute zero. Engineers and lighting experts present at the test are skeptical, but at the chief's suggestion will try to prepare and submit today working specifications of the idea of the chief.

Idea of Chief of Police.

McWeeny's proposition was to fit a lead colored sleeve inside the light, completely covering the face of the reflector. The sleeve could be detached when touring in the country. The chief even suggested the deadener should be made of an alloy of antimony and lead.

Engineers objected to the chief's proposition, saying the differences in shapes and design of various reflectors now manufactured would make it impossible to secure a device universally applicable; that it would be next to impossible to fit the sleeve perfectly; that the sleeve could not be so fastened as to avoid a continual rattle; that the only suspension provided is the diminutive electric bulb, which is too frail to stand the additional strain.

The police department has been notified that on Tuesday the lid will be clamped down. Rigid enforcement of the lighting ordinance was to have been begun tonight, but the chief said he would give the automobile men four days of grace.

Criticises Every Light.

The chief frankly criticised every light to which his attention was called, giving reasons for his opinion. The visor patented and widely marketed within the month, the light with upper half of its face painted or covered with soap and silver polish he condemned because the glare was thrown upward when the car ran up any sort of an incline.

The multiple prismatic lens, another recent product, he said, merely diffused a number of blinding rays, instead of one. The glazed light did not sufficiently moderate the glare, he said. Soap or silver polish spread over the face of the light only slightly ameliorated the glare.

The lights equipped with a series multiple switch—a device which throws the current for one light through both bulbs producing a moderate red glow—the chief said would serve the purpose if all motor drivers were law abiding. He said the percentage of lawbiders was too low to risk approval of the device.

The chief did not confine his derogatory remarks to glaring headlights and side lights. He also disapproved the flickering oil side lamp which gives a dim uncertain warning.

Many Officials Present.

In addition to the chief, those who took part in the review were First Deputy Herman Schuettler, Second Deputy Maj. Funkhouser, Sergt. Delaney of the vehicle bureau, Harry Hudson, examiner of public vehicle chauffeurs; J. Louis Jacobs, efficiency examiner for the civil service commission; W. J. Galligan, first assistant superintendent of streets; Elton Lower of the civil service commission, George F. Ballou, Henry Paulman, Harry Fowler, Charles Hayes of the Associated Roads organizations, and Harry Fend. William B. Stout and Ward Perry, electrical engineers.

Schuettler and Funkhouser came to the review in autos, the lamps of which in their estimation met the requirements of the ordinance. But the chief disapproved the lighting methods used by both. Schuettler used the prismatic lens type; Funkhouser the white paint covering the upper part of the lamps' faces.

OPINIONS OF EXPERT.

BY WILLIAM B. STOUT

(Member Technical Committee Associated Roads Organization).

The proper solution of the nonglaring headlight cannot be arrived at in a day, nor can police regulation abate the nuisance by mere ordinance enforcement without working hardship to the motorist and danger to the walking public by spoiling the efficiency of the driving light.

There is more danger to both public and motorist through doing away with the absolutely essential driving light than by the mere reason of lamp glare. There are many points, even on our boulevards, where to drive with mere side lights of the low candlepower variety is a menace to the public crossing the winding tree dimmed ways, and where a brilliant light, warning approaching cars and pedestrians around bends that a car is approaching is an absolute necessity. The motorist will have to be satisfied with less focused candle-power, and the public will have to give up on its side, in return, the demand for a headlight which gives no illumination.

Glareless Light Possible.

It is possible to get illumination without glare, and the best illumination has no glare. For example, take a tungsten globe bare and illuminate a room. The light is of intense candlepower, and, therefore, glaring, but its brilliance spoils its illuminating quality. This point once understood, lighting engineers and experts inverted the shades and reflected lighting was born. To use reflected lighting leaves the room darker, but objects are plainer seen, reading is easier and the room is better illuminated. The same effect can be had in motor lights, provided the candle power of the unit is not extreme.

Modern motor headlights are all fitted with parabolic reflectors. A light placed at the focus of this curve will direct the reflected rays from the parabolic mirror about the light directly forward, every ray parallel to the other. There is no diffusion. All the rays shoot out straight ahead, focused like the rays of a burning glass. These rays are glaring, as the focused rays of a burning glass are glaring. It is immaterial whether the rays come from a one or a fifty candle power globe.

The nearest approach to an ideal, giving partly what the committee wants, though not entirely meeting the need, is in the use of frosted bulbs.

Woman Who Buys Giraffes for Chicago Zoo

HIDE PUPS? RATS, SHE SAYS

ALSO ISSUES DEFI TO COURT.

Declares Her Pets Are White Rodents, and That's Enough.

Mrs. Anna Beymer, who lives at 10812 Hoxie avenue, has a white bulldog. That much is conceded by both sides of the controversy. But the neighbors claim that Mrs. Beymer's bulldog has six white puppies. Mrs. Beymer makes emphatic denial of the charge.

On Thursday the neighbors complained to the police that Mrs. Beymer had these puppies in her house and that they were not licensed. License Officer James Dooley called at the Beymer residence. Mrs. Beymer would not let him in.

Back went Dooley to Judge J. J. Sullivan's court and got a search warrant. Under the bed in Mrs. Beymer's residence he discovered a basket containing six small white objects. Yesterday Mrs. Beymer was in court.

"I saw the puppies with my own eyes," stated Dooley.

"He saw nothing of the sort," snapped Mrs. Beymer. "He saw six white rats."

"White rats?" demanded the court.

"White rats," insisted Mrs. Beymer. That's the reason I keep a bulldog—to keep the neighbor's cats away from my white rats."

Judge Sullivan was puzzled. He sent Policeman John O'Brien to Mrs. Beymer's house to look at the small white objects in the basket under the bed. When he got there he couldn't find the basket.

Questioned by the court as to what had become of the white rats, Mrs. Beymer declined to answer.

"What business is it of yours?" she inquired. "I don't have to tell you and I won't tell you."

Both the law and the constitution back up Mrs. Beymer in this stand. Thus the case of the white rats is likely to go down in history as one of South Chicago's unsolved mysteries.

GETS VACATION—IN BRIDEWELL

Frank Staskas awoke yesterday in South Chicago, and by mistake, he says, put on the trousers belonging to his roommate, Adolph Androwski. Outside he found $100 rolled up in a neat roll in one of the trouser pockets. Without reflecting much on the ownership of the $100, Staskas decided to take a vacation. The police arrested him at the Grand Central station.

"I never dreamed the money was Adolph's," Staskas told Judge Sullivan. "I thought it had gotten into my pocket by some lucky accident."

"If it was an accident," said the court, "it wasn't a lucky one. However, I am not going to deprive you of your vacation just because of a piece of bad luck. Ten dollars and ten days in the bridewell."

ROBBERS FLEE IN MOTOR BOAT.

South Chicagoan Shoots at Burglar and Follows Trail of Blood to Lake's Edge.

South Chicago police yesterday were asked to look for a band of robbers who attempted to rob the house of Lambert Guerin at 7817 Bond avenue, and when surprised at work escaped in a motor boat.

Mr. Guerin's house is about 300 feet from the lake shore. About 3 a. m. he was aroused by the raising of the window of his bedroom. He fired at the intruder, who disappeared.

Guerin says he put on his clothes and followed. He found a trail of blood to the water's edge. A motor boat had just chugged out.

GIRAFFES FOR LINCOLN ZOO

Mrs. Mollie Netcher-Neuberger Buys Two from Hagenbeck.

BOUGHT THEM IN GERMANY.

Animals from Africa and Cost Chicago Woman Merchant $10,000.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

KARLSBAD, Aug. 22.—Mrs. Mollie Netcher Neuberger, proprietor of the Boston store, Chicago, today purchased from Hagenbeck two of his finest giraffes.

It is understood to be the purpose of Mrs. Neuberger to present the animals to the Lincoln park zoo of her home town.

The giraffes came from Africa and Mrs. Neuberger is said to have paid $10,000 for them.

Supt. W. C. Niesen said yesterday: "We have not had a giraffe in Lincoln park for many years. Such animals are hard to get and they will be welcomed by the commissioners and the public generally."

FUNERAL OF ALEX. SULLIVAN ATTENDED BY MANY FRIENDS.

Father Dorney Brings Tears to Eyes of Crowd by Eulogy of Dead Chicago Lawyer.

Father M. J. Dorney brought tears to the eyes of many persons yesterday in his sermon on the life of Alexander Sullivan at the services held yesterday morning at the Holy Name cathedral. A large crowd in which were many public officials, attended the funeral. Afterward the body was taken to Detroit, where it will be buried in Mount Elliot cemetery beside that of Mr. Sullivan's wife.

"For one thing, I am sorry that all of Mr. Sullivan's friends were unable to be here," said Father Dorney. "In fact, this church is not large enough to hold the friends of that strong and good man. But it was his wish that he be buried as soon as possible.

"He was a man with intense love of religion—a man with a love greater than any man I know of. There was not a church affair that he did not have some part in, though few knew it.

"He was a man who lived for his land and his friends. And for both he fought indomitably. And for his wife he had a love that only men like Alexander Sullivan possessed. She, too, knew it.

"The world will miss Alexander Sullivan. But if I could bring him back I wouldn't take him back into life's struggle, because he is going to his wife and his God."

Father William Ryan of St. Gabriel's church was the celebrant, assisted by Father Joseph Phelan, deacon, and Father David McDonald, subdeacon.

WAAGE WEEPS; SALOON SAD.

Statesman Bursts Into Tears After Song and Then Takes Nap in Public Cell.

Any one with a penchant for collecting curious experiences might have dropped into Joseph Helminiak's saloon at 164 North La Salle street shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning and heard a real Illinois state senator pound a beer stein on a mahogany bar and sing. The incident positively occurred as stated. The senatorial sweet singer was the Hon. Johann Waage.

After his song the senator wept bitterly. Some of his friends were so moved that they gathered the senator together and conducted him to Central station. There he went to sleep in one of the cells. He remained asleep during the balance of the day.

When paged there last night, however, he could not be located. It was said that the senator had just stepped out for a moment.

RIOT IN A GAMBLING HOUSE

Place Opposite Lerner's Closed Joint in Maxwell St. Scene.

EIGHT GAMES IN PROGRESS.

One Stabbed; Four Arrests Made; Will Hoyne Act?

A fight that developed into a small riot took place yesterday afternoon at a Maxwell street gambling house directly across the street from Frank Lerner's joint, which was closed by the mayor after an attack on a group of TRIBUNE investigators.

The place where the trouble took place yesterday was 814 Maxwell street. It has been in operation as a lure to young men of the district for some time. It was open the night the attack at 813 occurred a month ago, but lookouts prevented access to strangers.

Eight Games in Progress.

At 814 yesterday there were five stuss games, two poker games, and a crap game in progress.

Four of the men who engaged in the fight were Joseph Schlasman, 1328 South Jefferson street; A. Maynor, 807 Maxwell street; Samuel Abrahamson, 807 Maxwell street, and Morris Schlasman, 1328 Jefferson street. Maynor was stabbed. According to witnesses the men are frequenters of the poolroom.

Will State's Attorney Act?

The four men arrested following the riot will be tried in the same court today.

It is supposed that if Maynor's wound proves serious State's Attorney Hoyne will direct a searching inquiry and prosecution.

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The Van Motor Car company of Chicago, the Kerr-Murray Manufacturing company of Fort Wayne, Ind., and three other foreign concerns were today forbiddeen by the secretary of state to do further business in Michigan. The cause of the ousting is their failure to file annual reports of their condition and business with the state department.

FIGHT FOR OUSTED STATE EMPLOYE

BELATED CHARGES FILED.

Girl Calls at Auditor of Public Accounts Office Every Day; Refused Work.

Asserting James J. Brady, state auditor of public accounts, has violated the state civil service act, R. E. Blackwood, secretary of the Civil Service Reform association, yesterday took active charge of the case of Miss Mary A. Sellers, for five years stenographer in the banking department of the state auditor's office.

The hearing of the belated charges against Miss Sellers, preferred by Brady thirty days after he asked her resignation, has been reset for Aug. 31, while the Civil Service Reform association will demand more specific charges be made against Miss Sellers so she may reply to them.

Points Violation by Brady.

"Mr. Brady violated the state civil service act," said Mr. Blackwood, "when on June 5 he wrote asking Miss Sellers to mail her resignation to him at once to take effect on July 1. This Miss Sellers refused to do.

"Miss Sellers appeared every morning for work and was told each time by Daniel V. Harkin, head of the office, there was nothing for her to do. When Miss Myra Cleary called on her to help her out Miss Seners discovered Miss Cleary was doing her work.

"Miss Sellers wrote to the Civil Service Reform association and stated her case. I wrote to learn why Miss Sellers had been asked to resign and learned no charges had been preferred against her. Then to cover up his tracks Brady filed charges of 'gossiping and general insubordination.'

Sees Political Influence.

"Such charges are not sufficient to cause the removal of a civil service employé. Brady desired the dismissal of Miss Sellers to make room for a friend of a politician. I learned Miss Cleary was appointed temporarily, and not from the eligible list in the civil service office.

"Miss Sellers demanded more specific charges. The hearing was set for Aug. 14, and she had not received a copy of the charges until Aug. 12. She asked for a continuation until Aug. 28, so she might study the charges."

HEARST-HOYNE CLAN RENEWS FIGHT ON NORTHUP SELECTION

Johnston to Present Appeal in Quo Warranto Proceedings to Baldwin Upon Return of the Jurist.

The Hearst-Hoyne alliance apparently is determined to continue the fight on the legality of the appointment of Special State's Attorney John E. Northup, named by Judge W. F. Cooper to probe frauds in the election of last November. Judge Baldwin of the Circuit court approved Northup's selection and Judge Kersten acquiesced in Judge Baldwin's decision.

First Assistant State's Attorney Frank Johnston announced yesterday that he is preparing an appeal in the quo warranto proceedings against Northup. The motion, he said, will be presented to Judge Baldwin as soon as the jurist returns from his vacation. A similar motion, involving the right to file the quo warranto petition, was denied by Judge Baldwin some weeks ago.

The special grand jury has already indicted twenty-nine persons and many more will be held for election crimes, it is said, when the jury reconvenes on Thursday.

HALPIN GETS CHIEF'S TITLE.

Captain Given Temporary Appointment as Head of Detective Department Pending Examination.

Capt. John J. Halpin is on a leave of absence from the police force, but he still is actively in command of the detective bureau. He was out of command only a few minutes and during that time the bureau was without a head.

This paradoxical situation arose when Halpin was given a temporary appointment yesterday to the post of chief of detectives created by the police reorganization ordinance. No examination has been held for the place, and in order to accept it Halpin was compelled to take a leave of absence as captain of police.

"I told the mayor I thought Halpin was entitled to the larger salary," Chief McWeeny said, "as he is doing the work of the chief of detectives. That job pays $3,000, and the salary of a captain is $2,500—a difference of $500 a year—but of course before a year is up an examination will be held for the place."

"MUTILATION" A TYPIST ERROR.

Miss C. N. McIlvaine, Librarian of Chicago Historical Society, Explains Omission of Ft. Dearborn Heroes.

Miss C. M. McIlvaine, librarian of the Chicago Historical society, said yesterday the reported mutilation of the list of the heroes of the Fort Dearborn massacre merely was an oversight on the part of a stenographer, who omitted the names in copying the original and correct list of heroes for use at the centennial celebration.

ERICSSON STARTS FUSS; FLEES

THEN GETS OUT OF TOWN.

Physician Says Building Commissioner Must Admit Falsity of Charge.

Building Commissioner Ericsson started a city hall rumpus yesterday and immediately left the city for a week end outing. He could not be reached by telephone during the rest of the day.

He charged that Dr. W. K. Murray, chief of the hospital bureau of the health department, is opposing the issuance of a building permit in order to promote the sale of a piece of property in which he is interested. Dr. Murray, while laughing at the accusation, resented it and said he would make every effort to force the commissioner to admit the falsity of his charge.

Want to Remodel Hospital.

The trouble arose in connection with the building at East Thirty-fourth street and Rhodes avenue, formerly occupied by the Chicago Baptist hospital. The Lakeside Hospital association has asked permission to remodel the structure "for temporary use." Its representatives are said to have assured the health department a new building would be erected on property owned by them at East Thirty-ninth street and Vernon avenue.

Ericsson said Dr. Murray told him he had obtained an option on this Vernon avenue property.

"I never had an option on the property," said the physician, "and such a charge is ridiculous. I opposed the issuance of a permit for the old Baptist hospital because the building originally never was intended for a hospital and is not in sanitary condition.

Given Permission for Year.

"Then the hospital folks wanted permission to use the Baptist site for a year, and this was allowed on their representations that they had purchased a site at East Thirty-ninth street and Vernon avenue.

"I sent an inspector from my own department out to investigate after I discovered that a 'for sale' sign had been placed on the property which the Lakeside hospital claimed to have acquired as a site for a hospital. My inspector was told that the property is for sale at a price of $150 a front foot. The hospital people had not kept faith with the health department."

CREW OF TUG RESCUES MEN TRAPPED BY BLAZING BOATS.

Spectacle Staged at Water Carnival Nearly Results in Tragedy to Actors on Craft Used.

Following a fireworks display on two old freight schooners at the water carnival last night the fire department was called to extinguish a real fire. The schooners, the O. B. Greene and Hutchinson, were used to demonstrate the speed with which the fire boat Graeme Stewart could put out a fire, both being set ablaze and turned adrift.

The fire boat played the part assigned it; the crowd cheered and then left the scene to go to their homes. A tug took the two in tow. A strong north wind was blowing, however, and the tug lost control of its charges. It was then discovered that both schooners still were afire.

Several men were on the blazing vessels. The crew of the tug managed to get them off. The boats were allowed to drift ashore. The fire boat and an engine company finally manged to put out the blaze.

For a time several tons of fireworks stored in a tent were in danger, sparks from the Hutchinson having blown all about them.

MYSTERY ON MYSTERY VEILS HOYNE'S VISIT TO WAUKEGAN.

First Assistant Johnston Dodges All Inquiries Regarding Secret Proceedings Up in Lake County.

Mystery was thrown about the Waukegan prisoner of State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne by attachés of the state's attorney's office yesterday. First Assistant State's Attorney Frank Johnston Jr., in charge of the office during the vacation of Mr. Hoyne, refused to throw any light on the matter.

"Is it an important prisoner?" he was asked.

"I haven't said that there was an prisoner," he replied.

Mr. Johnston refused to comment on the report that the prisoner was connected with the "clairvoyant trust" prosecutions. He said that Mr. Hoyne had not been at his office in the last few days.

Jailer Will T. Davies said that he knew of no prisoner having been taken from the county jail to Waukegan in an automobile.

PLANS "TADPOLE DITCH" FIGHT.

I. and M. Canal Commission Gathers Evidence to Force State to Rehabilitate Waterway or Lose It.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—On a mission which means either the immediate opening and widening of the Illinois-Michigan canal or its confiscation by the government, the new Democratic state canal commission reached Peoria today in the steamer Aeolus and proceeded southward this morning.

For the first time in the history of the "tadpole ditch" this state commission has the backing of the war department in its efforts to raise injunctions of ten years' standing which prevent the improvement and even the maintenance of the canal.

PLAN GOOD ROADS FOR COOK COUNTY

Commissioners Inspect Wisconsin and Michigan Pikes; Decide on Improvements.

$240,640 WILL BE USED.

Modern Automobile Thoroughfares to Supplant Present Streaks of Mud.

Cook county highways adjacent to Chicago are to be improved. Modern automobile roads will supplant the "rough going" that now tires the patience of motorists who desire to take spins away from city boulevards. At least this is the plan of the roads and highways committee of the county board.

Soon there will be turned over to the county board from the state highway fund $120,320 for road building and improvements in Cook County. To this the county must subscribe a similar amount under the new road law, making the total $240,640.

Inspect Wisconsin Roads.

The roads' committee on Thursday inspected concrete thoroughfares near Milwaukee and Sheboygan, Wis. The day before the commissioners toured some of the pikes of Cook county. They are said to have been impressed with the superiority of the Wisconsin roads. Recently a similar inspection was made of Michigan roads in the vicinity of Detroit.

The commissioners on the Wisconsin trip were Burg, Fitzgerald, Moriarty, Maloney, Bartzen, Board, Gard, and Anderson. They were accompanied by Wisconsin highway commissioners and the state engineer of public works.

Complains of Local Pikes.

Robert E. Kenyon, superintendent of public service, had a complaint for the commissioners when they returned to the county building yesterday. He made a trip to Oak Forest, where county institutions are located, during the morning and said that because of the condition of the roads he was nearly two hours making twenty-three miles.

The board at its meeting on Monday again will be confronted with the problem of finding a way to partially complete the new county hospital, tied up for lack of funds.

ROAD MEETINGS URGED.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The state highway commission today addressed letters to township and district clerks of the state, calling attention to sections of the good roads law which provide for meetings of town and district highway commissioners before the first Tuesday in September to fix county tax rates.

Sections 50 and 56 of the new law provide for the fixing of the tax rate by the first Tuesday in September each year, and for levying of the tax.

The commission has received an opinion from Attorney General Lucey in which the attorney general advances the necessity of early meetings in order to insure compliance with the new law.

DEATH FALL ENDS DRESSING.

Philip L. Watkins, said to be the son of a wealthy merchant at Rochester, N. Y., was fatally injured yesterday when he fell from a second story window at 11 West Ohio street. He was dressing at the time. His wife expressed the belief he fainted.

HUERTA READY FOR PEACE

death have been made against Fuller, Hulse, and others at La Boquilla, this government deems it proper to say that if any violence is visited upon any American citizen there or elsewhere by any one claiming civil or military authority, the United States will hold personally responsible the perpetrators thereof.

"Courier should ascertain condition of all foreigners at La Boquilla and report with reply the officer in charge makes to this government message."

The reference to the protection of American citizens "elsewhere" was taken as indicative of the attitude of the United States in the protection of Americans wherever their safety is threatened.

Bandits Pay Death Penalty.

Fifty Mexican bandits have paid with their lives for the killing of one German subject, according to reports to the state department.

The German, whose name was not given, was put to death by bandits near Mexico City Wednesday night. A federal force sent out in pursuit captured and killed fifty of the slayers.

Americans at Saltillo were reported safe. Railroad communication from that point south still is uncertain.

NEW PEACE PROPOSAL.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The Huerta administration in Mexico may reconsider its rejection of the American proposals to restore peace in Mexico and arrange a new basis for negotiation with the United States before next Tuesday.

Strong intimations to this effect reached official Washington tonight along with the information that the financial condition of the Huerta administration was such that a crisis was imminent.

Should the Huerta government decide to enter into a new basis of discussion, withdrawing its contention as expressed in the Huerta note replying to the proposals communicated by Mr. Lind, President Wilson in all probability will not read his message to both houses of congress on Tuesday as he intended.

The president made no effort today to prevent the house from adjourning until Tuesday. It had been supposed that he would read the message on Monday and would ask the leaders in congress to arrange a joint session. Failure to send any word to the leaders was interpreted in official circles as meaning that the United States had practically given the Huerta government until Tuesday to make up its mind finally as to what it would do.

Will Not Recognize Huerta.

It is positively reiterated that the United States will continue to insist on the resignation of Provisional President Huerta or an announcement of his intention to do so, as well as his elimination from the presidential race in the subsequent election.

President Wilson spent the day in studying the notes exchanged by Lind and Huerta and preparing his message. The message may be modified by dispatches received on Tuesday, and there also is the possibility that the president may find it expedient to postpone delivery of the document.

Reports from Mr. Lind declare that his relations with the Huerta officials are more cordial than before and that they manifest a willingness to find some new ground for a settlement.

European diplomatic pressure, it is known here, is quietly at work in Mexico City in an effort to convince Huerta officials that the policy of the United States is being approved abroad.

The failure of the Huerta government to obtain funds abroad, through the failure of the recognition of the United States, is pointed to by the diplomats as likely to continue pending a more respectful consideration of the American proposals. It is learned also from authoritative sources that the Huerta government is facing a mutinous army, dissatisfied because no pay has been forthcoming for weeks.

Publicity Waits on Huerta.

It was apparent tonight that Washington officials expected word from Huerta before Tuesday, and that unless it comes the notes will be proclaimed to the world through the president's message, showing the efforts of American government to bring about peace along with suggestion for a definite line of procedure by the United States in the future.

White House officials, however, were confident that the situation would unravel itself. They would not disclose upon what their optimism was based, but it is believed that reports from Lind today were largely responsible for the confident feeling.

FRIEND OF MADERO SLAIN.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 22.—Deputy Bordes Mangel was shot to death tonight by federal soldiers near Atzcapotzalco, a suburb of the capital. Mangel was a friend of the late President Madero and recently was subjected to an investigation on a charge of sedition.

The explanation of the shooting is that a detachment of soldiers came upon Mangel on the road, and that Mangel, single handed, attacked the soldiers with stones.

The soldiers found it necessary to fire in self-defense, and Mangel was killed. It is added by the newspapers that Mangel must have been insane.

Nine fights between the federals and constitutionalists are reported to have taken place during the last twenty-four hours. All of them are recorded as federal victories. In three of the fights 175 rebels are said to have been killed, while the federal loss is given at eight.

Rebels on the Run?

According to the official reports the military situation throughout the republic is greatly improved. The rebels are said to be generally disheartened and on the defensive in all quarters.

These official reports are practically the only source of information on which news for local consumption is based. The other side of the story rarely reaches the capital, because of interrupted communications and censorship of dispatches at points outside the capital.

The situation about Torreon is now admitted to be slightly worse. It is understood the rebels control much of the country about that section and that 1,000 more are marching southward from Cuatro Cienegas, Coahuila, to reinforce those already there.

Gen. Pena's headquarters at Monclova has reported a portion of his men to be cut off by the rebels and in need of help. Gen. Joaquin Maas, who is marching northward from Monclova to Cuidad Porfirio Diaz, has been instructed to delay his movements in order to coöperate ith Gen. Pena.

Strife Between Two Leaders.

Great improvement in the situation in the state of Chihuahua is reported. The public has been given no news from Guaymas, Sonora, for several days, except assurances that the rebels in that vicinity are demoralized because of dissensions between the rebel leaders, Maytorena and Pesqueira. It is understood that the federal general, Ojeda, will attempt no advance in Sonora until he is reinforced.

Admissions are made that the rebels are gaining headway in the state of Sinaloa, south of Sonora. The government, however, insists that this headway is not important.

Increased activity has been displayed lately in the state of Morelos, where the federal general, Juvencio Robles, has been given free hand to destroy the followers of Zapata.

The newspapers today quote official reports from Morelos saying the state is free from rebels at last. These reports say the last of them, including Zapata, have gone south into the state of Guerrero.

Previously large numbers moved north and now are almost encircling the capital. The official explanation is that they chose this direction, other exits from Morelos being closed.

Other reports published today, equally official, say De La'O, at the head of a well organized band of rebels, is intrenched at Leipet, is in Morelos, and that still other bands have been accounted for in the same state.

Scores of Towns Destroyed.

The government is displaying satisfaction over its energetic campaign of extermination. Scores of small towns have been destroyed, hundreds of families dispossessed, and many young men shot.

Since the followers of Zapata invaded the federal district Gen. Robles has destroyed seven towns within a few miles of the capital, including Ajurecko, which is almost within sight of the city. Three more towns near the capital were ordered destroyed today.

In the capital's suburbs there are arriving daily hundreds of dispossessed refugees from destroyed towns who carry on their backs their personal effects.

The followers of Zapata are more active than ever in their campaign of destruction and personal outrages. They are raiding numerous villages and ranches and subjecting their victims to torture in the states of Mexico and Hidalgo, west and north of the capital. The government papers describe these outrages as "the last struggles of a wounded beast."

For some days the badly informed public believed that Pachuca, capital of Hidalgo, was in danger of attack, but has been reassured by the government, which announced today that it was sending out 500 reinforcements.

Rebels Active in Jalisco.

El Pais reported today that there was a greatly increased rebel movement in the state of Jalisco. All of the newspapers today print news of the defeat from the rebel chief, Candido, Navarro, near Silao, state of Guanajuato. The public previously had believed this state free from rebels.

The state of Zacatecas admittedly is infested by rebels, but the government expresses confidence that it is able to maintain control there. Conditions in San Luis Potosi are reported to be improved.

There also has been some improvement recently in railway communications. The area in which actual traffic is still restricted is limited to the center of the republic.

Row Over Congress Session.

The advisability of calling an extra session of congress to deal with the situation growing out of the representations of President Wilson to President Huerta was discussed today by the permanent committee of congress.

A proposed amendment to a resolution to call an extra session precipitated a debate. The amendment favored trying for sedition the introducers of the resolution.

Another amendment, providing that the president report to the committee the nature of the negotiations with the United States government, was offered by Manuel Malo Juvera.

Failure to pass this resolution under a suspension of the rules resulted in its being referred to a committee, which will be unable to report before next Friday's session, and since the regular session of congress will begin Sept. 15 the deputies believe that the calling of a special session is improbable.

MURDER AMERICAN EMPLOYE.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 22.—Edward Hayes of Buffalo, N. Y., timekeeper for the Madera Lumber company, was murdered by Mexican federals under Francisco Cordova in Madera, when they took the town from Pancho Villa's rebels last week, according to Americans arriving here today. The federals also killed an American negro, because he tried to prevent them taking the company horses from the corral.

By virtue of a special permit from the secretary of the treasury, American customs and army officers today allowed the exportation to the Mexican federal garrison in Juarez of 40,000 rounds of ammunition and 400 rifles. The munitions were bought for cash at a local arms store.

Fight Twelve Hour Battle.

Laredo, Tex., Aug. 22.—Five hundred federals and 300 constitutionalists fought a twelve hour battle near Camaron, Mex., forty-five miles south of the border, today. The federals used machine guns with telling effect on the constitutionalist cavalry, but neither side gained a decisive advantage.

COOL WINDS BELT HEAT BELT; CORN IS ONLY CROP INJURED.

Western States Experience Drop of 10 to 20 Degrees in Temperature After Hot Wave.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 22.—After nearly a month of high temperatures that have hung over Kansas and parts of Missouri and Oklahoma, breaking all records for intensity and duration, burning up corn and other late crops and producing desperate drought conditions in many sections, the heat wave throughout the three states was broken effectually today.

With a drop of 10 to 20 degrees in temperatures that daily have ranged above the 100 mark, came heavy rains over wide sections and further precipitation was forecast.

Only corn, among all its products, says the report, was harmed, and there is a bumper wheat output, 48 per cent more than any other state, with a million acres in alfalfa.

FIGHT OVER FREE RAW WOOL.

Republican Senators Argue Against Democratic Schedule—La Follette Offers Amendment.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Stubborn opposition to free raw wool and the radical reductions in woolen manufactures proposed in the Democratic tariff bill was conducted by Republicans of the senate all day today and will be resumed tomorrow.

Senators Warren of Wyoming and Penrose of Pennsylvania addressed the senate for six hours, the former characterizing the proposed bill as "tariff for politics only instead of for revenue only" and the latter asserting that the woolen schedule as prepared by the majority was "distinctly against America and for Europe."

In the midst of the day's discussion Senator La Follette of Wisconsin introduced the third minority substitute for the woolen schedule, the others having been proposed by Senators Penrose and Smoot.

WATSON RETAINED FOR TARIFF WORK

H. E. Miles Says He Got $500 from Mulhall to Give to Indiana Man.

REFUTES N. A. M. DEFENSE.

McCarter Charges Tampering with Evidence; Narrowly Escapes Expulsion from Case.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Important substantiation of Col. Martin M. Mulhall's testimony and letters concerning the efforts of the National Association of Manufacturers to procure a tariff board in 1909, through the services of former Representative James E. Watson, was obtained by the senate lobby committee today through the testimony of H. E. Miles of Racine, Wis., formerly chairman of the executive committee of the national tariff commission association.

The tariff commission association was in effect a subsidiary of the N. A. M.

Mr. Miles testified that he had borrowed $500 from Mulhall with which to pay James E. Watson a retainer. Strenuous attempts had been made by counsel for the N. A. M. to break down this part of Mulhall's testimony. It was contended by counsel that Watson received only $250 a week, without a retainer or a promised bonus. Miles denied Watson had been promised a $10,000 bonus if successful.

Charges Tampering with Evidence.

A sensational charge by Robert M. McCarter, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, that some of the Mulhall documents had been tampered with since they came into the possession of the committee, threatened to bring about the expulsion of the lawyer from the case at one stage. Although McCarter refused to retract in the face of demands by Senators Overman and Reed for an apology, he smoothed things over by announcing that he had intended no reflection upon the committee.

He based his charge on the fact that in the case of one letter the date appeared to have been written in with a pencil.

Mulhall Sought Investigation.

Mulhall reiterated his testimony concerning his attempts to secure through McDermott a congressional investigation of the N. A. M. stating that it had been his plan to extract from the correspondence he would have turned over for the investigation any papers and documents touching upon McDermott or McMichael.

Telling of a trip to his home in Baltimore when McDermott and McMichael had examined a part of the correspondence Mulhall swore that on that occasion McMichael had warned him to be careful, that McDermott wanted to take several of the letters. He then repeated his statement that McDermott had taken from him a number of affidavits which were made to prove that Burns detectives had perjured themselves to procure a conviction in a counterfeiting case in which Mulhall, as a secret service officer, had been associated.

Chairman Garrett asked him how it was that he had so carefully kept his correspondence for ten years.

"Because I never trusted the men I worked for," he replied.

ROW WITH ATTORNEYS.

Matteawan Fugitive Issues Public Statement Despite Warning; Quarrel Results.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 22.—"Gentleman Roger" Thompson, the New York chauffeur held under the dominion immigration laws as having aided Harry K. Thaw, legally a lunatic, to cross the Canadian frontier, announced from his cell tonight that he was "up against it" and that if the Thaw family did not come to his rescue he would perhaps, in justice to himself, be forced to tell all he knows about Thaw's escape from Matteawan.

If he does "squeal" it will complicate the proceedings under which Thaw's lawyers hope to obtain his release on a writ of habeas corpus next Wednesday.

Thompson tonight removed the smoked eyeglasses he has worn since his arrest and openly admitted that the name "Mitchell Thompson" he had given the authorities was fictitious and that in reality he is Roger Thompson, car salesman and dare devil chauffeur, who drove the black machine which whisked Stanford White's slayer away from Matteawan.

Says He's the "Goat."

"Sure, I'm Roger Thompson," he said. "I need money and help now and it's up to the Thaws. I was framed up in getting in this case and they ought to stand by me. I haven't a cent and if they admitted me to bail I couldn't raise the money. Even if I could, I would be arrested if I crossed the New York state line. It's rough stuff.

"The other four fellows mixed up in the game made their getaway. But I stuck to Thaw to the finish and I'm the goat. That's pretty hard."

Attorneys have been employed for Thompson by the Thaw family, and it was through their efforts that his arraignment today as a violator of the immigration laws was postponed until Friday next. His lawyer is Louis St. Laurent of Quebec.

Thaw and Attorneys Row.

Thaw had a quarrel with his many attorneys today. They had warned him to issue no statements, but he insisted on talking about what he described as an omission on the part of newspapers in Canada and the United States in not printing in full a recent statement of his lawyers quoting William Travers Jerome as saying Thaw was sane.

"This omission has outraged the British idea of fair play," Thaw said. "They believe in a square deal."

He fidgeted as he spoke, bit his nails to the quick, and fussed with a pile of letters and telegrams on the pine table in his cell.

M. La Force, the jailor, said tonight that his observations indicated Thaw "has spells."

"He's queer," he said, "but has behaved fine."

Dr. Joseph E. Noel, the jail physician, who has visited Thaw daily, said this afternoon he regarded him as sane.

Gives Thaw Fair Deal.

Ottawa, Can., Aug. 22.—Instructions have been sent to the immigration officers at Sherbrooke that when Harry K. Thaw comes into their hands there must be no discrimination against him. There is reason to believe this means he will not be sent to New York state, but on rejection will be returned by the Vermont route, as would an ordinary person coming in by the way Thaw did, and subsequently denied domicile in Canada.

THAW TO FACE JEROME AGAIN.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22.—William Travers Jerome, former district attorney of New York county, was appointed by Attorney General Carmody today a special deputy attorney general to represent the state in procuring the return of Harry K. Thaw to New York's jurisdiction.

He was selected because of his familiarity with the Thaw case, gained in the two murder trials and as special counsel in several of Thaw's attempts to establish his sanity.

It is not the present intention to send Mr. Jerome to Canada, but to employ his services in procuring the extradition of Thaw from any state to which he may be deported from Canada. Attorney General Carmody said tonight he had reason to believe Vermont would be the state to which the fugitive would be returned, and that the date would be next Wednesday.

KEEPS RELATIONS SECRET.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—"No matter what happens to me, I shall not deny any statement made by Miss Lola Norris regarding the Reno elopement. I have the greatest respect for Miss Norris and would rather go to jail than throw a shadow of doubt on the accuracy of her testimony."

This was the statement made today by F. Drew Caminetti, who goes to trial next Tuesday in the United States District court under an indictment for violation of the Mann white slave traffic act, under which his companion, Maury I. Diggs, was convicted.

Marshall B. Woodworth of counsel for the defense stated today that Caminetti would take the stand in his own behalf, but would not deny the story that is to be told by Miss Norris, the girl the government charges Caminetti took to Reno.

"Caminetti's story will not be the same as that told by Miss Norris," Woodworth said, "but the girl's story in the main will not be denied. Caminetti will not discuss his relations with Miss Norris. His attorneys and his relatives have been unsuccessful in their attempts to get him to tell of these matters."

Auto in Which He Was Driving His Mother Injures Son of Capt. Madden.

VICTIM IN CRITICAL STATE

Child of Six Crushed to Death Between Father's Electric and Trolley Pole.

An automobile occupied by Mrs. John R. Thompson and driven by her son, John R. Thompson Jr., yesterday ran down and probably fatally injured Harry Madden, the 18 year old son of Police Captain James Madden, now in charge of the Town Hall station, and a nephew of Congressman Martin B. Madden.

The accident happened at Forty-seventh street and St. Lawrence avenue. Mrs. Thompson, who is the wife of the former county treasurer, picked up the injured boy and carried him to the Chicago hospital. It was said there that he was suffering from a fractured skull. Little hope was offered for his recovery.

According to Edward Martin, Capt. Madden's secretary, who made an investigation, young Thompson was violating a traffic ordinance at the time of the accident.

Secretary Describes Accident.

"An eastbound Forty-seventh street car stopped at the west side of St. Lawrence avenue and Thompson was driving east behind the car," said Martin. "Instead of stopping while the car was discharging and receiving passengers he swung his machine around to the left and passed at the north side of the car.

"Harry Madden was crossing from the south to the north side of East Forty-seventh street. When the car stopped he hurried to cross ahead of it, apparently not seeing the machine. As he passed from in front of the car he was struck by the automobile."

Boy Crushed to Death.

Joseph Carrier, a 6 year old boy, was crushed to death yesterday between his father's electric automobile and a trolley pole. The accident happened in front of the cigar factory of the boy's father, Edward Carrier at 860 Blue Island avenue.

The father told the police he had stopped the car in front of his store and was examining it when he accidentally touched the starting lever.

A. R. Minor, a retired farmer of Flowerfield, Mich., was arrested yesterday in Gary, Ind. two hours after it is alleged, he had run down and injured Joseph Paulski, a 12 year old boy living at 13233 Erie avenue. The accident occurred near the boy's home.

Auto Capsizes; Woman Hurt.

An automobile containing Dr. and Mrs. Julius Grinker and Charles F. Lowy, all of 5640 South Park avenue, capsized at East Gary while approaching the bridge over the Little Calumet. Mrs. Grinker's arm was broken.

Alvin Watkins, 5 years old, 2503 South Wabash avenue, was knocked down and seriously injured in front of 2511 South Wabash avenue by an automobile driven by C. A. Miller, 2733 Indiana avenue. The boy's right leg was crushed so seriously it may have to be amputated.

SULZER HAS SECRET DEFENSE

Believes His Story Will Win Over Court of Impeachment.

REFUSES TO GIVE OUT TIP.

Changes Mind About Stumping New York for Mitchel.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Gov. Sulzer expects vindication at the hands of the court of impeachment, before which he is to be tried beginning Sept. 18. He confided this belief to several of his friends who called to see him at the executive chamber today, but when they asked him on what grounds he based this new hope, he refused to state his reason.

"If the case were submitted to a vote of the people," the governor is quoted as having said, "I should be exonerated by a vote of more than three to one. But even with the senate sitting I have no fear of the verdict. I am sure my defense, the story which I am determined to tell, will leave nothing for the court to do but exonerate me."

Given Floral Horseshoe.

Publicly Gov. Sulzer made the declaration that when he tells his story his private life and public career will unfold nothing of which he will be ashamed. He made a statement to this effect to a Jewish delegation from Albany, which presented him today with a floral horseshoe.

This story, which counsel have advised Gov. Sulzer not to tell until he appears before the court of impeachment, is the thing upon which the executive is staking his hopes.

Gov. Sulzer will not stump New York city in the interest of the election of John Purroy Mitchell, the fusion candidate for mayor, as has been his intention since the impeachment proceedings began. The governor has changed his mind, and the reason for the change is the announcement of Edward E. McCall's willingness to accept the Democratic nomination for mayor.

Adviser of Cuban Firm.

It became known today that when Mr. Sulzer was a congressman he was the adviser of a Cuban contracting firm, which is charged before the Supreme court of this state with having defrauded one of its partners. It is also charged with having, by fraudulent representations, induced the state department to force the Cuban government into recognizing a claim which it did not wish to recognize.

Mr. Sulzer was a member of the house foreign relations and military affairs committees.

Today Justice Weeks of the Supreme court made permanent a temporary injunction, obtained three weeks ago from Justice Gavegan, in the litigation between the assignee of Senator Jose Antonio Frias of Cuba and Hugh J. Reilly, a contractor of New York and Havana.

At that time an affidavit by a Roman Catholic bishop, Mgr. Bonaventure F. Broderick, was printed, in which he said there were insinuations that "a considerable sum of money, collected from the Cuban government through the assistance of the United States government, was used to reward the services of a lawyer, prominently connected with the government of Cuba, and another considerable sum was paid to a well known American legislator for his services for securing the efficient intervention of the United States department of state in collecting this claim from Cuba."

EXPOSING CRIME IS NOT A CRIME.

Municipal Judge Harry Fisher does not seem to agree with Mr. Maclay Hoyne that it is a crime for a newspaper to expose conditions of law breaking within Mr. Hoyne's jurisdiction.

That fearless prosecutor had arrested TRIBUNE reporters and photographers engaged in photographing a gambling hell in operation, which, in the opinion of the fearless, is a public outrage.

But Judge Fisher dismissed the defendants on the following theory: "Any newspaper that is public spirited enough to expose the awful conditions existing in the congested districts of this city should be encouraged," said Judge Fisher. "There are many other places in this district that should be exposed. The newspaper that has the courage to take photographs of such places in order to show the public the existing conditions should be commended. It is a good thing to take pictures of these places. There is nothing unlawful in taking a flashlight picture for this purpose, as long as the men proceed in a lawful manner, and there is nothing to show that these men did not conduct themselves lawfully."

Thus the fearless doctrine that to expose law breaking is a breach of the law has received a judicial setback.

THE PROTECTION OF WOMEN.

The first verdict in the sensational Diggs-Caminetti scandal, if confirmed upon appeal, will mark an important extension of the powers and responsibility of the central government. Whether this extension is wise or desirable is very doubtful, and the reasoning against it should not be obscured by the fact that both these culprits richly deserve punishment.

The Mann act, really aimed at the commercialized traffic in women, seems to have been drawn in terms so inclusive that it brings within reach of the federal government and very heavily penalizes sexual irregularities entirely lacking the commercial factor or the factor of coercion or bondage. It is, in fact, an expression of the awakening of the public conscience as to the exploitation of women. Reform has been unwilling to rely upon the local agencies of justice, which are so often subject to influence or are incompetent, and in its determination to get quick results has seized upon the powerful and efficient machinery of the central government.

Whether this is constitutional is yet to be tested. Whether it is wise to load this further responsibility on the federal department of justice instead of insisting upon stricter state laws and their better enforcement is a question of policy not lightly to be answered.

But whatever the answer, there can be no doubt that our laws and their administration, in so far as they protect women, are to be extended and strengthened radically during the present generation.

COMPETITION AT THE EXPOSITION.

Director General Barrett of the Pan-American union does not propose to allow the official action of England and Germany to conclude all hope of participation in the Panama exposition by those countries. He has just sent a plea to the London chamber of commerce, and a similar message to Ambassadors Bernstorff and Jusserand, who are now on leave in their respective countries.

"Practically all Latin America," he says, "including the great countries of Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Bolivia, and Peru, are planning participation upon an extraordinary scale, excelling anything they have done heretofore. Combined they will expend at San Francisco over $2,000,000. Indications are unmistakable that there will be greater attendance of visitors, travelers, and actual buyers from Central and South America, Australia, Asia, and Canada than ever attended any other exhibition. The all important fact to remember is that the field reached by exhibiting at San Francisco is not alone the United States, but especially all Latin America, Australia, New Zealand, eastern Asia, and Canada. The exhibition is Pan-American and Pan-Pacific, not only in the field and opportunity covered, but in representation, being a great vivid, realistic portrayal, concentrated at San Francisco, of what the canal means and opens commercially to the whole world."

It would seem that practical commercial interest should induce the business men of England, Germany, and France to take advantage of the opportunity in spite of governmental policy, which involves political considerations not affecting a manufacturer's need to sell his wares. More and more the world is becoming a market place in which we all must compete, willy nilly.

FOR CHICAGO.

What THE TRIBUNE has expressed in its amendment of Chicago's motto from "I Will" to "We Will," the spirit of intelligent coöperation and civic purpose, is finely expressed in the action of Mr. Alfred L. Baker, Mr. Julius Rosenwald, and the group of citizens who have offered to finance a comprehensive, expert survey of the whole terminal problem of Chicago.

Such a survey, nonpartisan, unprejudiced, inclusive, and scientific, is emphatically called for at this time. The debate over the Pennsylvania plans has brought up sharply before thinking men the importance to the present and future welfare of Chicago of the terminal problem. At the same time it has developed the extreme complexity of the factors involved in its solution, and the need for some broad basis of action which shall not be subject to private or special interest or opinion. As the committee in its public statement remarks: "Although Chicago is the greatest railroad center in the world, there has never been a comprehensive study made by a duly qualified and authorized technical commission of its railroad passenger and freight terminal problem in its entirety. As this many sided problem is becoming more and more complicated, it seems to us imperative that such a study be made now, and by a commission of the ablest experts obtainable. We believe that such a broad investigation is needed to supplement the inquiry provided for by the present city council committee on railway terminals."

The choice of Mr. Bion Arnold to make a preliminary survey seems a fortunate one. Mr. Arnold is an urban transportation expert of national reputation and has the special qualification of long residence and thorough experience of our local conditions. He should be able to present the city's needs in terms of the whole community's welfare and bring helpful constructive criticism to bear upon the recommendations of the expert selected by the city council, Mr. Wallace, a distinguished engineer, but accustomed to view problems from the railroad point of view, and not a Chicagoan.

The survey, in short, is an example of the new "We Will" spirit of Chicago, the twentieth century city. Chicago of today should be done with the policy of every interest for itself, done with the clique and class spirit, done with the waste of conflicting individual selfishness, which destroys wastefully and builds blindly. The terminal problem calls for broad community treatment, perhaps more than any problem that has confronted the city since the rebuilding after the fire. Let us deal with it cautiously, farsightedly, patriotically, for the sake of Chicago's largest progress and prosperity.

HELP NOT HINDER.

In view of the encouraging report brought from Washington by Mr. George M. Reynolds, the proposal of Mr. James B. Forgan that effort to perfect and pass the Owen-Glass bill at this session be abandoned seems ill advised. Mr. Reynolds, who is probably better advised as to the attitude of the administration and the possibilities of concession than any banker in the country, declares that he is more hopeful than ever that a bill can be formulated which will be satisfactory to everybody. A great mistake will be made, THE TRIBUNE believes, if the association gives up the ground gained and the hard work done thus far. As Mr. Reynolds says, "We have been twenty-five years talking of currency legislation, but this is the nearest we ever came to it. Let us be moderate and see if we can't get it."

If that sane advice is taken and the association is guided by the spirit of Mr. Charles G. Dawes' patriotic appeal to examine the problems "as citizens and not as bankers," there will be no need to give up legislation at this session.

With a few modifications the Owen-Glass bill will be safe and serviceable. Bankers should realize that they no more than any other class can or ought to have it all their own way on a subject vitally affecting the happiness and prosperity of all classes. That would not be good for the country nor for the bankers.

EVEN the Literary Digest, which spells "though" "tho," can't stand "thru."

WHEN a storm of unusual violence strikes your part of town you wonder that the papers next morning do not devote half their first page space to it.

GREAT cities may be ungrateful to their benefactors, but they are not vindictive toward their enemies. The man who invented the cedar block pavement never was compelled to eat it.

IF sending an army into Mexico could be construed as "not an unfriendly act," what would the Hon. Boise Penrose consider an act of open hostility?

THE man who shot himself while under the impression that he had lost nearly all his money in gambling joints must have been the victim of an absurd hallucination. "There is no gambling in Chicago."

THE average motorboat is a good thing not to be amusing yourself with on Lake Michigan, three or four miles from the shore, when a stiff nor'wester breaks loose.

A RECIPROCATING engine, according to a 10 year old boy who is making a study of mechanics, is "one that kin ketch you goin' an' comin'."

YOU don't have to urge the people to take advantage of the bathing beaches. At Jackson park, for example, they can be counted by the thousand, and the throng in front of the German building, any warm afternoon, is so great as to require the services of several policemen to see that no accident happens.

SOME day the animals at Lincoln park will lose the best friend they have or ever have had. Cy de Vry can't be expected to live forever.

BABY SHOWS OF VALUE.

SEVERAL years ago the Chicago American pulled off a baby show. The president of the board of judges was the then mayor and present governor, Dunne—proving that a judge of a baby show can live physically and politically, general understanding to the contrary notwithstanding. I was present at that show. There were thousands—it seemed to me tens of thousands—of babies on hand.

About that show there were many crude features. The only point it proved was that a baby show had enormous gripping power. A few years later a woman at Waterloo, Ia., took up the baby show idea and added to it some most helpful features. The Woman's Home Companion took up the Iowa idea, improved some of its features, and has been promoting baby shows along the new line all over the country.

The New York milk committee, with the coöperation of the New York Evening World, has been holding a series of very successful baby shows in New York.

In January of this year the National Western Stock show held a baby show in Denver, and Dr. Agnes Ditson tells us about it in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Gov. Ammons backed up the enterprise, the State Agricultural college lent its aid, some help came from the American Institute of Child Life, and a group of physicians of the standing of Grant, Jackson, and Jayne, and Prof. Bell, the psychologist, helped work out the scheme.

The babies competing are marked and graded on a card prepared after great thought. The main heads on the card are history and present conditions. History is divided into individual history and family history. Under individual history the inquiry is as to what sicknesses baby has had? How much has he gained in weight, in stature? Is he breast fed? What are his habits as to sleep? How active is he?

Under family history information is sought as to both mother and father regarding health, peculiarities, temperament, and family tendencies.

When it comes to judging the baby itself the division is into the physiological group and the psychological group. Under the first head they try to go farther than just to see whether the baby has dimples and fat cheeks. Some fifty points are covered in the inquiry. When it comes to the second head they go farther than to note whether baby has a winsome smile.

Baby has some mind, even when only a few months old, and a careful analysis will serve pretty well as a basis of opinion of the mental makeup of baby grown to maturity. Under this head about a dozen points are noted.

A human stock show can be very serviceable to a community. At the same time it can be humanized enough to draw at least half the thousands or tens of thousands drawn to the show presided over by Mayor Dunne in 1905. If any politician thinks baby shows are suicidal, let him get the opinion of Gov. Dunne.

COME TO OFFICE.

M. M. D. writes: "About three months ago there was a news item in one of the papers stating that some gentleman had given a sum of money for the purpose of enabling persons to get free treatment for locomotor ataxia by some new method. Any information you can give regarding this news item will be greatly appreciated."

REPLY.

I was told of an endowment to care for one or two cases. If you will call I shall tell you where.

TO PREVENT BLINDNESS.

J. T. wants to know what solution should be dropped into the eyes of a newly born babe to prevent it from going blind.

REPLY.

As soon as the baby is born it should be cleaned. Use separate cloths, or cotton, for the head. Clean the eyes with fresh sterile gauze. Do not clean one eye with a piece that has touched the other eye. Separate the lids and drop one drop of a 2 per cent solution of silver nitrate in each eye. See that the eyes are cleaned each day with a saturated solution of boracic acid and clean sterilized gauze.

TO GET RID OF FLEAS.

B. writes: Kindly tell us what will kill fleas in a shed which has a dirt floor and not perfectly tight siding."

REPLY.

Keep animals out. Rub pyrethrum powder into the hair of dogs, cats, pigs, etc. Keep the ground covered with finely powdered, air slaked lime. Sprinkle the walls with a wash made by boiling an ounce of pyrethrum powder in two gallons of water.

The Kansas bulletin, after advising the above method, suggests that probably it will be necessary to lay down a cement floor and then to keep it clean. Ordinarily sticky fly paper is a good flea catcher.

DOCTOR'S GUESS BETTER.

M. R. S. writes: "Will you kindly tell me the first symptoms of pregnancy? How soon after conception can it be detected by such symptoms?"

REPLY.

Amenorrhea and nausea are early signs present in most cases. Women who have had children can usually sense the condition by illy defined changes in their feelings. Those trying to conclude from signs and symptoms will be wrong about as often as they will be right. Doctors guess at the condition before the second month.

Nevertheless, a doctor's guess will be much better than yours, and you had better proceed in that way. A highly promising new test is known as the Abderhalden serum test. It can only be made by a laboratory.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., O. K.

J. A. A. writes: "Can you recommend the climate of San Antonio, Tex., for a person whose sputum tests positive for T. B.?"

REPLY.

Yes.

DON'T EAT APPLES.

E. F. G. writes: Is there anything I can do to overcome acid in stomach from eating apples. I am very fond of them and they are almost a necessity to me, but if I eat three or four a day they put my stomach on edge.

REPLY.

If eating apples sets your stomach on edge, don't eat them. They are doing you more harm than good.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1913: By the Brentwood Company.]

EDWARD CHARLES GRENFELL, 43 years of age, head of the London branch of the Anglo-American banking house of Morgan, Grenfell & Co., vice president of the International Mercantile Marine, and whose marriage to Florence Henderson took place in London on Saturday last, is the only son of Henry Riversdale Grenfell, M. P., governor of the Bank of England, and a grandson of Charles Pascoe Grenfell of Taplow court, Bucks.

The Grenfell family is represented in the house of lords by Lord Desborough, the famous athlete and the present owner of Taplow court on the Thames [which, by the by, has been leased for the autumn to Rodman Wanamaker of Philadelphia], and by Field Marshal Lord Grenfell, who received his peerage for his services in the Soudan against the mahdi, including the victory of Tuski.

Taplow court, popularly known as "Honeymoon court," has been in their possession since the beginning of the eighteenth century.

They hail from the Cornish village of St. Just. Pascoe Grenfell migrated to London in the middle of the eighteenth century and founded the great London banking house which has been in existence ever since, being now merged into the London banking house of J. Pierpont Morgan. The name of Pascoe is perpetuated in each generation of the family.

For a time the Grenfells were associated in business with Levi P. Morton, when he maintained a banking house in London. But this arrangement ceased when the former vice president of the United States withdrew from business in England.

The house of Grenfell has been extensively interested in South American affairs, having contributed in no small degree to the railroad development of both Brazil and the Argentine republic, while one of the Grenfells, John Pascoe by name, attained the rank of admiral in the imperial Brazilian navy.

Each generation of Grenfells has contributed governors to the Bank of England and the family is connected by marriage with the ducal houses of Marlborough, Portland, and St. Albans, with the St. Legers, the Bulteels, and the family of Earl Grey, the former governor general of Canada, whose daughter is married to Arthur Grenfell.

Literature and science may be said to have been represented among the kinsfolk by the family of the late Dr. Max Muller, by Anthony Froude, and by Charles Kingsley.

One of the Grenfells, Pascoe by name, who played in the Eton eleven in 1880, has been missing for seventeen years. He started on an expedition northward from Kimberley at the time of the outbreak of the Matabele rebellion and has never been heard of since, his fate being shrouded in that same mystery which envelopes the lot of so many travelers, explorers, and sportsmen who have vanished into the wilds of the dark continent.

Much money has been spent by the Grenfell family in order to obtain some clew as to what has become of him, but without avail.

It is just possible that he may turn up one of these days, like other white men who have been held in captivity by native tribes in Asia and in Africa, for whole decades together, becoming half savage, and have been suddenly restored to civilization.

A brother of this missing Grenfell, Robert by name, was killed in the charge of the Twenty-first lancers at the battle of Omdurman, and a cousin, Claud Grenfell, fell in the battle of Spion Kop in the Boer war.

The Grenfells, like the Glyns and the Barings, may be said to constitute a species of bridge between la haute finance in the city and the great world in the west end of London, and are as conspicuous in English society as they are in the business world and in the various branches of national sport.

Sir Ralph Paget, only son of the late Sir Augustus Paget, who was British ambassador at Rome, has just been appointed to the $8,000 a year post of assistant foreign under secretary of state in London, in the place of Sir Louis Mallet, promoted to the ambassadorship at Constantinople.

Sir Ralph's wife, Leila, Lady Paget, is half American, being the daughter of Gen. Sir Arthur Paget and of his wife, the former Minnie Stevens.

Leila, Lady Paget, indeed, was a particular favorite of her American grandmother, the late Mrs. Paran Stevens, owner of the Fifth Avenue hotel in New York.

Leila is a gifted woman, who has little, if anything, in common with her mother. Whereas Minnie, Lady Paget, is, to say the least, extremely worldly, ultra-fashionable, and might be described as frivolous, with not much shrewd method in her frivolity; her daughter is serious, quiet, an artist, indifferent to society, and devoted to good works.

For the last two years she has been living at Belgrade, where her husband was stationed as minister plenipotentiary, and took advantage of her sojourn there to found a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals with branches in all the other cities and towns of Servia, which she has left in a flourishing condition.

Moreover, since the beginning of the war in the Balkans she has been working day and night in the hospitals, nursing the sick and wounded and relieving suffering, until her health has become seriously affected.

Whereas her mother, Minnie, Lady Paget, does not enjoy any marked good will of King George and Queen Mary, nor yet of Queen Alexandra, Leila, and her husband, Sir Ralph, are favorites of all three, especially of the queen mother.

Queen Alexandra can never forget that it was to Sir Ralph's father and mother, Sir Augustus Paget and his German wife, Walpurga, Countess of Hohenthal, that she is in the main indebted for her selection as the bride of Edward VII.

Leila Paget and her husband are welcome guests at Sandringham, where Gen. Arthur Paget and his eldest son have often been asked.

Minnie, Lady Paget, though, was never included in these invitations to Sandringham, not even during the lifetime of King Edward, who used often to dine with her in London, en garçon.

Sir Ralph Paget is slightly lame and neither stalwart nor particularly strong. But he is cautious, able, and highly thought of at the foreign office and also by his intimate friends.

His wife, who as a young girl spent several seasons in New York with her grandmother, Mrs. Paran Stevens, is tall, graceful, with beautiful dark gray eyes, long, dark eyelashes, and a brilliant complexion. She was last over here in 1908.

Her husband was minister in Siam when he married her, and the early portion of their wedded life was spent in Bangkok. Afterwards he was transferred to Munich, and from there to Belgrade.

Her presence in London as wife of a foreign office official will be interesting, since her friends are entirely distinct from those of her mother, and she is likely to form a circle of her own. Let me add that she is fond of her mother-in-law, Walpurga, Lady Paget, who is at daggers drawn with the American Minnie, Lady Paget.

Walpurga is an artist, a poet, and an author; was maid of honor to Empress Frederick prior to her marriage, and, while ambassadress in Italy, befriended "Ouida," in several of whose novels she is portrayed in the most kindly colors.

THE conducting of this Catoptric Column would be a comparatively easy task were it not for having to stick around to read the proofs. This is important, because the moment our back is turned the valued Proof Room knocks the "te" out of "suffragette."

YOU have no idea how much trouble we have retaining the "te" in "suffragette." [Note to the compositor: Get it right.] So mesmerizing is office "style" that the elimination is done automatically. We don't mind so much when they knock the "me" off "programme," but "suffragette" must and shall be preserved.

Card of Thanks.

Sir: We wish to thank Eben E. Rexford very much for his little poem entitled, "What We May Expect," but would appreciate it more if they would kindly not stop at little things like that, but would have them for a change. Please don't talk so much, but for heaven's sake do something.

AT the Newberry library there is an exhibition of Early English Literature, which includes original copies of the four folio editions of Shakespeare and first editions of Spenser's "Faërie Queene," Milton's "Paradise Lost," and other great classics of that period. This, we believe, is the last day of the exhibition.

Sir: Speaking of artificialities, what would be your opinion of this? An employé of the company of which my husband is the local manager has a wooden leg, and while at work recently he fell and broke it. Now, the question in my husband's mind is, in notifying the main office, should he make a "personal injury" or a "property damage" report?

It might interest you to know that the man's wife also has a wooden leg. This characteristic has not descended to their children, although at times it may have descended upon them.

SMOKE FROM A BAKERY.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Every evening about 9 o'clock the whole neighborhood around 1500 North Western avenue is enveloped in a cloud of smoke from a bakery which is on the rear of a lot three doors north of my home. The smokestacks are not high enough to permit the smoke to go over the three story houses and as a result our houses are filled with smoke and the very strong odor of Jewish rye bread.

This does not only occur at the hour above mentioned; it occurs quite frequently during the evening and in warm weather we cannot open our windows without getting the full benefit from the smokestacks. Something surely can be done in this matter, and I am appealing to the Friend of the People to help me out.

JOHN L. ROBINSON.

I have had this case investigated and find that there are two steel chimneys on a one story bakery serving three bake ovens, in which only hardwood is used for fuel. My engineer reports that from his experience there is serious doubt whether these stacks ever violate the ordinance, but I have written a letter to Eritikin & Hemmelstein, 1327 North Western avenue, requesting them to extend their stacks so as to carry the gases above the adjoining buildings.

O. M. MONNETT, Smoke Inspector.

WRONG ON HIS HEADWAY FIGURES.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Please tell us when the patrons of the Fullerton avenue station of the Northwestern elevated are going to receive better service.

At 4 o'clock they discontinue the stopping of the Evanston and Ravenswood branches at the above station on their north bound trip, thus leaving only the Wilson express, which runs at about ten minute intervals. Then we have the local trains that run about fifteen minutes apart.

W. N. RUDD, 2340 Seminary avenue.

The interval between north bound Wilson avenue express trains stopping at Fullerton avenue between 4 p. m. and 5 p. m. is six minutes; between 5 p. m. and 6 p. m., four and five minutes.

The interval between local trains from 4:40 p. m. to 6:50 p. m. is five and six minutes. In addition between 5:30 and 6:30 p. m., nine North Water street Evanston express trains stop at Fullerton avenue.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Could you inform me through your valuable paper as to about when the new bridge will be finished which will span Bubbly creek at Thirty-fifth street? Work seems to be progressing at a very slow pace on this structure. There are quite a number of large business houses in that locality, and when their employés are going home at 5:30 the congestion on the temporary bridge reminds you of State and Madison streets on a Saturday afternoon.

Also, there has been a rumor to the effect that when it is finished, the City railway contemplates putting double track cars in Thirty-fifth street. Can you advise me if this is so? L. B.

The steel for this bridge is now being shipped. The contractor has been notified to rush this work to completion at the earliest possible moment, and he is arranging his erection plant so that the steel can be erected promptly on arrival.

CONDITIONS IN GUATEMALA.

The following is part of a letter received from an American now in Guatemala:

PUERTOS BARRIOS, Guatemala, Aug. 2.—I received papers, and best of all, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE with an account of the conditions in Central America, and particularly Guatemala. Was especially glad to get this as it shows that the situation here is becoming more familiar to the people of the United States.

The article [by "Observer"] was very fairly written, and not exaggerated. In fact it was very moderate in the description of conditions here—in Guatemala generally. This is counted a republic, but there is no law known except that locally of the commandante, the jefe, the governor, and nationally or in exceptional cases of the president. He will rule on matters in which he may be interested, being judge, jury, and executioner—order anything he wishes and knows no law except his own. Foreigners of course are well protected by the fact of their being foreigners, and it is well for all such to be registered immediately with their consuls. As to the citizens themselves they are all really in constant fear of molestation and no one is safe from arrest at home or on the street. A man may disappear and then be released from prison in a month or so afterwards to find his family has disappeared. A girl may be arrested on a fictitious charge while at home or on an errand and no trace of her found perhaps until weeks afterwards.

There is no real trust of any one and the president is protected only by the fear of those under him that any double playing will be discovered by the spy system. The whole subject is a broad one and pages could be written of the situation.

There is a vast extent of undeveloped country to the north and northeast which those in power do not want touched. It is held out as so much resources to be used in emergency. It would be a godsend to the people generally if the United States were to take charge of the customs and give them a fair show. There is very little patriotic spirit among them. To show how broad this Cabrera is—his life was attempted by means of a time fuse electric bomb. He issued an order that no electrical supplies should be admitted to this country without special permission from him. The order is rigidly adhered to. Supplies come and await his permission, which in many cases is never given. We have supplies over in the custom house which we never will get, and to proceed with certain parts of the work we have been forced to get by one means and another such as we needed most. X.

NOT CAPABLE OF GOVERNING.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In reply to the article by "X." in the people's column of Aug. 14 relative to the Mexican situation. Mr. "X." argues that the 3,000,000 Spaniards—whom he terms intelligent—are the only ones capable of ruling Mexico. The Weyler régime of assassination and rapine in Cuba and the long reign of Spanish cruelties and atrocities of Spanish countries and the recent assassinations and atrocities in Mexico have demonstrated to us that there are no people, either ignorant or intelligent, more unfit to rule a people or administer the affairs of government than the Spanish.

Besides, the reliable reports do not show the 10,000,000 mixed bloods to be so ignorant as pictured, and the fact is they are intelligent enough to attempt to throw off the Spanish yoke of unparalleled oppression, murder, and devastation of their country and they deserve assistance. W. L. DE CLOW.

IDENTIFICATION OF PAWNERS.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—A man is arrested for stealing a watch that he has taken to a pawnbroker. Said pawnbroker is sole witness against him, and in his testimony says the man looks like the one who borrowed money on the watch, and his signature seems to be identical. Now, if a law was passed compelling pawnbrokers to use the Bertillon system of identification the proof would be positive and possibly many an innocent man would be spared the humiliation of suspicion and a possible jail term.

SOCIAL WORKER.

WHAT SOCIALISM IS.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I did not read your article in THE TRIBUNE for Aug. 10 on "Gibbons Points Socialist Errors," but I read Mr. A. H. Coombs' criticism of the same, and his definition of Socialism, and it seems to me he is firing just as wide of the mark as he asserts Cardinal Gibbons is doing. What Mr. Coombs sees in Socialism is merely a side issue, a stepping stone towards the final goal, the overthrow of all existing institutions—church, state, and religion.

The fundamentals of Socialism are not those presented by Mr. Coombs, but the economic interpretation of history, with the law of concentration, the theory of collapses and crises, the theory of value and surplus value, and the class struggle. This is Socialism.

WOMAN RESIGNS AS LEAGUE CHIEF

Dr. Julia Holmes Smith Tells Stormy Session She Cannot Endure Stress.

FIGHT OVER ROOM RENT.

Democratic Organization of Fair Sex Finds Expenses Swamp the Treasury.

Members of the Illinois Woman's Democratic league at a special meeting in the Auditorium hotel yesterday discovered they had a "white elephant" on their hands. It developed that while rent for the permanent headquarters in the Auditorium is $35 a month and there is an accumulation of debts, there is only $31.54 in the treasury. The discovery led to a stormy discussion, at the conclusion of which Dr. Julia Holmes Smith announced her resignation from the presidency.

Dr. Smith, who is a veteran leader of the Democratic women in Illinois, said she no longer could brave the stress of the sessions and under no consideration would she become a candidate for the presidency of the league at the November caucus.

Mrs. Jenks in Protest.

Notice of the special meeting was given out on Thursday night. Dr. Smith held the chair and called on Mrs. Susan Jenks to make a report of the previous meeting, which Dr. Smith had not been able to attend.

Mrs. Jenks asserted she was not notified of the meeting until a few hours before and wanted to know "what it was all about."

Dr. Smith replied the permanent headquarters had been arranged for in her absence and she wanted to learn the manner in which the rent was to be raised. Mrs. Jenks said six members, including herself, had pledged themselves for $5 a month, and a special assessment on all members was to be made to pay all current expenses.

Mrs. Caroline K. Sherman asserted she thought it "undignified in the league to allow six members out of 185 to bear the burden for the entire expense." It was not policy for the campaign committee to secure new members, she said—as sixteen had been secured—with the understanding the annual dues were to be $1, and then to have special assessments for many times that amount.

"We cannot afford to bring in new members" she concluded, "without giving assurance of a certain amount to be collected from them for their membership."

Mrs. Jenks Pounds on Table.

Mrs. Jenks walked to the front of the room and, pounding on the table, commanded attention.

"I want to answer that speech," she announced. "It is sickening to see all this opposition to our plans. The women afraid to spend money are the ones weaking this organization. Let the women who are paying talk. I will give 5 cents, 10 cents, $5 or $10 a month that this work may live. I am still in the ranks. I work in my capacity the same as the president."

Miss Grace Reed, principal of the Frances Willard school, moved the assessment be 25 cents a month on each member, and that a committee be appointed to look after the collection.

Finally Mrs. Jenks again was on the floor.

"I want to sanction that proposition," she said. "Let the members give willingly, and not as a duty."

"If they don't want to give, let them get out," said some one in the rear.

Reads Constitution on Dues.

Dr. Smith read the constitution, which stated the dues would be $1 a year.

"Well," said Mrs. Joanna E. Downes, "that constitution was made two years ago. Everything is double price now."

"I am opposed to having headquarters if we have to pay for them," cried Mrs. Butler.

"But we have to pay for them," said Dr. Smith. "Here we have agreed to rent them for six months and haven't the money to pay for them. There is only $31.54 in the treasury."

Dr. Smith called for a vote on the assessment plan of Miss Reed. The question carried and the committee was appointed, with Miss Reed chairman.

Then Dr. Smith asked the league to recommend Frank McAdams as engineer to the board of education. Mrs. Jenks called McAdams "one of the grandest men." The affirmative vote was called for. Dr. Smith declared the indorsement lacking in enthusiasm and demanded a more vigorous acclamation, which was given to her satisfaction.

Member of House Scoffs.

"I have been besieged with letters from friends and enemies," she said, "asking what I am going to do in November. It then will be necessary to elect new officers. I cannot by any possibility be president again of the Democratic league. I no longer am able to build up an organization which should be state-wide. There is not a single associate organization in the state. I am not ashamed to say the purpose of the league has been an absolute failure.

"We ought to have a big treasury fund. and we now are in debt. We must beg, borrow, or steal to get enough money to pay for headquarters we rashly have contracted for. We ought to have affiliated organizations sending out literature throughout the state, and we have about 190 members, all engaged in petty differences, petty jealousies, and indulging in petty personalities. I am with you, but cannot brave the stress of the work before you. Choose this day whom you shall serve."

By a unanimous vote Dr. Smith was made honorary past president. The meeting adjourned.

Resigns as Head of Party League.

Senator Jones Offers Bill to Reserve Part of Open Space—Plan Leads to Scoffing.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Intended as a harbinger of woman's political emancipation, Senator Jones of Washington has offered a bill setting aside a space in the proposed plaza between the capitol and the Union station solely for the raising of statues and memorials to women. He would have it known as the "Parthenon."

"I suppose they'll be erecting statues to the inventor of the bloomers and the latter day slit skirt," sneered a dyspeptic anti-suffragist house member. "It'll be a pretty sight—a lot of female statuary in a clump."

Missouri Women Organize Band.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 22.—Music, not militancy, is to be used by Missouri women in their campaign for the ballot. This is the announcement of Mrs. E. R. Curry, a local suffragist leader, who today with a group of her co-workers met and welcomed the Missouri suffrage band of Maryville, Mo., as it passed through on a tour of central Missouri.

WOMEN PROTEST FORTS AT PANAMA

Resolutions Passed Denouncing War Loans and Military Airships.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22.—"Two million women in America protest against the fortification of the Panama canal," was the assertion made today before the peace congress by Mrs. May Wright Sewall of Indianapolis. She drew a round of applause from the delegates as she added:

"The canal ought to be free for the whole world and should be adorned with statues of peace at its entrances."

Dr. William F. Slocum of Colorado Springs, a member of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, offered a resolution "inviting the United States government never to fortify the waterway." It was laid on the table.

Oppose Building War Airships.

The congress passed a resolution introduced by Prof. Feldman of New York denouncing war loans, and one introduced by Prof. Slayden of Washington, opposing the construction of military airships.

Victor Hugo Duras of New York presented an invitation from the mayor of San Francisco to hold the congress in 1915 at San Francisco.

Secretary Bryan's peace plan will be laid formally before the conference of the Inter-Parliamentary union at The Hague on Sept. 1 by Senator Burton of Ohio, who will sail from New York tomorrow as one of the American members.

Plan Permanent Hague Court.

Mr. Burton is also one of seven members of a special committee representing Russia, Germany, Austria, France, Belgium, Greece, and the United States, charged with planning a permanent Hague court.

Secretary Bryan's peace plan, under which nations would bind themselves to submit all grievances to arbitration and defer preparations for war meanwhile, will be laid before the special committee and later before the parliamentary union.

Sentenced on Pastor's Charges.

Anton Mattiasat of 225 West Twenty-fourth place was sentenced to one year in the house of correction and fined $1 yesterday by Municipal Judge Fisher, on a charge of larceny, preferred against him by the Rev. Joseph Soric, pastor of the Church of the Assumption, at 600½ South Marshfield avenue.

Book Offerings of the Season

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

"THE YOKE OF PITY" (L'Ordination), a novel by Julien Benda, which has been attracting much attention in France, now challenges the attention of England and America through a translation offered by Mr. Gilbert Cannan. (Henry Holt & Co.) It is a pre-Nietzschean psychologic study in which the excursive soul of a gifted man struggles in vain to free itself from those withholding influences of compassion which are imposed by the weak and the suffering.

The protagonist's first excursion into the world of selfishness is sensual. He loves a young woman who is unhappily—or uninterestingly—married. They have a flaming amour, in which, however, the man is able to retain something of the objective view of his mistress, of himself, and of their love. He often is pleased at his own disinterestedness; she is consumed by their devotion. So, inevitably, it is he who wearies. Then, having had his draught of experience, it is his impulse to free himself. He endeavors to do so, but his pity for the woman will not let him go. Their relations now make a prisoner of him. He is in bondage to pity and cannot flee. He is torn with compassion not only for this one woman whom he wishes to leave to her tears, but for all women. It is only after a terrible struggle in which the spirits of both are torn in a hurricane, that he at last frees himself.

Time passes. The soul of the man requires another complete experience. This time it is another manifestation of his manhood, his creative brain, which demands exploitation. He marries that he may be at ease, has a little daughter whose presence in the world pleases without disturbing him, and he then enters upon a life of the intellect. "Not the dallying with ideas that had been familiar to him as to all the men of his class on leaving college, not the fluttering of doctrines between a call and a dinner party, but a passionate, permanent, exclusive possession, spending weeks together in unearthing a concept, with never a thought for anything else—the fevered toil of such research, and the agony of being baffled, and the joys of triumph, and the breathless fructifying of one idea by another, with his whole being at stretch to discover whether such and such an idea would beget such and such another or its opposite."

Into this heroic absorption with the abstract, pity again intrudes itself. Little Suzanne, his daughter, develops hip disease. The savant gapes in horror at her plight. Again he feels the coils of pity about him. He fights, tries to concentrate upon his vocation, but little by little, as her pain and patience appeal to him, he yields to the most complete seduction of which the heart is capable—the love of one's own pathetic child. He understands for the first time that marriage is, in spite of the worst that the secular and the selfish may do to it, a sacrament. He realizes the complicity of himself and his wife in this act of exquisite and piteous creation. The sick child with her heroic soul is theirs. Love and pity have him by the throat—have him manacled. He relinquishes his career.

It is at that point that the advocates of compromise are disturbed. May one not love a sick child and yet enthusiastically follow an intellectual career, they inquire. M. Benda ventures to respond that they cannot. Not as his hero would have followed it—not completely and heroically as the great thinkers have done. The super-man is undone by pity. It is a postulate of Nietzsche, who dreaded pity because he knew himself subject to it. It is the theory of the man of energy, of creativeness, to whom halfway measures are intolerable, and to whom mediocre performances are like shame.

"LADDIE: A true blue story," by Gene Stratton-Porter (Doubleday Page & Co.), is another of those pretty romances for big-little girls which Mrs. Porter has written with signal success. This story follows the fortunes of the tSanton family in general and of Laddie Stanton and his Little Sister in particular. Little Sister—whom one suspects may be Mrs. Porter herself—was full of fancies and dreams along in the '70s and '80s, and as a great many interesting things happened to the Stantons about that time, she is able to record them whimsically. The fashions, the songs, the books, the sentiments of that period are familiar to the writer of the book, and there will be thousands of readers grateful for the revival of old sentiments and situations. The story is almost six hundred pages long, but not, it may safely be inferred, too long for Mrs. Porter's many devoted readers, who are grateful for the kindly homeliness of her stories, and are unconscious of the many objections that the critics make as to their sentimentality. Besides there are countless thousands who profoundly need just such sentiment. No large, abstract philosophy sustains them. They are not adapted to the perusal of bitter realistic literature. Their own lives bear heavily upon them, and they find a sincere and innocuous happiness in the reading of simple and loving books.

Gene Stratton Porter
Author of Laddie, a True Blue Story—Doubleday Page and Co.

Gene Stratton Porter's new book "Laddie" is about to appear. The success of her other works, "Freckles," and "A girl of the Limberlost," entitles the public to expect something good of the new book, an expectation the author is quite capable of realizing for her readers.

Emilie Blackmore Stapp, the author of "The Trail of the Go-Hawks," has a new story called "THE SQUAW LADY" (David McKay, Philadelphia), in which the same familiar nice children are at play. They have a new game this time—the care of an elderly lady, Mrs. Shirley, whose son has gone abroad, leaving his mother in their care. The tribe of Go-Hawks (a boys' club) take turns in living with her and looking after her interests. Many surprising and pleasing things happen which young readers will be pleased to knpow about. This story, like the Go-Hawk tale and "Uncle Peter—Heathen," is written to persuade children that their best friends are the old—those whose burden bearing days are over and who have the leisure to appreciate children.

due sentimentality and with a humor which mitigates its essential sadness. The document is, indeed, remarkable. A series of simple genre pictures is presented, completely and quaintly Irish, which must touch the heart and live in the memory of all who read the book.

"MY LADY OF THE CHIMNEY CORNER," by Alexander Irvine (The Century Company), is the story of a little, obscure Irish woman (Mr. Irvine's mother) and of the radiations that went out from her little cabin over the world. A born teller of tales, Mr. Irvine—well known as the friend of the poor in New York City—has been able to set forth this simple and touching history without un-

One of the sweetest pictures in the book is this: Little red headed Alexander, Anne Irvine's favorite son, has, in the midst of his poverty and ignorance, somehow discovered God, and happiness and wonder fill his heart. He tells his mother of the great new beauty which he sees in the world and of the feeling that he must do something to carry this bright joy to others, and she gives him her blessing and sends him to his bed thinking, and telling him, that perhaps the feeling will be gone in the morning. But when morning comes little Alexander still throbs with the consciousness of his creator and the beauty of all creation. So that he may not waken the others he goes in his bare feet and dances before his mother's bed. She opens her eyes, sees this little latter day David dancing before the Lord, and holds out her thin arms to him and draws him to her breast—the breast that Great Famine had pinched, that habitual meagerness had worn, that many children had nursed. The scene of the last parting between Alexander and his mother, when he returns to America, leaving her in her old age, is profoundly touching.

George Meredith at Close Range.

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER.

IT is interesting to get a French point of view on George Meredith that we have in "GEORGE MEREDITH—HIS LIFE, GENIUS, AND TEACHING," by Constantin Photiades (Scribners). The author of this interesting volume came over from France and visited Meredith in September, 1911, not long before his death.

Although being not over friendly to interviewers, Meredith was very gracious to his guest from across the channel, and talked freely with him. To quote from the book:

His bête noire is the reporter. Demand nothing original from my modern compatriots, he said. Today they choose their models from beyond the sea, and for preference copy the French and the Americans. France, naturally, purifies their taste. But America, that cradled Hercules, infects us with the too free manners of her cowboys and rough riders. There trappers communicate to us their eccentricity; that mania for besieging persons of note to expose their innermost secrets. Such effrontery stupefies us; we are too apt to take this unceremoniousness for strength. And, now, behold, the English journals are enviously imitating the most insolent habits of their transatlantic brethren!

With regard to journalists, men who are as influential as they are susceptible, a young author has a choice of two courses; either to have nothing to do with them or to make use of them. For my own part they make my flesh creep: I have never been able to tolerate them. Robert Browning certainly did not neglect them in his old age. Dickens and Thackeray petted them as a horseman pets his mount before putting it at an obstacle. As for Lord Tennyson, he was a past master in the art of provoking panegyrics and dithyrambs.

Here you have a real business man! He has made literature pay; he has even made a fortune out of it. Like an ingenious husbandman he has changed the barren field into a gold mine. He bleeds me! groaned his publisher piteously, but paid him all the same. It was useless for publishers to deprecate Tennyson's so-called eagerness for gain. They yielded to his demands and the world would have its beloved poet at any price. But then, you see, my countrymen take in these interesting little elegies; in these edifying apologues; these psychic crises of young clergymen silently tormented by doubt. If they do delight in these peaceful struggles, these silent conflicts, it is because they themselves can be interested without any risk of danger to their faith, to which the young cleric, after many vicissitudes, fails not to conform. Of course such emotions have their peculiar charm. In Memoriam was a triumphant success. A matter of taste, after all! But you Frenchmen do not admire make-believes—above all, make-believe champagne!

However, let us be just! Lord Tennyson, whom I admire, has the enviable distinction and the lucky privilege of having made our ugly moneyjingling language sing. An English musician is really a kind of bluebird. Is it not truly awful to compose with words of one foot, and with a vocabulary which limps and then leaps? We pipe upon a bad flute which is shrill and discordant. Shakspeare has played upon it with wonderful skill, Milton with more facility. However, to come to our day, Tennyson and Swinburne have wrung out of this wretched instrument melodies, stately, impassioned and well sustained.

It is the custom to be enraptured by the verbal flights of imagination of my old friend Swinburne, Good! But there is another hidden splendor, and one which ought to be revealed to the public; it is his daring flow of language. What a torrent of boiling lava! Do you like the translation of Omar Khayyam by FitzGerald? Yes? That is good! The plastic seductiveness of that work fully justifies its immense success. I relish to the full the rhymes of FitzGerald and his beautifully plaintive harmonies, withal so mysterious; but how can one approve of his pessimism?

Continuing his conversation he aired his views on the press, meaning probably, book reviewers. He acknowledged the appreciation he had received in America, notably from the readers of Scribner's Magazine:

The press has often treated me as a clown or a harlequin—yes, really! And with such little respect that my fellow citizens can scarcely put up with me. Do not cry out! Certainly at this late hour they accord me a little glory; my name is celebrated, but no one reads my books. As for Englishmen, I put them to flight because I bore them. With regard to foreigners I am but an illustrious unknown. Think! All my poems were, until 1896, published at my own expense!

If I continue to write, despite the prevailing indifference to my work, it is because certain magazines, notably Scribner's Magazine of America, pay me liberally for my contributions. My contemporaries here know nothing of it. Lately I gave a poem to the Oxford and Cambridge Review—"The Call"—I interrupted. What! you have read it? he asked. You are the first person who has spoken of it to me. I hoped that my poetic warning would be of use to my country. Ah, well! It has passed unnoticed. No, my countrymen do not value me, believe me; at the most they will appreciate me after my death.

The author of this book dwells upon the ingratitude of woman towards Meredith:

"Moreover, if few men read Meredith, fewer women read him. This is hard to believe. This man, who was ever a chivalrous and enthusiastic champion of the woman's cause; this man who displayed a kind of veneration for women's intelligence; this man who desired an absolute equality between the two sexes—has never been rewarded for his zeal. . . . A strange thing that woman, who are the best agents of publicity, have not repaid him with gratitude!

OH SKIN-NAY!

Boys with freckles and warts; boys with divergent toes on their bare feet; boys with rebellious hair; boys full of mischief and play; nothing bad about 'em, but just boys—these are the characters depicted in Mr. Clare Briggs' book "OH, SKIN-NAY!" (P. F. Vodand & Co.).

Readers of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE have long ago learned to love Skinny and his friends, and here are all the pictures collected in a book with verses appropriate by Mr. W. D. Nesbitt. The homely scenes of boy life in a small town; the homely delights of summer, winter, spring, and fall, school and recess, holidays, and the day and night pranks which mean so much to the healthy, growing lad are all lovingly drawn by the artist's pen. All the familiar faces are there, including that of the old man in eternal warfare with the dog and that little brother whose nose needs so much attention. "The days of real sport"—they are, indeed.

To those who have passed their youth in the village these homely pictures of country boyhood will make a sure appeal, complemented as they are by Mr. Nesbit's excellent verse.

Flashlights on Fiction.

"HARLETTE," by Marion Polk Angellotti, relates the tragic love story of the mad Duke Robert of Normandy, called very generally "the devil" because of his unhappy inheritance and his terrible temper, and the peasant girl Harlette, the only person who felt no fear of him, and who for eight long years, by her firm resistance, fought off his encroaching madness. Her absolute simplicity, her faithful, serving devotion for him, her selfless yielding of place and mother love, are qualities developed to a tense degree and described by the author in a most suitable manner, simple yet full of restrained force.

The last act of the tragedy comes after the duke's death on his pilgrimage to Jerusalem, whither Harlett at the cost of her own happiness had counseled his going for the sake of restraining his threatening madness. She then goes away from the castle as she had come, with nothing, leaving her boy, the young William of Normandy, the "conqueror," who left such ineffaceable marks on history, with no more than a backward glance, for he was now the heir of Normandy, no more the son of a peasant woman. It is a strikingly simple and effective handling of a fine old theme, having a quiet reserve about it that is rare in historic revivals. [The Century company, New York.]

Elsie Janis' first book, "LOVE LETTERS OF AN ACTRESS," comes tripping blithely from the Appleton press, its pages all bedecked with pen and ink sketches of books, notes, smoking cigarets, fluffy heads, and the like. These sketches, not specially good ones either, are the most significant thing about the book, which is the author's idea of "how a popular actress should be loved." The book contain brief notes written by numerous smitten swains protesting affection of various hues, with the actress' more or less sympathetic and semi-humorous replies. The replies play the star rôles, but they are a trifle forced and their wit wavers between the broad and the far fetched. The little book is a bit of froth but it doesn't have the lightness that justifies the froth. All in all, Miss Janis isn't a success at putting it across the literary footlights; she would do well to stick to those of the stage.

Full of Celtic magic, superstition, and fancifulness is the pretty love story, "THE CHARMING OF ESTERCEL," by Grace Rhys, in which a young girl wins her cousin lover to kindliness by giving him as a love charm a ring which has lain in a bird's nest through the "whole season of the spring," until it was well warmed through with "bird love." The events through which the love growth moves are charming, as are the hero and heroine and the refreshing Celtic atmosphere. (E. P. Dutton & Co., New York.)

A book of verses by Evelyn Underhill, entitled "IMMANENCE," is strongly religious in character, with a markedly Catholic tinge. The major part has to do with saints and feasts of the church, though there are some effective poems of nature. The meter is varying, and the manner is largely very decorative. (E. P. Dutton & Co., New York.)

OPPENHEIM IN A NEW VEIN!

The Double Life of Mr. Alfred Burton

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

"The Double Life of Mr. Alfred Burton" is so unlike my other work that I offer it with this explanation: It has amused me for many years to write short stories of middle-class life in a semi-humorous vein. I commenced Alfred Burton as a short story but it grew longer and longer as the plot unfolded until I found that I had written a full length novel.

My publishers tell me that this distinct departure from my customary vein is a most happy one and that this novel should not only please those who have enjoyed reading my previous novels, but will attract a new reading public as well.

That it may afford my American friends as much enjoyment in reading the novel as I have taken in writing it is the sincerest wish of E. Phillips Oppenheim

McCormick Gardens Scene of Brilliant Dance.

THE Italian gardens of the country place of Harold F. McCormick at Lake Forest presented a Neapolitan appearance last evening with the brilliantly colored lights strung above the terrace to give illumination for the dancing. Neapolitan serenaders strolled to and fro through the gardens, and the strumming of guitar accompaniment helped out the illusion that it was Naples in fiesta time. A number of dinner parties preceded the dance. Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell of Lake Forest were among the hosts.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Jane Alcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Horn of 1354 Winona avenue, to William Johnston of 4639 Kenmore avenue was a service of Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Horn of 5139 Sheridan road. Pink roses and lilies carried out the color scheme of pink and white. The bride wore a gown of cream charmeuse veiled in shadow lace and a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms and lilies of the valley, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses. Miss Leonore Rambo of Wilmette was maid of honor. She was gowned in white chiffon and lace over pink satin and carried pink roses. Miss Nellie Alcock, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore pink charmeuse with a tunic of lace and chiffon and also carried pink bride's roses. Helen Buddinger, who was flower girl, wore a dress of pink lace and carried a basket of pink roses and lilies of the valley. Joseph Horn, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. Willis Johnston, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The Rev. Harry B. Heald of the Church of the Episcopal church performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston have gone to Geneva Lake, Wis., on their wedding trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Collins announce the marriage of their daughter, Harriett Mary, to Hiram Sedgwick Cody, on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman of 1312 South Kedzie avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Ida, to Abraham D. Bergman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Sullivan of 5429 South Wabash avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Dr. Thomas E. Meany of Austin. The wedding will take place in October.

Dr. Eugene F. Talbot and his sister, Miss Margaret Talbot, are spending the season in a motor tour of the British isles. Miss Talbot, who has been in school in Paris for the last two years, is at present visiting schoolmates in London.

Mr. and Mrs. George Weston of 6138 Sheridan road, who have been at Hyannisport, Cape Cod, for the last two weeks, leave there for a fortnight's stay at Bar Harbor, Me., going from there to Bretton Woods, N. H., and Quebec, and expect to return to Chicago about the middle of September.

Jonas O. Hoover and daughter, Lois, who have been at the Moraine, Highland Park, the past two months, have gone to Magnolia Beach, Mass., for the rest of the summer.

Mrs. John Devlin of 700 Independence boulevard, after passing the first of the season with her daughter, Mrs. Charles P. Wheelock, in Minneapolis, is now visiting her oldest daughter, Mrs. M. L. Corbett, of Columbus, O., at her summer home in Charlevoix, Mich. Mrs. Devlin will return to the city early in September.

Mr. and Mrs. William Maxwell Stickney of 1201 East Sixtieth street are spending the close of the season in the pine woods of northern Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jason Cassel of 3404 West Adams street, who have been traveling abroad, are now motoring in the east and before their return in mid-September will go through the northern woods of Wisconsin, the guest of Mrs. Cassel's sister, Mrs. John Selby, at her summer home, "White Gables."

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Weinshenker of 825 North Hoyne avenue will be at home in honor of their twenty-fifth anniversary at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. David Weiss of 4827 Vincennes avenue on Sunday.

Southern Woman's Club War Reaches Acute Stage.

AN interesting situation in the fight between the two factions of the Southern Woman's club arose yesterday when it became known that each section will send two delegates to the meeting of the Illinois State Federation of Woman's Clubs in Evanston this fall.

Mrs. Jeremiah F. Hallissy, head of the organization which "seceded" from the original organization, declared during the day that Mrs. Delany-Holden and Mrs. Ophelia L. Blair would represent her organization at the federation meeting. Mrs. Thomas White, president of the original Southern Woman's club, said two delegates would be selected at the next meeting.

It will devolve upon Mrs. Frederick A. Dow, president of the federation and the credentials committee, to decide which of the two delegations legally represent the Chicago organization. One delegation will be chosen and the other will be dismissed from the sessions of the federation. In either event the dismissed delegates will cause trouble in the federation, it is predicted.

At present the case to decide which organization has the right to the title, "Southern Woman's Club of Chicago," will rest until the September term of court. Both organizations are supposed to admit into membership only those women who have lived in the south. In both organizations, it is stated, there are several women who have never been in the south.

"One of the women in the organization of which I am head," said Mrs. White at night, "was angered because she was not elected president of the organization. As a result she got together several women in the club and they seceded. We hold separate meetings and conduct our business entirely apart from each other.

"Our organization holds all of the legal papers, historical documents, and bylaws of the club. There is no question as to the legality of our right to the club title."

Mrs. Hallissy was less communicative. She said she intended to send two delegates to the state meeting, but declined to commit herself further on the point.

Evanston Lawn Fete for Charity.

The Ladies of Isabella will give an outing and lawn fête at Evanston this afternoon for the benefit of the St. Vincent de Paul society's work in providing outings for women and children. The fête is to be given at the fresh air camp at Walnut and Isabella streets, North Evanston, beginning at 2 o'clock.

The program of the lawn fête is under the sole direction of Miss Belle V. Casey, supreme scribe of the society. Miss Victoria Warnesson is chairman of the committee of the platform; Miss Emma Huising of the dance platform; Miss Lurene Mochelle of the candy booth; Miss Mary McDonald of the refreshment booth, and Miss Anna Glassner of the committee on grounds.

About sixty-five women and children are given outings each week at the camp. They live in tents. Through the fête it is hoped to bring in sufficient funds to extend the work.

Rail Mismanagement Blamed for Living Cost.

HOW the present high cost of living in the United States is due, in a measure, to the financial mismanagement of American railroads, was explained at yesterday's session of the American Association of Railroad Superintendents at the Hotel Sherman.

It was made in a paper on "Railroad Economics," read by William Walter Wheatley of New York, a consulting railway expert.

"Much nonsense has been spoken and written by railway owners and directors with the view of showing that the railways were all right and the public all wrong," said Mr. Wheatley. "Instead of making a favorable impression, these expressions have nauseated the public. Many practical railway officials have been deceived by such criticisms, and it has caused some of them to assume a wrong attitude toward the public.

"Railway indebtedness helps to inflate the currency and diminish the purchasing power of the dollar. The bankers accept railway stocks and bonds, in which they are interested, as collateral for credit. They disregard the only safe and sound basis for credit; namely, real wealth, the product of land, labor, and capital, to give artificial value to these securities. The inflation of credit upon the basis of unreal values dilutes the value of the entire volume of the currency, and assists in raising the prices of commodities to artificially high levels."

Women Canvass Voters.

Mrs. Charlotte Rhodus, president of the Woman's party of Cook county, and Mrs. Hilda Swain, chairman of the party's Fourteenth ward organization yesterday spent their second day in canvassing the Fourteenth ward for women voters. They secured ten new members for the organization, and on every side received encouraging expressions from the new women voters.

"We found a large number of women away from home," said Mrs. Rhodus at night, "but we were greeted in a more kindly manner than we were during our first canvass. No one thought we were book agents, although several declared they were not particularly enthusiastic about voting.

"Our aim in each instance was to converse with each woman we met and get her views about the ballot, to instruct where we could, and to learn just how many women are going to vote at the next election. The work of the party will be to list those voters and to plan for concerted action in civic reforms at elections. The women are going to vote in much greater numbers than is usually suspected by the men, and their vote will be effective for good."

School Trustees Visit Buffalo.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools; Mrs. John MacMahon and Harry A. Lipsky, trustees of the board of education, and Dr. Daniel P. MacMillan, director of child study, will leave this evening for Buffalo to attend the international congress of school sanitation and sex hygiene. The congress begins its sessions on Monday morning. The Chicago delegation will gather ideas on the subject of sex hygiene, to be taught in Chicago high schools beginning next month.

How to Fight Cost of Living

Buys Cheaper Cuts of Meat.

On a salary of $100 a month my husband and I live comfortably and manage to save from $20 to $25 each month. We pay $30 for a beautiful four room apartment. This might seem extravagant in proportion to income, but when we consider the comfort and pleasure we get out of our pretty home we think the money well spent. I allow $1 a day for my table and buy the best of everything, only not the most expensive cuts of meat. I consider a pot roast, nicely cooked with grated carrot and onion (which makes fine gravy and does for two meals) just as good as an expensive rib roast. I do all my own laundry work, except the sheets and heavy pieces, which I send to an excellent laundry and pay on an average of 25 cents every two weeks. This, with my milk, gas, and electric light bills, I get out of my $1 a day, not using that amount every day. My husband's expenses are $10 a month, and using $5 for insurance we still have $25 for a rainy day or other incidental expenses. I know the policy of saving, for we have just passed through a siege of two operations in the hospital and found that the ready cash was very essential. We were able to meet all obligations and owe no one. I save first and then buy. I have a horror of collectors and never buy on time. I reduce my milk bills to one-half of what they used to be by using condensed milk. I have a very appreciative and careful husband who lets me do the managing and we have a comfortable, happy home. MRS. W.

Make Own Coffee and Soap.

We effect quite a saving by making our own coffee and toilet soap after the following recipes:

For the coffee we take two quarts of wheat bran, one-half cup of whole wheat flour, three tablespoons of molasses and one of butter. Mix thoroughly and brown evenly. Then add one pound of rye after it has been roasted and ground, and you will have an excellent drink at a little cost.

We make a fine toilet soap by boiling oatmeal to a thick jelly mixed with a good castile soap. The soap is shaved thin and made into a stiff paste by adding a little water. The proportion is two parts of the soap to one of the jelly; then add one teaspoon of peroxide of hydrogen to every pint of the mixture. Stir all together thoroughly, while warm, and cut in cakes the desired size when cold. Perfume can be added if one wishes.

MRS. J. A. FOGLESANG,
5536 South Campbell avenue.

Chicken Pie Economical.

We find the greatest item in keeping down the high cost of living is in buying and cooking meat. We eat a great many chickens, and besides being the most nutritious meat it is very economical when made into chicken pies.

Buy chicken about 2 years old and cook until tender; they will require no butter to make plenty of gravy. Make crust a flaky biscuit dough and cut in biscuit shape. The biscuit is so delicately flavored with the chicken that a biscuit with one piece of meat will go as far as two helpings of meat. One can have a reliable farmer bring them one or two chickens a week or they can be raised with profit and pleasure in a small city lot, the pullets furnishing eggs and any surplus can be sold for fancy prices. Many a neighbor will wait for an egg to be laid to take to a convalescing daughter. There is no end of amusement for the children watching the chickens come out of the shell and the mother hen teaching them to eat.

The cockerels in the fall are nearly equal to turkey, roasted, and the stuffing made of pieces of dried bread seasoned with sage is relished as much as the meat, as it has the flavor from the chicken. When pieces of bread that are worth but little can be served to save meat and no one realizes you are trying to save, then economy is a pleasure.

MRS. NEIL MCLEAN, R. 4, Elkhorn, Wis.

Buys in Bulk.

My family is large and two lunches have to be prepared daily. This requires extra bread, some of which I make, but I frequently purchase a loaf of rye or part rye. This is much healthier than the white bread, and I think it is cheaper than I can make it. I also buy cup cakes, doughnuts and some coffee cake. When the gas, the material, and time is taken into consideration, it is better to buy these at the bakery. Dainty cup cakes may be purchased for 1 cent a piece and I cannot possibly make them for less. I do not purchase the groceries in large quantities, but at the beginning of each week I give an order to a large wholesale and retail grocery store for all the supplies I will need for a week. It is my practice to purchase in bulk whatever is possible. In this way avoid paying several cents on a package. For instance, instead of buying a glass jar containing a half pound of peanut butter for 15 cents, I buy a pound in bulk for which I pay 15 cents. I have used peanut butter very largely this winter in place of butter. It is very nice for sandwiches and is so much cheaper than butter. A half pound can of cocoa costs 25 cents, but I can buy good cocoa in bulk for 20 cents a pound. Almost everything can be bought in bulk as well as in package, which I find is much more expensive. I have used a good deal of dried fruit, such as apricots and peaches, and always have cucumber pickles during the winter. These I "salt down" in the fall and then freshen and pickle them whenever I want them during the winter. They are much nicer and fresher than the pickles bought all ready prepared. Likewise, they cost but little if purchased in a lot of 100.

MRS. W. E. NEWMAN,

Look After Nickels and Dimes.

Our average earnings are $75 per month. There are six in our family, four growing children besides ourselves. We have almost paid for our home and are sending the oldest to high school. We always buy in large quantities. I never buy bakery goods. One loaf of good home made bread is equal to three baker's loaves in my home. We do not have much meat, using beans, oat meal, cereals, and fruit as substitutes. We save one-half of our gas bills with a fireless cooker. The oat meal or cereal I cook ten minutes and put in the cookerette for the night; also beans, prunes, etc. My husband buys the best soles and heels of shoes and puts them on himself. They last twice as long as those mended in the stores. My theory is to look after the nickels and dimes and the dollars take care of themselves.

Hammerstein Charges Grand Opera "Trust."

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Oscar Hammerstein's answer to the Metropolitan Opera company's injunction suit to restrain him from giving grand opera in English this fall was served on the plaintiff's attorneys this afternoon five minutes before the time for serving the answer had expired. It is drawn by former District Attorney Henry A. Wise, and alleges that the Metropolitan Opera company "is an unlawful combination in restraint of trade and commerce."

Mr. Hammerstein also alleges that the plaintiff's "wicked and unlawful" acts to drive him out of the opera producing business made him a mental and physical wreck in 1910, when he sold out to the Metropolitan and agreed not to produce opera here for ten years, and that he was not responsible for his acts when he signed the agreement to keep out of opera.

He says further that his son, Arthur, as his attorney in fact, signed the agreement that he was to keep out of opera when he understood that he was to have an interest in the merger of the Manhattan and Metropolitan Opera companies. He says his love for his son prevented him from repudiating the latter's acts.

Mr. Hammerstein's answer denies all the allegations of the Metropolitan's complaint except that he admits that prior to 1910 he had "acquired skill, experience, and knowledge in the production of Grand opera," and he also admits that the opera-going public is only a small part of the general public. He admits that Edward T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia paid $1,200,000 for the Philadelphia Opera house, but says he received all the money and denies that his son Arthur got anything.

Hammerstein says that since the season of 1910-11 the plaintiff, "having by unlawful practices succeeded in driving the defendant out of his business in New York, has raised the price of orchestra tickets to $6, and now feeling secure in this monopoly of said the trade and commerce, has publicly announced that after the season of 1913-14 the charge will be $7."

Hammerstein says finally that by "increasing its charge the plaintiff is guilty of a fraud on the public."

Great Crowds Open Winona Conference.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

WINONA LAKE, Ind., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—The preaching of Dr. Campbell Morgan of London and the singing of Gypsy Smith, the English evangelist, stirred 4,000 persons this evening at the opening of Winona Bible conference.

Complications over Mexico, which kept Secretary of State Bryan in Washington, the wreck on the Pennsylvania railroad near Pittsburgh, which delayed the arrival of Gypsy Smith by several hours, and the eager demands of the Wilmington (Pa.) missionary conference to keep the Rev. Dan Crawford of Africa one more day, had caused anxiety and compelled a rearrangement of the day's program.

This is the largest attendance on the opening day of the Bible conference for several years. Dr. S. C. Dickey, the director, said he predicted the most successful conference ever held.

Dr. Morgan spoke on the incident in the gospel of Luke of the woman who was healed by touching the garment of Christ.

"This," Dr. Morgan said, "is the story of Christ's relation to the crowd. The Bible never insults men by calling any of them the lower classes; Jesus sees the men through rags and purple. Find me a church in which there are class distinctions and Christ is not there."

At the conclusion of Dr. Morgan's sermon Gypsy Smith arose and raised his hand in warning as the audience broke out into enthusiastic clapping, and sang "Somebody Knows."

The plans of the conference are to give special emphasis on evangelism. The Rev. W. B. Hinson, pastor of the First Baptist church, known as the White Temple, Portland, Ore., preached the morning sermon on the subject, "The Face of Christ."

"Inhale the ozone off the sea and look at the glint of the flowers on the hills, is what theosophy says to a soul distressed," he said. "Why, this wouldn't cure a jumping toothache or an ingrowing toenail. There is only one help for a soul distressed, and that is the cross of Christ."

"Slumming is the result of a morbid curiosity," said Melvin E. Trotter, superintendent of a series of rescue missions, who spoke twice during the day.

"It does no good to the people low down, and it breeds evil thoughts in those who visit the vile resorts. It is not the bum saloon that start young men to ruin, but well dressed men who drink at mahogany bars. Young women from respectable homes are insulted if men speak to them on the street, but I think it unfair for girls to dress so as to inflame the passions of men and then resent the consequences of their acts. If they don't want to be spoken to don't let them hang a sign out."

"This is woman's day," said Mrs. Booth Clibborn, who addressed a meeting of women in Raikes hall and also spoke in the main auditorium.

"Women are far better treated in America than they are in Europe," she continued. "The most beautiful experience in the world is to be in love, but flirting I hold in contempt. The best lovers are the best fighters. Purity is the most effective power in overcoming impurity.

"I have taken my pure girls into the cafés of Paris, and without saying a word, except as expressed in song, have seen the most dissolute quieted and reformed."

Mayor Permits "Flower Day."

Panama Fortifications Called Unnecessary.

"THE fortification of the Panama canal, upon which the United States is expending millions of dollars, are entirely unnecessary, as far as providing adequate protection for the canal," said Prof. J. H. Latane of Washington and Lee university in his lecture on "The International Status of the Panama Canal" at the University of Chicago yesterday.

"It is my belief that were the canal zone neutralized by an international agreement the canal would be far safer than under the protection of our immense siege guns that are being placed there," he said.

"The Panama canal, when it is fortified, as planned, will be a legitimate object of attack by any hostile fleet with whom we are at war. Should any part of the locks which we have installed at immense expense be damaged, the United States would be clearly unable to collect any indemnity at the end of the war, for the canal would be recognized as a fortified naval base of attack. But should the canal be protected by an international agreement of neutrality any damages which might be inflicted by the guns of an opposing fleet would be promptly indemnified at the close of the war.

"According to present indications in time of war the navy department plans to keep a fleet composed of the majority of our 'dreadnaughts' in the canal. Thus they intend to have a fleet able to creep out into the Pacific and destroy a threatening hostile fleet, and then steam back through the canal and oppose another fleet, should one appear. At present, however, there is no nation whose strength is sufficient to present two separate fleets of sufficient strength to oppose the combined strength of the United States navy.

"Should Japan and Great Britain combine against us the Japanese fleet might attack San Francisco and the British fleet besiege New York, and then what good would our fleet, although safe in the Panama canal, do us?"

Light Poll on Woodmen Rates.

Rock Island, Ill., Aug. 22.—Count of the advisory vote of the membership of the Modern Woodmen of America, taken as a result of the opposition to the increase in rates, ordered by the Chicago convention, was completed today at the head office in this city. It shows that out of a total membership of 900,000 only 48,782 expressed their views. The vote was as follows:

For old plan, under which the society is now operating, 26,085.
For an increase, 10,733.
For Chicago plan rates, 6,613.
For National Fraternal Congress rates, 357.
For step rate plan, 293.

Drainage Congress Indorses Bill.

Delegates from nearly every state in the union are in attendance. The report of the subcommittee appointed to draft a model bill was accepted without debate. The bill was referred to a subcommittee in Washington, which will bring the bill before congress.

Would McWeeny Marry? Never!

Chief of Police McWeeny has not matrimonial aspirations, he declared yesterday, when asked concerning the truth of a rumor of his marriage the night before.

"Get married? For the ten thousandth time, no," he said. "I want it understood for once and for all that I am not married and do not contemplate such a step."

The chief is a widower. The report of his second marriage started more than a year ago. So persistent were the rumors that several times he made statements denying them.

Don't Put It Off Longer Be a Home Worker Now.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

TOMORROW!

Isn't it wonderful how much hope there is in that one little word? No matter how dark things may seem today, tomorrow they may be rosy and bright.

But there's not much hope in it when you say, "O, tomorrow will do," is there? If you put off doing something until tomorrow you can't be filled with the hope of success until the day after tomorrow, because you can't begin to dream about your success until you have started to work for it, can you?

That's the reason that I want every one of you who has put off being a home worker to begin tomorrow to be one. Then you can dream about your success and achieve it, and the tomorrow will hold many, many joys for you. But if you put off starting, before you know it the "tomorrows" have stretched out into weeks and months, and you never do get at your work.

Wouldn't you like to read this letter from an energetic little home worker? It will fill you full of the determination to begin right away, I'm sure.

"When I sent off my little advertisement and my samples to you two weeks ago I counted up the exact number of days that it would take for my work to begin to bring returns, and then I kept saying to myself, when I'd grow restive at the idea that it would take three days: 'Three days are only three tomorrows, and the day after that will be the real tomorrow, and then I can begin to think of all the possibilities of success that may come to me.'

"I knew that it would be a little foolish to expect a great really success right away, because things don't happen that way very often. Can you imagine how overjoyed I was, then, when a letter came with an order for two of my little sewing aprons? I want to thank you for being so very kind to me, and for thinking that they are pretty. I think, myself, that they're not as foolish as some sewing aprons are. I've always said when I made fancy work that things that weren't useful in every inch of their being weren't beautiful. I mean that a sewing apron that is only an ornament and that doesn't protect your dress and hold scraps and scissors and thread, and all of the little things that you have to have when you're sewing, isn't really a sewing apron at all, and oughtn't to be called that. I don't know how you feel about fancy work, but I just can't help telling you what I think. Somehow, I feel that you don't care whether our ideas agree with yours or not, you're always glad to have us tell you things."

Yes, indeed, I always am. There is more to the letter, but it's personal, and I don't think that the writer would want to have all of you read all of the nice things that she says about me. Anyway, it would embarass me dreadfully. I do appreciate so much, though, all of the kind feeling that you have for me and for the department. It's your department, you know, and no amount of thinking that it's mine can make it so. Every bit of the success belongs to you.

I'm proud of all of you, very, very proud. And I know that all of you are having the joy of looking forward to tomorrow and its possibilities of success. That is, almost all of you. Some of you haven't started feeling that happiness. Why haven't you?

Don't all of you who know how much real joy and happiness there is in home work want every one else to know that joy and happiness? I know that you do, and that's why I want all of you who don't know it to let the old home workers tell you about it. A hundred of them will tell you all about it if you'll let them. Will you? Then put your name on a post card and send it to me, and I'll see that they tell you how they have succeeded. They do it in a little booklet that I'll send to you with my very best compliments and the most sincere good wishes that it will help you to look forward to tomorrow.

Recaning Chairs.

An acquaintance of mine makes a great deal of money by recaning seats and backs in chairs. The cane can be bought very cheap, and the task of putting it in is easy and simply and quickly done. For an ordinary size chair bottom the charges are $1.25, which makes this work very remunerative. Any one can do it by having a cane chair to look at for the first time. No other instruction is necessary. This friend of mine has recaned dozens of chairs. Even the banks bring their chairs for recaning.

Booking Picture Plays.

A friend of mine makes $12 a week for three hours each day in the employ of a nickel theater. Her duty is to visit two of the best downtown nickel shows every day (one in the evening and one in the afternoon, as she desires). She is to watch the production carefully, and when a good picture is displayed, one that she thinks will suit the requirements of the theater she represents, she takes down the title in a little book; also the name of the film company who releases it. Out of the two shows that she attends she usually selects about four pictures. She then goes to the film companies the next morning and "books" them for a certain date. The work is easy, pleasant, and profitable, and can be done without any break in her own household management.

EDNA SELLECK,

Teaching Swimming.

A friend of mine has succeeded in earning some extra money while living at his summer home, near a large summer resort, by giving swimming lessons. He charges only $1.50 for his complete instructions, and invariably teaches his pupils in such a short space of time that many go to him for lessons.

SHIRLAY BROWN, 4448 Vincennes avenue.

Sharpening Knives.

A friend purchased a cutlery grinder some time ago for $8. Since then she has kept all her own knives and scissors sharp and made quite a sum sharpening those of her neighbors and acquaintances. She charges 10 cents for each article, or three for a quarter. It takes but a few minutes to put a fine edge on knife or scissors.

MRS. C. JONES, 3345 Park avenue.

Covers for Furniture.

A profitable home employment is the making of covers for furniture. The pretty flowery ones are used during the hot months to give the house a cool, clean appearance, or the plain, dark ones to cover the furniture to protect it when closing the house up for a long period. They are simply made. All that is necessary is to be sure and get the correct measurements of the furniture, so that each cover will fit perfectly. The material can be purchased by the bolt very reasonably, and the price of a completed cover is governed by the quality of material used.

ALICE GUNTHER, 3330 Belden avenue.

Hemming Tablecloths.

Every year and sometimes twice a year the supply of table linens is replenished, and I know a woman who supports herself hemming tablecloths and napkins. Most people consider this a tedious job and are glad to get some one to do it for them. The woman hems, by hand, tablecloths for 50 cents or 75 cents, according to size, and napkins for 75c to $1.50 a dozen, according to size. Working in spare time she can easily hem two or three tablecloths a day, or a dozen napkins.

PORTLAND MAYOR ASKED TO CHOOSE WOMAN'S GOWNS.

Reply to Satirical X-Ray Argument Declares Skirt Was Barred as Protection to Sex.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 22.—Replying to a letter from a young woman who requested that he help her choose her fall gowns to insure against purchasing any that would violate his X-ray prescription, Mayor Albee today issued an open defense of his order to the police to arrest all wearers of immodest gowns.

In his statement he declared he has barred the dress from the street because women of the underworld have adopted them "to get new recruits.

"I wish to assure the public," the mayor says, "and especially the good women of the city, that my action was taken purely for the purpose of protecting the innocent. The matter had gone so far that young boys and men would congregate on the street and make obscene remarks about dresses worn by some of the women passing."

Economical Housekeeping.

By Jane Eddington.

Dr. A.'s Batter Pudding.

DR. A. young son said: "Isn't it funny that my mother always says, 'O, if that recipe has four eggs use that'?" The young son was visiting in a home where most of the large family of children were under his mother's care, for no other reason than that they were undernourished. It was a home in which the mother was proud of saving many cents in making cakes and puddings by using egg powders and milk substitutes, little realizing that the albumen needed for the strengthening of little muscles was just the thing she was eliminating from her children's diet when she eliminated the albumen of fresh eggs and milk.

"Can't you write something about these false economies?" the doctor asked. "Isn't it a shame that the child is betrayed by the cakes and puddings which are means of making the eggs and milk most attractive to him?" Then the doctor added: "I think children ought to be given more things like good batter puddings with egg sauces."

In speaking thus the doctor was speaking against her own interests. She would have little or no business in the family where the milk and egg powders are used if the children were not undernourished.

The saddest thing about not giving children foods that nourish, instead of merely fill, is not only that they will have small illnesses now, but, so underfed, they cannot lay up those stores of energy which they so sorely need for a life of effective activity and freedom from pain.

To one interested in what food can do in the way of both harm and good there hardly passes a day when some incident does not come up to show how much we need to learn and how many dozens of objections we put forward for not learning. Who ought to begrudge some weeks or months or even a few years out of a whole lifetime spent in learning how to eat right and so how to be well? Barring accident, nothing can harm a man who has fairly good air to breathe and the privileges of daily bath except the food he eats.

We so surely misunderstand this question of proper nourishment, because our wonderful bodies will make every shift, will make adaptation after adaptation, one organ taking up the work of another, to unfavorable conditions, overworking forces that are bound to give out in time, until every spark of native energy, every bit of vitality in the last few drops of pure blood is used up.

There is but one real story of life, and that is a story people do not like to listen to; they wholly misinterpret its many and frightful tragedies. Yet there are people who can tell it so well that the description is as fine as that of a sunset. It is the story of the alimentary canal, whence all our health and all our miseries.

As to egg powders, one may not condemn them without investigation. The most of us never use them, for we know that the ounces of energy that must be taken out of them in the manufacture is worth more to us, far more, than the money saved.

What we have heard about them makes us extremely skeptical. They have their place in frozen zones, but it is generally understood that they are not made of fresh, well flavored eggs. Eggs in the shell deteriorate rapidly in this respect, and, taken when they have so deteriorated for the powder making, they gain nothing by dessication. Some leavening agent is probably added to them in most cases, and this certainly has no food value.

The egg story is such a long one that one hesitates to try to say anything about it in a short space. "Eggs and Their Uses as Food," farmers' bulletin No. 128 (perhaps there is a later publication), is to be had free, and its forty pages are thoroughly worth perusing more than once. It contains no recipes.

The following is the doctor's recipe, for which she uses both fresh and dried fruits, blackberries, cherries, peaches, blueberries, dried apricots, peaches, etc.

BATTER PUDDING.—Four eggs, three cups and three-fourths of flour, one pint of milk, one-half a teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of melted butter, two heaping teaspoons of baking powder, one pint to one quart of fresh fruit or one-half a pound of dried fruit. If dried fruits are used they should first be stewed and allowed to cool before being used in the pudding, the juice being first drained away. Beat the whites and yolks of eggs separately, add the milk, then flour, and beat together, the flour and salt sifted together, the melted butter, and last the baking powder. Dredge the fruit with flour, add to the pudding, and pour into a greased pudding mold. Cover tightly, put in boiling water, and boil continuously for three or four hours. When the water boils away always replenish with boiling water. Serve with hard sauce or cream and sugar.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand.

Canned Green Sweet Peppers.

CUT the blossom ends from fine sweet peppers and carefully extract the seeds, using a small silver knife or a stick, to avoid touching the seeds with your fingers. Precautions must be taken to draw out the seeds without letting them come in contact with the sides of the peppers. The pungency of the peppers lies, in great part, in the seeds. Throw them away, slice the peppers into rounds half an inch thick, and lay them in scalding water for ten minutes. Drain and put them, without breaking the slices, into a pot of boiling water slightly salted. Cover the pot and simmer for ten minutes after the boil begins. Have jars, covers, and rubbers ready, lift the sliced peppers gently and pack into the jars. Fill with the boiling water from the kettle and fit on the covers. I have heard of canning peppers whole, but I never have seen it done.

Canned Pumpkin.

Peel the pumpkin, take out the seeds, and cut it into cubes half an inch square. Make a sirup of a scant cup of sugar to a quart of water; bring to a fast boil and take off the scum. Put in the pumpkin cubes and cook tender, but not until they break. When a straw will pierce them easily they are ready to be canned. Have the cans ready in a pan of boiling water. Take up the pumpkin with a perforated or a split spoon and fill the jars. Pour in the sirup boiling hot from the kettle until the jars are brimming full and seal at once. You may season with cloves or cinnamon if you like, while in cooking or when the jars are opened for piemaking. Then flavor to taste.

Helping a Small Boy.

"Some time ago I wrote you for particulars, etc., concerning a mother's appeal in behalf of a wee son. I received a letter from her. Today I mailed her some pictures and a letter. She lacks self-esteem more than anything else, I fancy, but I trust the pictures will help her wee son's education. Later I shall be able to send her some books of stories suitable for a child of 4 years. Thank you for giving me her name, as I enjoy this opportunity of helping. I have a rug and some odd table linen which may be made into towels. Being of Scotch descent, I should like to send them to the 'worthy Scotch family' mentioned in the Corner. Then, too, I am an exile from my dear southland, and know what it is to suffer from rheumatism. Twice I have spent six months periods unable to help myself at all. To avoid a mistake, I inclose the clipping, and hope you are not too busy to send me an early reply. Mrs. E. H."

The address went to you by mail with our thanks for your interest in our beloved charges. Your letter is redolent of the genius of the "dear southland." (Heaven bless it forever!) We enroll you proudly among our true yokefellows.

Acknowledging Receipt of Cards.

"When you forwarded to me the offers of kind women to send English post cards you said, 'Kindly acknowledge these offers.' I wrote to both women, and received a package from one at once; from the other, a similar gift a few days ago. I acknowledged the receipt of both packages to the donors, of course, and now report to you. Does that cover your request, 'Kindly acknowledge'? I am not quite clear in my mind as to your meaning. I certainly thank the Corner for the pleasure I have had in the cards which have reached me through it. It is a true clearing house of cheer and kindly deeds. Mrs. W. A. P."

You have grasped my meaning perfectly. I wished that you should let the donors of the cards know they had not miscarried. I likewise desired to be assured that you were supplied with what you asked for, that we might not continue to send your address to others. Have you all the cards you want? Let us know when to withdraw your name from the list headed "Wanted."

Busy Distributing Gifts.

"Thank you for the addresses received. I sent at once the linen desired to Mrs. C. M. and to Mrs. W. M., and today I am sending a small box of beads to Mrs. C. L. Katherine M. H."

Well done, good and faithful colleague! You waste no time in talking of what you have accomplished. As one might put it, the left hand is not wearied by much patting of the right in recognition of duty performed by its fellow. Your report is a model for conciseness and comprehensiveness.

Thanks for Kindness Shown.

"I received the cards and letters, but I just can't answer them all! I haven't the time if I had the material and stamps, which I haven't, to acknowledged all the 'no stamp' letters offering me hair ribbons for my little daughters. I am grateful for the thought and appreciate much all the kindness shown to me. "Anna G."

In consideration of the pressure upon your time and strength, I for this once take it upon myself to thank the blessed ones who have responded to your appeal. I only hope they will see and comprehend the vicarious acknowledgment.

Offers Abdominal Supporter.

"If the correspondent of whom you speak has not received the abdominal supporter she needs, I have one that I shall be glad to send to her. It belonged to my dear mother, and I want it to benefit some one in need of it. I read your Corner every day, but this is the first time I have had anything to give away. "Mrs. W. J. H."

The person who wrote for the supporter had it some time ago. We register your offer gratefully for the benefit of the next person who needs it. It is the more valuable from association with the beloved one who has gone to the land whose inhabitants never say, "I am sick."

Embroidery Floss Scraps.

"I have a small box of embroidery floss scraps which I think might help some one. Will you please send me the address of one who can use them? Miss H. D."

"Some one" will be written in the plural in the letter which will report your empty hands. Your heart will be the fuller by then.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

By Lillian Russell

Is Beauty a Disadvantage?

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.]

BEAUTY is a gift that should be appreciated and respected, and the woman who possesses it holds a power for good beyond all her less fortunate sisters. To be sure, the possession of beauty is compared with the possession of great wealth. It is hard to discriminate when discovering who are your friends.

From the days of extreme youth when little to the grown up days when beauty is sought as much for its influence upon others as for the pleasure it gives—beauty has been a target—and the great comfort derived from the possession of beauty is measured by the capacity one has for forgetting it.

To constantly be conscious that you are beautiful to look upon would dwarf any other consciousness and would in time make an idiot of a normally minded person.

There is no real beauty without intellect, for a face devoid of serious thought is nothing less than dough.

To be sure, temptations are greater for beautiful women than for plain women. Therefore, their goodness should be greater—and all women are good according to the amount of godliness they possess.

Kindness of heart and generosity of thought will beautify any face however plain, so no woman need be ugly. Beautiful features certainly have an advantage over plain or irregular features, but even the beautiful features can grow distorted and ugly by hardness of heart, temper, and intemperance. One beauty bewails the fact that beautiful women are criticised more severely than others. That is quite true, but they are better able to stand the criticism, and, after all, we must remember there is the law of compensation.

Beauty must pay the penalty of its pulchritude—so things are evened up. All women have the same chance in this world, for all women have minds. It is the development of the mind that opens all roads to women.

A woman at 70 can be as beautiful as she was at 20, but in a grander way, as the love of humanity grows and drives out all selfishness.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

HELEN: Poor circulation is not always the cause of clogged pores. They also become clogged from neglect. To keep the pores of the face clean one should wash the face thoroughly each night before retiring. First cleanse it with a good cold cream, allowing the cream to remain on the face for about ten minutes, then take what is left off with a soft cloth. Wash the face in warm water, not hot, plenty of soap, and complexion brush is better than a wash cloth. Rinse the face first with warm water, then cold, using the cold last. The cold water will make the flesh firm and close the pores. If you will send me stamped addressed envelope I shall be happy to send you the formulas for an excellent cleansing cream and astringent lotion for closing the pores.

JENNIE: As a matter of fact, there is not the general bolting of food at noontime that there is supposed to be. People eat too rapidly it is true, for that is an American habit, but not always at luncheon. But at breakfast people eat too rapidly, or do not eat at all; and the practice is not due to habit, but to the requirements of time. This is particularly true of the girl or woman who works. She sleeps until the last minute, probably because she has shortened her hours of rest by attending a theater or making a social call the night before. She does not permit herself sufficient time to attend to her morning duties, and the necessity of haste in the morning carries more penalties than are apparent at first thought.

B. C.: Almond meal is good to use in place of soap. You can get it at any drug store. Put a little of it into small cheesecloth bags and wash the face with these instead of soap. This is an excellent cleanser and leaves the face smooth and white. I shall send you a formula for an astringent lotion for an oily complexion and formula for moth bags, if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

M. G.: Glasses should be worn as near the eye as possible. When an inch or more from the eye they are not only unbecoming but are a strain, as the lenses are rarely made for focusing at that distance.

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice

By Laura Jean Libbey

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

THERE are few widows with a family of grown daughters, sweet and marriageable, who would frown upon the calls of a bachelor who was polite, agreeable, of excellent family connection, and possessed of ample fortune, even though her brother tersely and ironically declared that it was time lost for a girl to think he could be caught in the matrimonial web. There is a time in every bachelor's life when he is unbaitable, or, in other words, disinclined toward matrimony.

It is a courtesy, which many bachelors may not deserve, to attribute this state of apparent loneliness to the fact that they have not met the one noble woman to awaken the thoughts of marriage in their hearts. It is generally the man who has been supposed to be the hardest to suit who has been the most easily suited. He sought the companionship of those who were bent upon merely having a good time, but who would have balked at the thought of tying themselves down to any one man. This bond of friendship and companionship usually lasts over a long term of years—the best years of his life. He is contented with the life. Where a man finds happiness he is loath to make a change. Thus runs his world away. This is the reason that he is unbaitable.

The mother who would encourage some of the rich bachelors to call would better encourage the poor but ambitious young man whose heart is ripe for love and marriage.

The intention of the daughter, who naturally turns to youth and love as the sunflower turns to the sun, is wiser usually in this respect than that of the mother, who would see her well settled in life with the elderly man whom she imagines would give her the happiest future. Here there are two widely diverging points of view. The girl is probably the young man's only love. He has no other imagination or picture. He only knows of the joy shared by her. She has no rival; her rights there are none to dispute. She shares his every thought.

If a pretty and young girl should cross the path of a bachelor and in a thoughtless moment he yielded to the lure of matrimony, she has not a heart full of new material to mold as she will. Many a young bride has found the aged heart a graveyard of old loves, whose wraiths will not be laid. She may find that she has more to contend with than she bargained for. He has been surfeited with pleasures; she longs to go hither and thither, in the midst of brilliant throngs. As he grows older the blood flows slower and colder in his veins. He would rather his wife was a good nurse than the most beautiful woman of their social set; that she be able to compound his favorite nightcap or cordial than to be able to execute the most difficult compositions of the great music masters. Indeed, when some bachelors marry it is said to be with the thought of securing a good, strong nurse to care for them instead of a heartmate. The latter is of least consideration.

A young man who wishes to go to the altar early in life is influenced by his heart and its yearnings, in which selfishness or old fascinations hold no place. Mothers seem to forget that in their young days they sought out as companions the young men of their own age, and left the bachelors for their spinster aunts and the widows. A bachelor has his own ideas regarding matrimony. Each knows a score of young women who might encourage his matrimonial advances. If a bachelor persistently insists upon being let alone it should be considered that he does not want to change his way of living.

He's Queer, Isn't He?

"Dear Miss Libbey: While on my vacation this summer I met a young man who was also visiting the same town. There was not anything to speak of going on in the town, as it was a country like place, but still he gave me all the good times any one could wish for in such a town. We never went out alone but what we had a chaperon. The last time we saw each other he promised faithfully to write me regularly. Since he has been writing he signs his last name different than the name he gave me when we met. He often said things that he did not mean, as a joke, but I have not taken this matter as a joke, and cannot understand why he has changed his name. I have not heard from him for over five weeks now. He must go by this name he gives me now, for I know he has received my letters. Will you kindly tell me whether to write again or drop him, and have nothing more to do with him? This is the first young man I have ever thought much about.

A young man who goes about under an assumed name is certainly not a desirable acquaintance! I think the fellow is very queer, and I would advise you to have nothing further to do with him.

"Boys Are Fresh."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I would like to ask your advice. There is a boys' school in our town and I am quite friendly with some of the boys. These boys are often rather fresh, but when I object to their familiarities they tell me not to be silly and then they get mad and say I'm no sport. What shall I do? Stop them and thus lose their friendship or allow these familiarities (which are not really bad but merely silly and undignified) to go on? S."

Their friendship is certainly not very desirable if you must permit such familiarities to retain it. Have nothing to do with the boys. The good fellow type of girl rarely ever wins out in spite of the fact that boys sometimes say they like a girl to be a good fellow.

DISTURBER NAMED AS AMERICAN BOAT IN ENGLISH RACES

FIRST CONTEST ON SEPT. 10

GLENN MARTIN SETS NEW AIR MARK

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

At a meeting of the selective committee of the Motor Boat club of America at the Blackstone hotel last night James A. Pugh's Chicago hydroplane, Disturber III., was chosen as one of the three American boats to go to England for the Harmsworth international cup races that begin Sept. 10. The committee went still further in honoring local power boat men, for its members pledged themselves to bring the 1912 Harmsworth trophy races to Chicago next summer in case Disturber III. succeeded in winning the cup.

Disturber III. is to compete in today's final race for the Wrigley trophy and the American championship, and immediately following the finish of the contest the giant 650 horse power hydroplane will be taken from the water and prepared for shipment to England. The Pugh craft will leave Chicago on Monday, and will be transferred to the steamship Minnetonka that sails for Europe Aug. 30.

Upon arrival in Liverpool a special train will be waiting to hurry the Chicago craft to London where it will arrive Sept. 8, just in time to tune up for the big race. All details were arranged by Mr. Pugh and the selective committee last night.

Ankle Deep Also Selected.

Those on the committee representing the Motor Boat Club of America, which is national in its scope, are Commodore H. H. Melville, Joseph H. Hoadley, a member of the international regatta committee; Henry R. Sutphen and Ira Hand, members of the board of governors. Several weeks ago they selected Count Casimir S. Mankowski's Ankle Deep of the M. B. C. of A. as one of the Harmsworth challengers.

Two more boats then remained to be placed on the American team, and the committee came to Chicago for the speed boat races, in which are entered the fastest boats of the United States. They waited a week, or within forty-eight hours of shipping time, to see a performance that would justify them in naming another challenger. Then, in Thursday's races Disturber III. was seen in action, and its showing was such a great one that the committee at once began negotiations to have it entered for the Harmsworth cup, possession of which means the world's championship for successful boat.

Races Create Little Interest.

That handicap racing between speed boats is far from being the real thing was demonstrated in yesterday's hydroplane contests, run in connection with the water carnival being held off Grant park.

H. H. Timken's Kitty Hawk Jr. of Canton, O., and Adam F. Weckler's Barnacle of Chicago were the winners of the three races run, the Timken craft taking two of the contests. Only four boats appeared in the races, owners of the others evidently not caring to take any chances with the Wrigley cup finals coming so soon.

The real sensation of the afternoon was furnished by Glenn L. Martin, who decided that the day was a good one for record breaking. Martin cut all sorts of didoes in the air and at last wound up by carrying three passengers with him. The feat constituted a new world's passenger carrying record for hydroaeroplanes, as Martin kept his load in the air for sixteen minutes and ten seconds. The former record was held by Tony Jannus last year when he ascended with three passengers and kept them in the air for three minutes.

Three Women on Airyacht.

Martin's passengers were Misses Marguerite Van Behren, Nina Albertstein, and Tina Broadwick and the total weight of the four was 650 pounds. The aviator started from the foot of Peck place, passed the grandstand, and went to the north end of the harbor, after which he took his machine far out over the lake, later on returning for another circuit of the harbor.

Kitty Hawk Jr. and Van Blerck were the only two boats to come out for the first handicap event, which was for ten miles. Van Blerck's time allowance was twenty-six seconds, but if the race had gone through to the finish it would not have needed any handicap, for the coast boat not only kept the lead over the Timken craft for five laps but gained a trifle on each round. With less than a lap to go Van Blerck broke down and allowed Kitty Hawk V. to breeze around for a hollow victory. The time was 17:24.

Barnacle and Hydro Bullet came out for the second event, but both of the boats were running badly, and therefore furnished a poor exhibition. Barnacle had an allowance of two and one-half seconds over its rival. The local boat, away to a good start, gained on the Dakin craft at every lap, and soon led by one and one-half laps. Then Barnacle went dead on the backstretch, and it was not long before Hydro Bullet made up its lost distance. The Bullet had taken a lead of 200 yards when Barnacle again got started and resumed the race. The Weckler craft then ran well and not only overhauled Hydro Bullet but was able to cross the finish line a good mile in the lead. Barnacle's time for the ten miles was 17:25 and that of Hydro Bullet was 20:44 2-5.

Kitty Hawk Jr. Easy Victor.

Running in the third handicap were Kitty Hawk Jr., Van Blerck, Hydro Bullet, and Barnacle. Barnacle was late in starting and did not get over the line until Van Blerck, the limit boat, had made a full lap. The Weckler boat looked to be the fastest of the lot. The race was uninteresting until the fifth lap, when Kitty Hawk Jr. and Van Blerck were on fairly even terms, with the first named craft leading. Kitty Hawk finished an easy winner, with Hydro Bullet a bad third, one and one-quarter laps astern. Barnacle broke down and did not finish.

Oregon Kid came out for several trials, covering the half mile course in :37 2-5, which is equal to about forty-seven miles an hour. The women's yacht race was not sailed, owing to bad weather conditions. The boats, each "manned" by two women, came out ready for the contest, but when Miss Brunnick fell overboard from one of the yachts it was decided that it would be better to postpone the race.

Today's hydroplane race should be the best of the week, as it will bring together five of the fastest boats in the United States. Those eligible for the Wrigley cup final and the title of American boat for all champion are James A. Pugh's 650 horsepower Disturber III. of Chicago; Milton Smith's national thirty-two foot champion, Oregon Kid, of Ranier, Ore.; H. H. Timken's 250 horsepower Kitty Hawk V., of Canton, O.; J. Stuart Blackton's Baby Reliance, of New York, and Adam F. Weckler's 200 horsepower Barnacle, of Chicago. The race, which will be run for a distance of thirty miles, will start at 3:30 p. m.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

HELP.

Joe, Ed, Commy, and the Wake were talking it over. Joe asked what was the hardest part of the job. The Wake told him that it was doping out a verse or two with which to lead off. Whereupon Joe, Commy, and Ed said that they would help, and each dictated as follows:

THE BALL GAME.
By Charles Comiskey.

In the second inning
We were going to take
What the other fellows have.
No fault of the second fellow.
What we have we take.
But one fellow had horribleosis.

HERE WE ARE.
By Joe.

Here we are around the board,
Thinking now and then;
When will we get another think,
Or where or when?
Don't blame this on Schulte,
Because he's not here now,
But if he were here and wouldn't talk,
He wouldn't blame it on a cow.

FOR THE GOOD OF THE GAME.
By Ed.

Rousch may be right, likewise Chappell;
One of the two can hitlikhe

Of the above, we like C. Albert Comiskey's work best and do assure him that we'll publish anything else he may care to write.

After carefully observing the performance of Shortstop Rube Oldring, we still consider him one of the best outfielders the Macks have.

Rube uses not only his hands in fielding ground balls, but also makes his neck, knees, and abdomen work.

Mr. Drew must belong to the Eagles, at whose party he covered 120 yards in :12. At least, there's no doubt that he can fly.

There was a young pitcher named Hopper,
The pride of his mommer and popper.
By the Cards he was bought,
And every one thought:
"My land, the poor boy is stung proper."

Mr. Allison, we beseech you not to get all those triples out of your system before you come here.

Many things might be written about Egg, who broke the one hour bicycle record, but we will let it go with a mere mention of the fact that he appeared fresh at the finish.

Zinn right, too, for he busted a triple and two singles in his first game for the Braves.

Both Benz and Smith fanned Daley and lots of other Sox do it nearly as often.

There's a remarkable thing about Phil Stanton, golf champion of Michigan. He lives in Michigan.

Dr. J. W. Doughty, M. D., L. D. M. C. A. O. T. C., the last part of which means long distance male champion archer of this country.

The umpire who assaulted John Cummins of Keokuk must have thought he had it Cummins.

THAT MYSTERIOUS VERSE.

Sy, who never tells a lie,
Says that, honest, hope to die,
He was not the one who writ it;
If he had he would admit it.

Well, who did, I'd like to know?
Was it Otto, Ray, or Joe?
Ah, a hunch: The guy may be
He who shares this desk with me.

SAM WELLERISMS.

New York, Aug. 21.—[Special.]—Tomorrow will be the final appearance of the Cubs at the Polo grounds this year.

It is thought 35,000 fans will be out to bid the farewell tomorrow.

Manager Tinker of the Reds came across the street from his hotel to the stopping place of the Cubs this morning and fanned with his old mates.

Some of the Cubs will play an exhibition game at Schenectady on Sunday. This game will give some of the bench warmers a chance to get a bit of exercise.

Heine Zim was mad not only at the howling fans but at the umpires and nearly got waved out of the game once for kicking so vociferously on Rigler's calling of balls and strikes.

There were at least 8,000 persons at the Polo grounds in spite of the threatening weather. In the seventh inning it started to rain in a sort of misty way, but passed away in a few minutes.

Young Stewart, our newest outfielder, went to bat for the third time since becoming a big leaguer. He showed great improvement. This time he bounced one to the shortstop. The other two times he fanned.

On the way to Pittsburgh next week the Cubs are booked to stop in Binghamton, N. Y., on Thursday and celebrate Schulte day. A game will be played. According to Frank the folks in the old home town are going to give us a regular barbecue.

EASTERN YACHTSMEN CANCEL ENTRIES FOR CUP RACES HERE.

Local Tars Aroused Over Withdrawal of Three Gotham Boats Named for Manhassett Trophy Contests.

No eastern boats will come to Chicago for the Manhassett cup races, and as a result friendly relations between yachtsmen of Chicago and New York are likely to be severed. The contests are scheduled to begin at the Chicago Yacht club on Sept. 6. Officials of the local organization have heralded far and wide the fact that three boats from the Atlantic coast would be here to struggle against four Chicago representatives. The three eastern yachts were entered several months ago, but yesterday Commodore James O. Heyworth received definite word that the New York men had decided to "renig" on their promises.

Fred A. Price's Michicago, formerly owned by a syndicate of Chicago Yacht club members, raced for the Manhassett cup in the 1912 races held for the trophy on Long Island sound. The local yacht won, and under the deed of gift it was specified that the club to which the winning yacht was attached should defend the trophy the following year. That meant that the eastern boats would be obliged to come to Chicago for the cup this summer. Two syndicates were formed by local men to build racers, and several agreed to part wiht $1,000 each for the purpose of building the defenders. The sum of $20,000 went into Olympian and South Shore, the new boats. The James O. Heyworth syndicate consists of Joy Morton, C. H. Thorne, Harold McCormick, J. Ogden Armour, H. H. Porter Jr., George M. Reynolds, Clark L. Poole, F. A. Hardy, Samuel Insull, and Mr. Heyworth. Names on the W. H. Thompson syndicate include Herbert E. Bycroft, W. C. Thorne, William A. Lydon, E. G. Gold, G. F. Getz, A. G. Cox, Frederick Bode, John R. Thompson, F. C. Austin, and Mr. Thompson.

Last winter Commodore Heyworth made several trips east and was rewarded with the entries of Commodore W. H. Childs' Joyant of the Indian Harbor Yacht club, Addison Hanan's Josephine of the Larchmont Yacht club, and Monk Brothers' Windward of the Manhassett Bay Yacht club. As the time for the opening races approached no word was received from the New Yorkers. Commodore Heyworth wrote several letters and spent considerable money on telegrams, then yesterday he received word that all three eastern owners had decided to stay away from Chicago.

ZIM BREEZES WITH BASES LOADED

CHARLEY HERZOG

All Herzog of the Giants did yesterday to defeat the Cubs was score three runs, drive in two, pole two doubles and a single, and play a sparkling game in the field.

BY SAM WELLER.

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—New York is reaping vengeance these days for the things the Cubs did in the good old days of '06, '07, and '08. The Giants romped away with another easy victory, 8 to 1, and made Evers' boys appear so helpless that one with a heart would feel sorry.

Apparently no one in the grand stand had a heart, for it seemed every person took extreme delight in crowing. The Cubs got their lone in the first inning. After that the Giants tied the count in the second and romped away in the third, never being in danger again.

Larry Cheney was on the slab and for that reason a battle was expected, but the battle only lasted about fifteen minutes. Then Cheney took a beating, retiring after four rounds, when the game seemed hopelessly lost. Big Jim Vaughn took his place, making his debut as a National league athlete, and the Giants caused him much distress, in spite of the fact that the big southpaw seemed to have a lot of stuff.

Tesreau Puzzle After Opener.

For New York Jeff Tesreau was on the slab and was good. Tommy Leach opened the game with a three bagger, and that was the only worry big Jeff had all afternoon. For a few minutes he had to scramble some and he made good, getting out of that hole with only one run counting. He never was in another hole that could cause him any great worry, and he limited the Cubs to five safe blows. His wildness was his only fault. Six times he passed men to first base, but outside of the two he walked at the start, none gave him cause for alarm.

It was a chilly, dark day, just constructed for Tesreau and his speed. The immense hurler never looked faster than he did today, and the Cubs in the semi-darkness couldn't see the ball to hit it effectively. After the fourth round Tesreau was laughing his way along and the frantic efforts of the Cubs at times really were ludicrous.

Zim Fans with Bags Filled.

Heine Zimmerman had a most distressing afternoon of it and there were a lot of the folks from the Bronx who came over just to see him perform. In the first inning Heine went to bat with the bases filled and no one out. Every one was breathless wondering if he would drive them all, but alas, Heine fanned and the crowd screamed its delight. All afternoon Heine was the mark for the throng and plainly he was fussed.

Once in the seventh inning the Cubs got the bases filled after two were out. The Cubs needed four runs to tie at that time and it was Heine's turn at bat. This time when he came striding to the plate the crowd wasn't breathless. It jeered and screamed at the great clouter. It is likely Heine would have given his next pay check to have been able to have driven the ball out into the left field bleacher and he certainly tried to do that thing. His best was a high ball which Herzog grabbed when it came down.

This guy Herzog, who was half the New York team in the world's series last fall, isn't even a regular any more and after watching him today one wonders why. He got into the game because Larry Doyle was off his feed and if Herzog had been on the bench the Cubs might have had a chance to win. Herzog scored three runs himself and drove in two others and was a whale on the infield. He got two doubles and a single in four times at bat.

Leach Leads with Triple.

Only at the start of the game did the Cubs seem to have a chance. Leach led off with a three base drive over Murray's head and this so unnerved Tesreau that he walked both Evers and Schulte, filling the bases. The great Zim fanned in his eagerness. Saier grounded out to Shafer, and Leach scored on the play. The fuss ended when Williams rolled to Fletcher.

Merkle started the Giants' half of the second with a single and the tying run was the result. After Murray had died on a pop to Zim, Merkle stole second, moved to third when Snodgrass grounded out, and came home on McLean's single. Tesreau then fanned.

Cheney's wildness cost him the game in the third inning. After one was out, Shafer walked, then Cheney hit Fletcher in the short ribs, putting two on, and Herzog followed with a poke that just got between Saier and first base for a double. Shafer scored, while Fletcher stopped at third. Merkle was handed nothing but curve balls and fanned, but Murray made good with a drive to right for one base, sending Fletcher and Herzog home. Murray stole second and Snodgrass got hit with a pitched ball, but Cheney fed McLean on the spit ball and a feeble grounder resulted, ending the rampage.

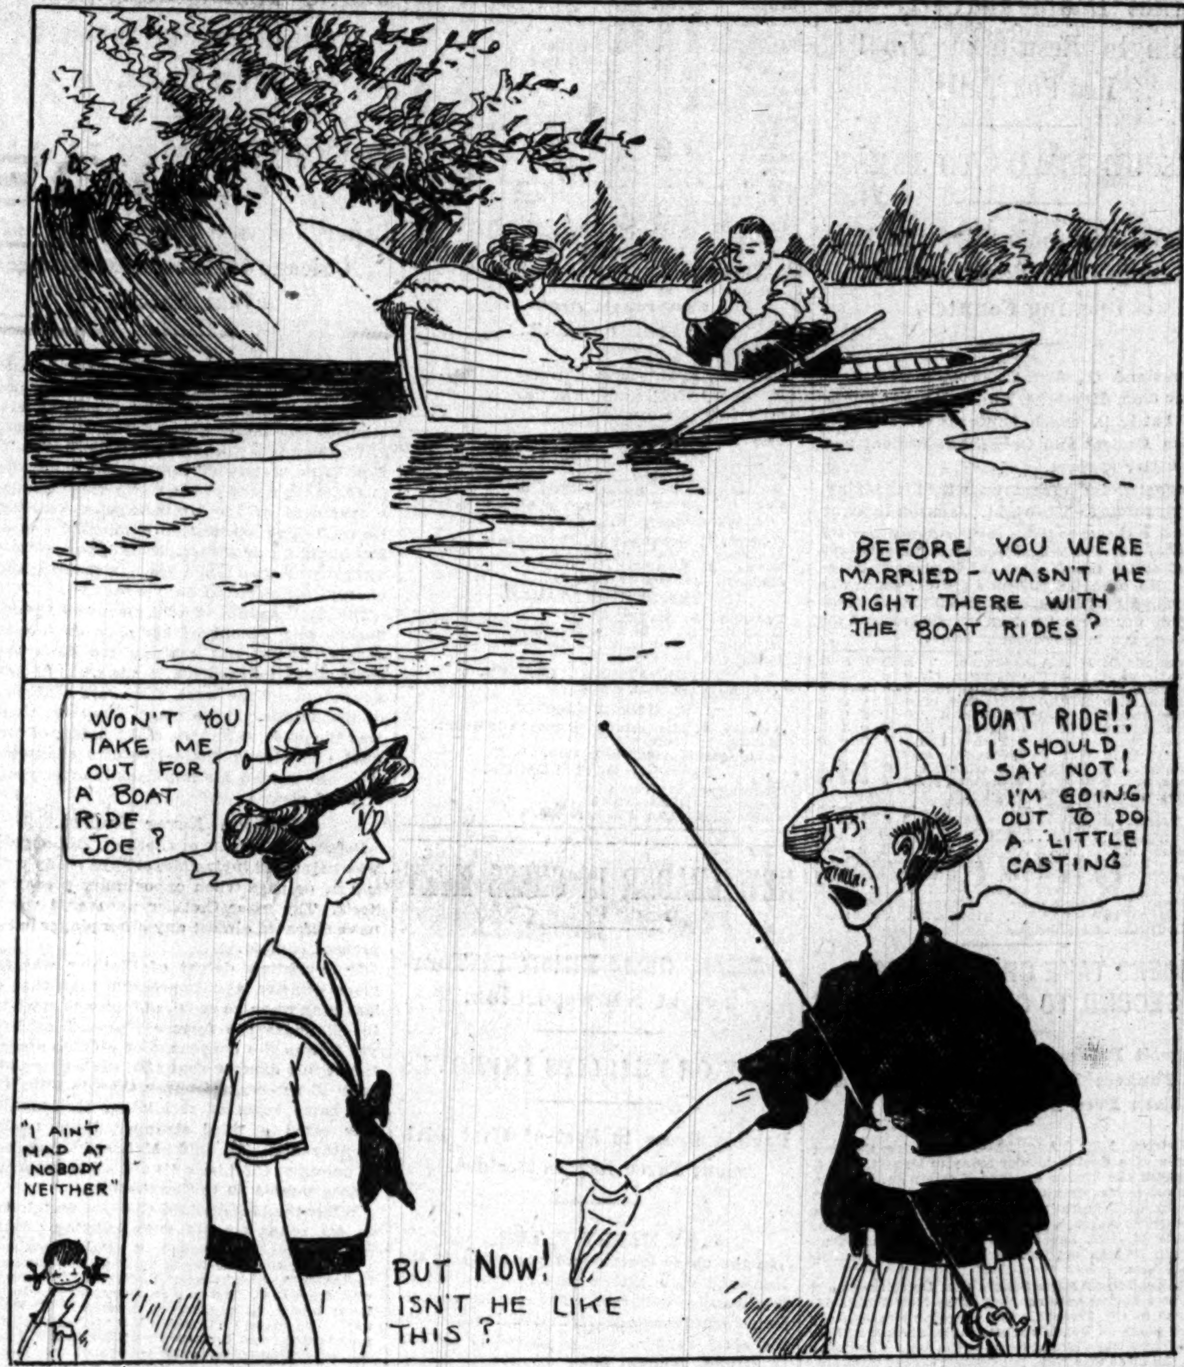

Passed Ball Allows Tally.

A passed ball gave the Giants an undeserved run in the fifth. With one out Herzog connected with one of Vaughn's fast ones for a double to right. He took third on Merkle's out, and should have been left there, but while Murray was batting Archer knocked down a wide one, then, in trying to recover it, kicked it away fifty feet, letting Herzog home. Murray then lifted to Williams for the third out.

Vaughn was wild in the seventh and two walks with two timely hits netted three runs. Burns started with a walk and Shafer popped out. Fletcher walked and Herzog singled, scoring Burns and sending Fletcher to third. Herzog stole second and both he and Fletcher scored when Merkle scraped a single to left. Merkle stole second, but was left on the bases, for Murray grounded out and Snodgrass fanned.

In the eighth and ninth the Cubs were more helpless than ever against Big Jeff, going out three in a row in each round.

QUAKERS BUNCH SWATS.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 22.—Philadelphia and Pittsburgh played a tie game this afternoon, the contest being stopped by darkness after twelve innings with the score 3 to 3.

Philadelphia made all its hits in the third inning on two singles, a double by Cravath, an error and two stolen bases. Fine fielding by Cravath and Dolan prevented the visitors from winning in the tenth and again in the eleventh inning. Score:

Worst "Bonehead" Play I Ever Saw.

Chicago.—To the Baseball Editor of The Tribune.—The worst bonehead play I ever saw was at Indiana university in either 1901 or 1902, at any rate, when Bob Wicker, the ex-Cub, was coaching the Indiana team. It was playing Notre Dame and Reulbach and "Peaches" O'Neill were in the points for the Catholic school. It was the last half of the ninth, with the score 3 to 2 in Notre Dame's favor and three Indiana men were on the bases with one out. The batter struck out and O'Neill dropped the third strike. The man on third base came tearing in, thinking he was forced, and O'Neill picked up the ball and tagged him for the third out.

HOOSIERS GET TWO HOMERS AND TRIM LOCAL FEDERALS.

Home run drives by Kaiser and Dolan gave the Indianapolis leaders their second straight victory over the Chicago Federals at De Paul field yesterday, 3 to 2.

McGuire, for the Browns, allowed the Hoosiers only seven hits, six of which were credidted to the home run hitters. Kaiser, the former Cub outfielder, padded his batting average with four safeties, one a triple which opened the first round.

After that three-ply swat McGuire tightened and whiffed seven batters in a row, retiring the side on strikes in the opener without allowing Kaiser to cross the plate. Three more went down by the strikeout route in the second, and the first man up in the third also failed to connect in three attempts.

Only four safeties were secured off Blair, the Hoosier hurler. His only pass came in the initial inning and paved the way for the Browns' first tally. The Keeleys counted again in the same round when Blair threw wild to third while trying to catch Farrell off that sack. Score:

ROBS RUSSELL OF VERDICT

HOUCK RESCUED BY EDDIE PLANK

JIMMY WALSH

BY I. E. SANBORN.

"The worst bonehead play I ever saw"—I didn't see the Merkle play—happened in yesterday's game between White Sox and Athletics at Comiskey park. It was in the eighth inning and "Tex" Russell had the better of Byron Houck in a swell pitchers' battle by the small margin of 1 to 0. The Athletics had Oldring on third, Eddie Collins on first, two out, and McInnis at bat.

McInnis is a bad man to have up in a pinch, but Russell put two strikes on him, neither of them good balls, so Manager Mack switched to the double steal in the hope of tying the score. Collins drew a throw to second. Weaver took the ball and dived to the base, tagging the runner, but not until Collins had hit the bag, according to Umpire Connolly, who motioned "safe." Oldring could have scored from third while Weaver was flat on the ground mixed up with Collins, but stuck to his corner.

Weaver Tosses Ball Away.

Weaver, thinking he tagged Collins out, retiring the side, rolled the ball slowly toward the pitcher's slab. Oldring dashed for home and landed safely before Russell could get the ball there. This break cost the White Sox the game, for it upset the whole Sox outfit. Russell stuck over a good one for McInnis, who smote it to center for a single, scoring Eddie Collins with the winning tally. They got McInnis going to second on the throw in, but it was too late. If the Athletics win the pennant by one game they will owe it to Weaver, whose name will then be written in the pages of history right beside that of Merkle.

In spite of Weaver's break the White Sox would have won back the game but for another bonehead play and two more close decisions. Fournier was sent to bat for Russell in the home eighth and worked Houck for a pass with one man out. Houck pitched a bad ball to Weaver and apparently was in the air, so he was yanked and Eddie Plank was substituted.

Break Fails to Help Sox.

Weaver came close to wiping out the memory of his ivory play right there with the help of an accident. He whaled a fly to right center. Daley caught the ball, but Eddie Murphy collided with him and knocked it out of his hands. Fournier, who was near second, stopped as the ball hit the fielder's hands, then tried to make third on the lucky break. He went almost as fast as a three legged truck horse and the ball was there as soon as the runner. Fournier slid in and nearly everybody thought Baker missed him, but Umpire McGreevy said "out" and it went in spite of Manager Callahan's splenetic kick.

While the fans were calling McGreevy every kind of robber they could think of, Berger was passed and Lord grounded the side out. The umpire may have guessed wrong, as he was not in good position to see the play, but it never would have been a close decision if Manager Callahan had not taken Fournier's word for it that his bum leg had recovered from the charley horse which put the Frenchman out of commission while in the east. When Fournier tried to run it was plain enough the charley horse still was there and if a subrunner had been put on for him, almost any one else could have beaten the ball to third easily.

Umpire Again Stops Cals.

Still the Sox were not licked, and it required another doubtful decision to beat them. Chase opened the last half with a single to center. Bodie was asked to sacrifice, but popped a little foul to Schang, which did not help a bit. Chappell followed with a low liner to left. Walsh raced in and dived headlong to the turf, reaching the ball and holding it, but whether on the fly or short bound may never be known. McGreevy stuttered and Connolly made the decision, waving his arm for "out." Chase was standing on second base and made no effort to get back. Neither did Walsh make any effort to double him up at first, but fired the ball back to the infield. Collins went after it and relayed to McInnis for the final out.

Admitting that Eddie Collins was safe at second and Jack Fournier out at third, we always shall have a suspicion that Walsh did not catch Chappell's drive on the fly, otherwise his ball player's instinct would have prompted him to make the throw to first before Chase could get back. He was close to the infield and the throw was an easy one. Still it would have taken at least another hit to tie up the score and there never would have been any need to tie it up if Weaver had learned the lesson, "take nothing for granted in baseball."

Walsh Makes Great Catch.

The same Jim Walsh was responsible for the Sox failing to score in the first inning, when they opened on Houck viciously. Weaver rapped a liner to left, and Walsh made a brilliant diving catch of it. There was no doubt about that catch. Berger followed with a single to center. Lord dumped a bunt toward third and was out. So was Berger, who tried to go to third on the play.

The Callahans had chances enough in the early innings to make runs, and ought to have had the game cinched, but they failed in every attempt, twice having runs cut off in attempted double steals. Not until the seventh could either team count. Chase opened that with a walk, stole second, and reached third because Schang's throw went to center field. With a run in sight Bodie struck out, but Chappell delivered a single to left center, putting Chase over. Our Collins forced Chappell and perished stealing.

In the eighth, with Murphy out, Oldring singled cleanly. In a hit and run play Eddie Collins threw his bat at a wide curve and the ball rebounded over short into left for a single. Baker hit a long fly to John Collins on which Oldring went to third. Then came Eddie Collins' steal and Weaver's Merkle play.

Up to the eighth the Athletics made only two hits off Russell, and it looked a cinch he could shut them out again.

SOX SYDELIGHTS.

The Athletics now are leading the Sox in the season's series by one game, and there are five more to play.

We regret having to turn down the suggestion to run under the caption, "Yesterday's Hero," an upside down picture of Weaver.

The Mackmen surely had to have the assistance of every known kind of luck to cop that one.

Manager Callahan switched his batting order, promoting Weaver to leader and dropping Chappell to sixth place. Weaver peeled off two hard hits, one of which ought not to have been caught and the other of which would have been caught but for a collision. Chappell made three singles, but was robbed of one of them by Walsh's second diving catch, which was doubted.

John Collins appeared in center field in place of Rousch and showed his unfamiliarity with the new job by muffing a fly in the first inning. By good luck it cost nothing, and Collins made up for it in the third by tearing back and stealing a triple from Oldring's bat.

Weaver made a splendid stop of Daley's hot grounder in the first inning and retired the side with the bases full.

A pass to Bodie and a single by Collins put Sox on third and first with two out in the second inning. They tried the double steal and Bodie was nailed on a short throw relayed by Collins. In the fourth singles by Chase and Chappell put Sox on third and first with two out again. This time when they tried the double steal Schang bluffed and caught Chase off third.

Eddie Murphy opened the eighth with a fast bunt toward first base. Russell went over and made a helova play, getting the ball in one hand and tossing the runner out easily.

MORRIS RATH SENT TO KAWS.

Failure to Hit Causes Release of White Sox Infielder to Kansas City Club.

Morris Rath, until recently regular second baseman for the White Sox, was released yesterday to the Kansas City club and will join his former teammates, Walter Mattick and Frank Lange. Rath's inability to hit after the outfielders learned to play close for him is the reason for his retirement. There never was anything the matter with his fielding. Joe Berger, although a shortstop, has fitted in well at second and has proved a better sticker. Rath was drafted from the Baltimore club in the fall of 1911.

CONSIDERS C. W. MURPHY A JINX.

Evers, Anxious to Finish Second in League Race, Decides to Leave His Boss at Home.

New York, Aug. 22.—John Evers, manager of the Chicago Nationals, considers Charles Murphy, his club owner, to be a jinx. "That's why I left Murphy in Chicago on this trip," said Evers, "for we are anxious to finish at least second in the race. We won seven straight games in Boston and Philadelphia. We are not saying anything about the Giants, but we are going to keep on plugging until the end of the season."

BOSTON NOSES OUT CLEVELAND, 2 TO 1

MISCUE LEADS TO FIRST.

Single, Jackson's Slip, and Misjudged Fly Result in the Opening Counter.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 22.—Boston won again today from Cleveland, 2 to 1. It was a pitchers' battle in which honors were even between Bedient and Gregg, but Bedient had the better support.

Boston scored its first run in the fifth inning. Carrigan singled to right. Jackson thought he had a chance to throw the Boston manager out at first, but the ball slipped from his hand and rolled to the grand stand, and Carrigan took second. He scored on Bedient's pop fly, which was misjudged by Leibold and counted for two bases. Yerkes' double and Carrigan's single produced the deciding run in the seventh. Score:

TIGERS TAKE OPENER, 7 TO 4; SECOND TO CHANCEMEN, 12-7

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 22.—After losing the first game of a double header today to Detroit, 7 to 4, because the Tigers knocked Russell Ford off the mound in less than four innings, New York evened up by winning the second contest, 12 to 7. In the last game North, a South Michigan league recruit, made his first appearance in a Detroit uniform. When he was not issuing passes he was yielding base hits.

In the second game Schulz shut Detroit out until Cobb's daring base running broke New York's defense in the seventh. The Georgian singled, took two bases on Veach's short single, and set sail for the plate when Maisel dropped the ball. The throw to the plate was high, but Gossett tagged Cobb out, then dropped the ball. Scores:

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 22.—Roy Mitchell kept the Washington's hits well scattered, shutting out the Senators, while his teammates hit Boehling for three runs. St. Louis scored two runs in the third inning. Agnew and Shotton singled and advanced a base on Morgan's wild throw. Austin beat out an infield single, scoring Agnewk, and while Gandil was disputing Umpire Dinneen's decision Shotton crossed the plate. I. A. F. NAMES EXECUTIVE BODY.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—The rules committee of the International Athletic federation, which has been endeavoring to formulate a program and rules for international athletic competitions, adjourned this evening without having been able to reach a decision.

The federation today elected an executive council with J. S. Edstrom, vice president of the Swedish Olympic commiteee, as president, and Kristian Hellstroem, secretary of the Swedish Olympic committee, as secretary. James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States; Carl Diem, president of the German Amateur Athletic union; M. Stankovitz, representing Hungary; M. Roy, representing France, and Mr. Fisher, representing England, were chosen members of the council.

President Edstrom appointed a committee to compile the world's records in track and field athletics. Sullivan was made chairman of this committee.

The committee on the definition of an amateur today drafted rules making an athlete who accepts a pecuniary reward in any branch of sport a professional in all its branches, but allowing, except in track and field sports, amateurs and professionals to compete together for nonmoney prizes if the rules of the country in which the meet is held permit. The rule classifies all paid teachers, trainers, and coaches as professionals, though individual countries may except from this classification a representative or employé of a government, an army or an educational establishment, who coaches as an incident to his main vocation.

Cycle Riders in "Marathon."

A ten mile motorcycle "marathon" will be the feature of the program at Riverview motordrome tonight. Detroit and Chicago riders will compete. As a secondary feature Joe Wolter of the Chicago team will ride a series of trials against time.

Galley vs. Ennis in Roque.

Charley Galley and J. P. Ennis will meet today in a series of roque games for the Charles King medal. The first game will be played at the Lincoln park courts this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The player winning three out of the five games will be given the trophy.

NEW LEADER IN CHESS MEET

PLAY OF PHILLIPS IMPROVES

Daniels Drops to Foot of First Division; Three Rounds Decided.

BY HARRY F. LEE.

In the chess tournament yesterday at the Kenwood club Elliott was crowded out of first place by Jefferson. The southern champion soon recovered from the lassitude of the early rounds, and advanced to the top by strong, brilliant play.

Other important changes were the continued improvement in Phillips' score and the decline of Daniels to the foot of the first division. Three rounds were played with the following results:

Tenth round—Elliott beat Michelsen; Beckner beat Winter; Jefferson beat Hine; Scrivener beat Friedlander; Daniels and Phillips drew; Widmeyer beat Palmer; Hahlbohm and Shapiro drew; Morrison beat Ellis; Gessner beat Crew.

Eleventh round—Shapiro beat Ellis; Hahlbohm beat Widmeyer; Phillips beat Palmer; Scrivener beat Daniels; Jefferson beat Friedlander; Beckner beat Hine; Winter beat Elliott; Michelsen beat Gessner; Morrison beat Crew.

Twelfth round—Gessner beat Winter; Elliott beat Hine; Friedlander and Beckner drew; Jefferson beat Daniels; Scrivener beat Palmer; Phillips beat Hahlbohm; Widmeyer beat Ellis; Morrison beat Shapiro; Michelsen beat Crew.

Jefferson	9½	2½	Beckner	6	6
Elliott	9	3	Winter	5½	5½
Morrison	9	3	Shapiro	5	7

SIGN FOR AMERICA'S CUP RACES.

Arrangements for Yacht Contests Next Year All Completed—Official Announcement Expected Soon.

New York, Aug. 22.—Contracts between the New York Yacht club and the Royal Ulster Yacht club for next year's race for the America's cup have been signed, sealed, and delivered, and now nothing stands in the way of the contests. Official announcement to that effect will be made in a day or two. The New York Yacht club is going ahead with its plans for the defense of the cup and announcement also will be made soon as to the size of the boat which will meet Sir Thomas Lipton's seventy-five footer, Shamrock IV., as well as the owner or owners of the boat or boats to be built to meet it. That Lipton will be met with a yacht of the same size as his own is believed to be a certainty, and that there will be at least three yachts striving in trial races for the honor of defending is also practically assured.

STANTON TAKES GOLF HONORS.

Grand Rapids, Mch., Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Winning the thirty-eighth hole by a wonderfully lucky mashie shot, Phil Stanton of the home club took first honors from J. N. McDonald of Wheaton in the main flight of the Kent Country club's invitation tournament this afternoon. The young Chicagoan had come up from 3 down in the forenoon's play and by game play squared at the thirty-second hole, then went ahead at the thirty-fifth, only to be tied at the thirty-sixth. At the thirty-eighth hole Stanton, the Michigan state champion, holed a fifty yard approach.

WOMAN SETS ARCHERY RECORD.

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 22.—A new association record for flight shooting by a woman archer was made today by Mrs. G. P. Bryant of Melrose when she sent an arrow 251 yards and 4-10 foot at the final day's meeting of the National Archery association. The best previous record was 218 yards. In the flight shooting contest for men, Dr. R. P. Elmer of Wayne, Pa., was first, with a distance of 260 yards 1 foot. Boston won the team match for men, scoring 328 hits and 1,518 points. The Keystone club was second and Chicago third. The women's team event was captured by Newton, 231 hits and 1,083 points total score. Boston was second and All America third.

Dr. R. P. Elmer of Wayne, Pa., was elected president of the association; Dr. E. B. Weston of Chicago, G. P. Bryant of Boston, and Will H. Thompson of Seattle, Wash., were chosen vice presidents; and Dr. C. L. Hertig of Pittsburgh, secretary-treasurer.

Clymer, Millers' Fielder, Ill.

TENNIS CHAMPION UPSETS CLOTHIER

PLAY RESULTS, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 22.—Showing a mastery of tennis technique such as he has not heretofore exhibited on the Casino courts, Maurice E. McLoughlin defeated William J. Clothier today in straight sets, 6—3, 7—5, 6—4. This victory of the present champion in the sixth round of the thirty-third annual tournament of the United States National Lawn Tennis association eliminated one of McLoughlin's most formidable opponents and virtually assures him a place in the final and championship round on Tuesday.

The McLoughlin of today showed the influence and benefit of his play on foreign courts. There was missing the dash and snap which marked his tennis when he first swept out of the west, the court sensation of the decade. In its place, however, there was the poise, calmness, and mastery of racquet and stroke distinctive of a champion who has gained his laurels only after years of hard play.

Champion Never Ruffled.

Before the attack of Clothier, McLoughlin was calm and invincible, always ready with smash or pass when opportunity presented itself. The game Clothier uncovered would have defeated almost any other player in the present contest.

McLoughlin's defeat of Clothier was far more decisive and impressive than that of last year when he required four sets in which to eliminate the former Harvard athlete, yet it was the consensus of opinion among the tennis experts that Clothier's game was fully 15 per cent stronger than in 1912. On the same basis of reckoning, McLoughlin was rated a third stronger than twelve months ago. All told, McLoughlin earned 57 points to Clothier's 41, while his unearned points totaled 69 to Clothier's 67.

While the McLoughlin-Clothier match was on six other players were battling for the right to enter the closing round. Nat Niles earned a place in the semi-finals by defeating Leonard Beekman in straight sets. R. Norris Williams II. won from B. C. Law in a similar manner. In the lower half J. R. Strachan eliminated E. H. Whitney. The young Californian has been allotted the grandstand court tomorrow with Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia. TWO MORE NAMED FOR ELGIN

Mason and Mercer Cars Entered for Opening Day.

TOTAL NOMINATIONS NOW 23

Thirteen Machines Listed in the National Trophy Contest.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Two additional entries for the Chicago Automobile club trophy race on the first day of the Elgin races to be held Aug. 29 and 30 yesterday brought the total number of nominations up to ten. The new names added to the list of Chairman C. G. Sinsabaugh of the contest committee were those of a Mason and a Mercer, two makes already represented on the roster.

Al Schillo, the Chicago driver, nominated the Mercer and will pilot it in the race, while the Mason was entered by Fred Duesenberg. Bill Chandler was named as the driver of the car. Both machines have shown fast work on track and road and are expected to push the others to the limit.

Cars in Opening Race.

As the entries for the Friday race now stand, there have been named three Masons, to be driven by Mulford, Rickenbacker, and Chandler; three Mercers, to be driven by De Palma, Wishart, and Schillo; a Nyberg to be driven by Madden; a Case, to be driven by Bill Endicott; a special, to be driven by Roberts, and a Deltal, to be driven by Dawson.

Thirteen machines have been entered in the Elgin National trophy race on the second day of the meet, making a total for the two days of twenty-three nominations to date. aBrney Oldfield may be a contestant in the races. David G. Joyce wired Barney asking him to come to Elgin as his guest and Oldfield answered yesterday he would leave Los Angeles for Chicago today.

In his message Joyce hinted to Barney he might be given a mount if he so desired, and it is thought he will be more than anxious to sign up with somebody. Drivers of two cars are still unnamed and it is likely their owners would be glad to get Oldfield. The Deltal is without a driver for the second day, while P. E. Ennis' Marmon, which is being counted upon for the first day's race, is another for which a pilot would have to be found.

List Open Until Monday.

Chairman Sinsabaugh announced he had obtained permission from Chairman Schimpf of the A. A. A. contest committee to hold the entry list open until Monday noon, when numbers are to be drawn. Referee Beecroft will arrive here on Monday and Starter Fred Wagner will follow on Tuesday.

The first game of a series to decide the championship of the National Catholic league will be played by St. Jarlaths, winners in the west division, and St. Mary's of Evanston, winners of the north division, tomorrow at the Cubs' park. Neither team has met defeat this year.

EASY FOR DILLON AXWORTHY

Colt Takes 3 Year Old Event at Salem in Straight Heats.

Murphy Horses Land First and Second Places in 2:09 Trotting Race.

Salem, N. H., Aug. 22.—Three races, all stake events and all for trotters, were on the card at Rockingham park today. The feature race was the 3 year old trotting division of the American Horse Breeder Futurity, worth $6,000 which was won by the Pennsylvania colt, Dillon Axworthy, in straight heats. He took the lead in each heat and held it to the end. Peter Johnson was the only one of the field to give him an argument, and the Pennsylvania colt could handle the mount of Cox with ease.

Tom Murphy kept up his winning career in the 2:09 trot, in which he started two horses, driving Marigold himself and obtaining Geers to drive Ruth McGregor. Marigold won in straight heats and Ruth got second money.

A big field started in the 2:18 trotting stake and this furnished the best race of the day. Judson Girl, driven by Walter Cox, was returned the winner after four heats, as she broke in the second and lost to Star Winter. Uncon was the contender in the first heat, but lameness caused his withdrawal before the race was finished. Summaries:

JOCKEY ROBBINS PILOTS 4 VICTORS

CLOSE RACES MARK CARD

BY JACK PROCTOR.

The riding of Johnny Robbins, who piloted four winners, was the feature of the second day's racing at Mineral Springs. Robbins had the mounts on three favorites, while his other winner was a 6 to 1 shot.

Another large crowd turned out to see the racing, which was more spirited and closely contested than on the opening day. There were several driving finishes and the favorites won four out of the six races.

In the first race, a five furlong dash, Blister, the winner, opened at 15 to 1 and was backed down to 4 to 1. Jim Ray ruled a strong favorite and received plenty of play. The field was sent away to a perfect start. Jim Ray took the lead at once, with Blister in second place. They held these positions until half way down the stretch, when Blister went to the front and won by a length. Arcite, a bad actor, while facing the barrier kicked Julia B., causing the horse to fall and throw Jockey Dominick. The jockey was badly shaken up, but gamely remounted his horse and landed second place. Jim Ray was third.

Galley Slave Beats Mawr Lad.

Galley Slave, the 7 to 5 favorite in the second race of five furlongs, won the event by a length and one-half from Mawr Lad. A lot of trouble was experienced in getting the field away because of the bad acting of Wavering. The horse refused to go to the barrier and it took three helpers to urge the animal to the starting post. The horse sulked and kicked in such a manner that the judges may refuse to accept Wavering's entry in the future.

The dope was upset in the third race of three quarters of a mile when Golden Ramble, a C... choice, beat Cosgrove in a driving finish by a head. Robbins had the mount on the winner and Hanover was up on the Canadian horse. When the field came into the stretch Golden Ramble and Cosgrove were on even terms, about two lengths ahead of the rest of the field. Both jockeys went to the whip, but Golden Ramble won the verdict.

The following owners arrived at the track yesterday with their stables: P. A. Jones, R. E. Campbell, W. F. Cisco, E. Salt, H. G. Bedwell, and J. B. Steele. Jockeys Buxton and Frasch also arrived.

Summary of Races.

First race, ⅝ mile, 3 year and upward—Blister, 112 [Dale], 4 to 1, won; Julia B., 112 [Dominick], 3 to 1, second; Jim Ray, 114 [Mondon], 6 to 1, third. Time, 1:02. Sam Hall, Forty Niner, Arcite and Dry Dollar ran.

CITIZENS BLOCK TERMINAL HASTE

VICTORY FOR EXPERTISM.

New Organization May Defeat Early Acceptance of West Side Plan.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

There was no indication on the surface yesterday that the few aldermen in town are displeased because a citizens' terminal plan committee has been formed and Bion J. Arnold set at work to make a comprehensive and unbiased study of the entire railroad terminal question.

Aldermen who consented to talk said they were pleased. But it was generally predicted by the aldermen around the committee rooms that the disposition of the ordinances requested by the Pennsylvania group of roads will be delayed. It was said by several that if these ordinances providing for a west side passenger and freight terminal are passed before Dec. 1 they will be surprised. Chairman Geiger of the terminal committee of the council several weeks ago predicted work on the new west side station would be started by Nov. 1.

See Efforts at Haste.

Several times during the consideration of these ordinances there has been indication of a desire to hasten their adoption.

Recent dispatches from Washington telling of the efforts of Chicago congressmen to get a decision at once on the location of the new Chicago postoffice have not impressed several well informed aldermen. One of them said that if the site for the postoffice is made the block immediately west of the proposed new west side passenger station, that may have some influence in determining where the station shall be placed.

Therefore, he said, the postoffice site should not be finally selected until the terminal question is settled, as the postoffice should be placed conveniently to the railway stations rather than that the location of the stations should be influenced by the location of the postoffice.

Opposes Rushing Matters.

"I am opposed to dragging municipal business along," he went on, "but I am opposed to rushing matters. The question of appropriating money for voting machines was not given enough consideration, as it seems to me from what I have read recently. While the voting machine matter was important, I think the terminal problem is much more so. I dislike to see these sky efforts from time to time to rush the terminal matter.

"What the city should have done was to have made a study of the terminal question several years ago, so that a policy at this time would be established, but that was not the case, and I can see no better time for a thorough investigation of the whole subject matter than right now.

"Chicago needs all the railroads and the roads need Chicago and I will not stand for a policy with reference to terminals which will injure either the roads or the city."

Arnold Reluctant to Serve.

From what members of the citizens' committee said during the day it appears they had difficulty in getting Bion J. Arnold to accept the responsibility for a preliminary study of the situation. Mr. Arnold is said to have held the committee at arms length for ten days before he agreed to take up the task. Then he insisted they show a considerable number of representative citizens were really desirous of having a comprehensive study and that they would guarantee a sum sufficient to make a thorough investigation if it is deemed advisable after the preliminary report is made.

"I have started at work," Mr. Arnold said, "and I hope to be able to supplement the work of others who have heretofore given time and study to the problem, as well as the forthcoming report of John F. Wallace. I hope my efforts will be of value to those interested in the solution of the matter."

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—Money and discount rates were easy today. The nearness of the settlement and the holiday tomorrow restricted business on the stock exchange and the Mexican securities declined on the latest reports from Mexico. Marconi shares sagged and Paris offered its favorites. Consols, however, were steadily maintained. American securities opened quiet and moved irregularly within narrow limits during the forenoon. Later the market declined on realising and in sympathy with the weakness in Mexicans. The closing was easy.

ASSESSORS FACE CUT IN PAY

County Board Plans Reduction to $3,600, Fixed by Statute.

CALLS $5,000 SCALE ILLEGAL

Attorney So Holds, but Officials Will Resist Slash.

Members of the board of assessors may find their September pay checks $116.67 short. This is one of the methods under consideration by Ellsworth M. Board, chairman of the finance committee of the county board, for straightening out the tangle presented by the assessors' salaries. The office carries with it a salary of $3,600, established by statute. For fifteen years the county board has appropriated $5,000 a year for each of the assessors. They have been overpaid, Mr. Board believes, by more than $100,000.

"I don't know what to think," Mr. Board said yesterday. "I won't know until the county attorney has untangled the legal questions. It might be the simplest method to put all of us in a ring and let us fight it out."

Attorney Explains Situation.

Explanation of the situation came through John C. Richberg, an attorney who represented the board of assessors soon after it was created.

"The assessors saw the salary of members of the board of review had been set at $7,000 a year by the county board," the attorney said, "while their own were placed at $3,600, as fixed by statute. The assessors brought a mandamus action against the commissioners to compel the appropriation of $5,000 a year each. Judge Philip Stein heard the case and sustained their plea. He said that according to the constitution the legislature could fix only the salaries of the clerks of the Superior and Circuit courts, the coroner, and the sheriff. The county board was empowered to set the remaining figures."

Assistant County Attorney Struckmann, who will handle the case for Mr. Board, was equally positive the $5,000 salary is illegal.

"The Supreme court decided exactly that case when it knocked out the civil service law," he said. "It held the legislature can fix the salaries of any officers created by law."

Fifteen Clerks Discharged.

Fifteen clerks from the board of assessors have been discharged in the last week. Their dismissal is connected by Mr. Board with the investigation of the efficiency of the assessor's office by the Chicago bureau of public efficiency.

Four experienced clerks, placed on the extra roll before David M. Pfaelzer made his charges of inefficiency, were put back on the regular force.

At least $2,000,000 was added to the tax lists in the short session. Among the largest contributors are:

Estate Mary A. Corkery, $280,000 to $350,000.

Estate J. Scott Clark, nothing to $15,000.

Estate Augusta Fitzsimmons, nothing to $25,000.

H. W. Farnum, 2834 Prairie avenue, $10,000 to $33,000.

There is no appeal from these decisions of the board. The books are closed, and there will be no more public hearings.

NEW HAVEN POLICY SCORED; STOCKHOLDERS UP IN ARMS.

Publicity Urged in Financial Affairs of Road as Huge Bond Issue to Cover Debt Is Voted.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 22.—Howard Elliott's first meeting today with the stockholders of the New Haven railroad, of which he has just been chosen president, was a stormy session.

It was a special meeting, called to authorize the issuance of $67,552,400 in 6 per cent convertible debenture bonds to provide for the road's floating debt, and several of the stockholders had warm words to say regarding the financial management of the road, but the issue was voted by a big majority.

It developed that the financing of the bond issue, in charge of J. P. Morgan & Co., would cost 2 per cent, and some of those present criticised this arrangement, declaring that the issue should have been offered to stockholders first.

Other speakers expressed surprise that the road had a floating debt and urged publicity in the financial affairs of the road, particularly as to the accounts of subsidiary lines, salaries paid the president and vice presidents, and amounts charged to "legal expenses."

Morgan C. Bulkeley, former governor of Connecticut, led in voicing opposition to floating the bonds through a syndicate, although he favored the issue. He wanted the stockholders and bondholders to have first chance to subscribe.

"Somebody is going to make a commission of $1,750,000 on these debentures and stock," declared Mr. Bulkeley. "The company ought to save that commission for the stockholders."

Director I. De Witt Cuyler, replying to Mr. Bulkeley, said:

"If we did not provide for the payment of $40,000,000 in December it meant a receivership for the road. Now the stockholders cannot take up this issue. They have not the money."

RECEIVER DEMANDED FOR RUSCHE-HALLER DAIRY CO.

Involuntary Petition in Bankruptcy Places Liabilities in Excess of $38,000—Recent Sale Recalled.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the Rusche-Haller Dairy company was filed yesterday. The liabilities are alleged to be in excess of $38,000. The petitioners are Henry F. Bartling, 3811 Wilton avenue; John Rheinwald, 1437 Larrabee street, and B. H. Towey, 3642 Rokeby street.

The petition states that the alleged bankrupt concern, which sells milk, butter, and ice cream, was sold in February, 1913, to the Wieland Dairy company for $50,000. A part of this was paid in cash and a part in notes, according to the bill. It is added that notes amounting to $21,437.65 are in the possession of the alleged bankrupt company, that open accounts now due amount to $2,500 and that $300 is on deposit in Foreman Bros.' bank.

ASSERTS YERKES YET RULES LINES

WARNS AGAINST PROXIES

Charges that the shade of the late Charles T. Yerkes still is in control of Chicago's traction affairs are made in a letter written by George A. Yuille, a former Yerkes official, to Joseph Beifeld, chairman of the Chicago Railways Protective association. The letter was given out yesterday by officials of the association.

In his letter Mr. Yuille charges the present management of the Chicago Railways company with financial mismanagement and failure to conserve the interests of participating certificate holders. The certificate holders are appealed to not to send proxies to Henry A. Blair, chairman of the board of directors of the company, because "to secure fair treatment for your holdings in case of a merger or transfer the management must be of your own selection, acting in your interests."

Much Traction History Recited.

A mass of alleged traction history is recited in the letter for the purpose of supporting the theory that Yerkes, or the owners of his estate, are still controlling factors in the Chicago Railways company. It reads:

"Yerkes was up against it hard. He awakened to the fact that he was utterly discredited in the minds of the people as the controlling spirit in their transportation facilities; he at last realized that the time had come when he must appear to effectually eliminate himself. Mark the word 'appear.'

"The Chicago Union Traction company was the fruit of Charles T. Yerkes' brain, and not, as was generally believed, a corporation organized by an eastern syndicate to take over the consolidated 'Yerkes properties.' It was a paper company, organized by Yerkes in pursuance of his plan to apparently eliminate himself.

Same Old Control, He Says.

"The management that depreciated the stocks of the Yerkes companies in the face of enormously increasing street railway earnings is the same management that is now appealing to you for proxies to vote your holdings of Chicago Railways company participation certificates.

"Yerkes elected to the presidency of his paper company the late Jesse Spalding, a most respectable old gentleman who would not interfere with his plans, at an annual salary of $50,000 and the bonding business of the company for his American Surety company, as a perquisite. He elected as treasurer the late James H. Eckels, who secured through his office as his perquisite the major portion of the deposits of the company for his Commercial National bank.

Talks About Pirate Craft.

"It was fine to man his pirate craft with such a crew, but the real navigators must be men that would stick to the end, daring anything, for Yerkes knew what he had in mind. He therefore elected John M. Roach as vice president and general manager. (The writer was elected his assistant, but did not like the company and soon dropped out). The same John M. Roach is now the president of your Chicago Railways company. He elected W. W. Gurley as general counsel. The same W. W. Gurley is now general counsel of your Chicago Railways company. The wisdom of his selections has been fully demonstrated."

The letter then goes on to say that Chairman Blair of the board of directors is doing his best to "put over" the proposed merger and that he "seems perfectly confident that he can deliver the Chicago Railways company when the time comes. It concludes:

"Can it be possible that the hand of Yerkes has been reaching up from his grave controlling the destiny of the Chicago Railways company as it reached across the water and controlled the destiny of the Chicago Union Traction company?"

MORRIS SELZ LEFT $675,000; MEMORIALS TO TWO WIVES

Funds of $50,000 Each to Commemorate Mrs. Rosa Selz, Mrs. Hanna Selz, and the Testator.

Morris Selz, shoe manufacturer, who died on June 3, left an estate of $675,000, according to the will which was admitted to probate yesterday by Judge Dankowski.

The will bequeathes $250,000 to a son, Abraham K. Selz, one of the executors and trustees of the estate, while the other two sons, J. Harry Selz and Emanuel F. Selz, together with Abraham K. Selz, were given the remainder of the estate after the special provisions had been met with.

Three funds of $50,000 each were also set aside by Mr. Selz in memory of Rosa Selz, his first wife; Hannah K. Selz, his second wife; and one fund in memory of himself. The income from the funds are to be used for charity work at the direction of the executors of the estate.

QUINCY, ILL., HAS BIG BLAZE; LOSS WILL BE NEAR $150,000.

Fire Starts in Livery Barn and Spreads—Church and Several Other Buildings Are Destroyed.

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 22.—Fire which started in Osgood's livery barn today quickly spread to adjoining buildings. The loss probably will reach $150,000.

The Quincy Transfer company also was destroyed and the fire then communicated to the First Baptist church.

While the fire was at its height flames started in the residence of J. W. Westerman, two blocks away, evidently caused by the sparks. The residence was destroyed.

The heaviest loss is sustained by George Osgood in the burning of forty horses. Among the horses which suffocated was Miss Breeze, a last trotting mare.

KENWOOD FLATS FIGURE IN DEAL

UNIVERSITY A BUYER.

Edgar B. Tolman Residence in Woodlawn Avenue Conveyed for $40,000 Consideration.

A big deal in Kenwood apartment house property has been closed, involving the Glencader apartments, at 4021-29 Ellis avenue. The building, which was erected by C. R. Gleason and completed only three months ago, has been sold by Robert N. Dow to Joseph and Oscar A. Cates. It contains thirty-six apartments of 2, 3, and 4 rooms, and occupies a lot with a frontage of 100 feet and a depth of 200 feet. It has a gross annual rent of about $17,400.

The actual consideration is withheld, but it is stated the purchasers paid approximately $155,000. In part payment Mr. Dow took the Lindell hotel, with 72x115 feet of ground, at Kokomo, Ind., and an eighteen apartment in Calumet avenue, with 150x138 feet of ground. E. J. Norcott of H. F. Norcott & Co. represented both parties to the transaction.

Details of Eitel Deal.

The deed in connection with the purchase by Emil and Karl Eitel from Alexander A. McKay of the fee of the Metropolitan block property at the northwest corner of Randolph and La Salle streets, which was filed for record yesterday, revealed some interesting details in connection with the transaction. The purchasers assumed an incumbrance of $250,000 and also gave a trust deed to the Northern Trust company to secure a part purchase money mortgage of $500,000 due March 1, 1916, and bearing 4 per cent. This would indicate the purchase price was $750,000, which is on a 4 per cent basis, as the annual ground rent is $30,000. The forty-one feet adjoining on the west was also given as security for the loan.

University Makes Purchase.

The University of Chicago has closed another purchase in the university district, comprising the residence of Edgar B. Tolman, former corporation counsel, on Woodlawn avenue ninety-seven feet south of Fifty-eighth street.

The lot has an east frontage of sixty feet with a depth of 170⅝, and is improved with a handsome three story brick dwelling. A consideration of $40,000 is given in the transfer and the purchase gives the university the ownership of the entire block between Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth streets with the possible exception of the Quadrangle club property at Fifty-eighth street. The Tolman property in connection with the other property in the block will be used by the university during the next four years in connection with its building plans in the block.

Hulda Antler has purchased from Mrs. Mary McDonough the property at the northwest corner of Grand avenue and May street, with store and flat improvements, for $36,000, subject to an incumbrance of $15,000. She gave in part payment the apartment house property at 1630 South Sawyer avenue, subject to an incumbrance of $18,625. Simons & Hurlburt represented both parties to the transaction.

John C. Krietenstein, builder, has sold to Emily J. Rice the apartment house property in Washington avenue, 250 feet south of Fifty-fifth street, with 50x150 feet of ground, east front, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $20,000. In part payment Mrs. Rice conveyed the property at 5734 Kimbark avenue, with 40x179 feet of ground, east front, the consideration being nominal.

Dock Site Sale Recorded.

Record was made of the purchase by the city of Chicago from the Chicago Canal and Dock company of the proposed site of the recreation pier and dock at the foot of Indiana street extended. There were two transfers, each having a consideration of $150,000, making a total of $300,000.

Benjamin Gross has sold to Joseph Werb the property at the northwest corner of Western and Pensacola avenues, 83x125 feet, with store and flat improvements, consideration nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $10,000.

The 6 flat building with 50x165 feet of ground, east front, in Monroe avenue, 28 feet north of Sixty-sixth street, has been sold by Charles Turner to Roman Sinadecki, consideration nominal subject to an incumbrance of $12,000.

RAILROADS MAKE VARYING EXHIBITS

Northwest Lines Indicate Good Gains; Trunk Line Group Loses.

WABASH REPORT BETTER.

Increase in Net Gain Exceeds 30 Per Cent; Operating Expenses Cut.

There are widely varying exhibits by the railroads now forwarding their preliminary annual reports. It is a bit too early to generalize on the statements thus far at hand, but indications are for good earnings by the northwestern roads during the fiscal year ended June 30 last and less favorable exhibits by the trunk line group.

The June earnings of eight of the former, for example, show gross of $42,400,000, an increase over June, 1912, of $4,180,000, or 10½ per cent. The showing of net after taxes is even better, an advance of 28 per cent, due in great measure to the particularly good showing of two of the group.

Twelve roads of the trunk line group, on the other hand, while showing a gain of nearly 9 per cent in gross, show an actual decrease in net figuring around 8 per cent.

Wabash Exhibit Good.

The day brought a good exhibit by the Wabash. June's gross showed a gain of 8 per cent and net advanced about two-thirds over the dismal showing of 1912. The year's showing is a gross gain of 12 per cent and a lowering of operating ratio that allows a net gain of better than 30 per cent. The condensed figures follow:

Gross	$31,769,285	$3,414,522
Operating	24,693,488	1,543,005
Net	7,075,797	1,871,517

New Haven Exhibit Poor.

New York, New Haven and Hartford offers a much less favorable comparison in its exhibit for the final quarter of the fiscal year, showing an immaterial gain in gross and a large decrease in net. The figures follow:

		Increase.
Oper. exps.	12,195,194	1,223,830
Net oper. rev.	4,662,605	*1,127,119
Outside deficit	69,050	405,475
Taxes	819,756	*103,117
Oper. income	3,773,799	*1,429,477

*Decrease.

Baltimore and Ohio.

As usual, the Baltimore and Ohio is the first to appear with earnings for the opening of the new fiscal year. The July statement is favorable, with a 9 per cent gain in gross and a scaling of expenses sufficient to leave a $300,000 net advance. This amounts to a 12½ per cent gain. The report follows:

July—	1913.	Increase.
Operating revenue	$8,838,810	$785,925
Operating expenses—
Maint. of way and struct.	1,258,488	120,559
Maint. of equipment	1,332,749	*102,596
Traffic expenses	193,473	23,423
Transp. expenses	3,165,456	416,430
General expenses	195,885	27,711
Total oper. expenses	6,146,001	485,527
Net oper. revenue	2,692,809	300,398

*Decrease.

The foregoing does not include outside operations, which, as estimated, will show a deficit in net in July, 1913, of $75,413.52, compared with deficit of $102,193.08 for July, 1912.

Known Money Movements.

Known movements of money in New York for the week ended Thursday indicate a net gain in cash by the New York banks of $2,448,000. The loss of $7,844,000 to the subtreasury on the transfers noted was more than offset by a gain of $7,292,000 from the interior.

American Steel Foundries.

In common with various other railway equipment companies, the American Steel Foundries company has experienced a year better than the average. The company now has on its books enough unfilled orders to keep its plants running at capacity well into the fall, and not long ago had unfilled business of greater volume than at any time save one in its history. Earnings during the spring and summer have been particularly good.

Last year's business of $14,000,000 will be passed easily. Unofficial information is that $17,000,000 or $18,000,000 will be near the mark. The record year was that in which $2,000,000 gross was shown. There is a probability that, with $1,000,000 or more earned in excess of dividends this year the company will add substantially to physical properties. There is only a small bonded debt.

Ship Dividend Improbable.

Local opinion is against the probability of a dividend declaration on American Shipbuilding common stock out of last year's earnings. The situation has been realized for some time, so much so that the minority stockholders' organization, demanding a dividend, has been well organized.

The attitude of the directors in not favoring a distribution is that there have been heavy costs from litigation, and it is inadvisable to leave so little for the surplus. Latterly the minority has announced nothing, but it is stated positively by individuals that the plan of protest has not been abandoned, merely delayed.

General Financial News.

The president of the American Locomotive company remarks, in connection with the announcement that the company will discontinue the manufacture of automobiles and motor trucks:

"When this company went into the automobile business in 1905 it was believed to be an attractive field of industry, but the business has not been a profitable one to the company, and the directors do not see any prospects of making it so in the near future. For this reason it has been decided to discontinue that branch of our business."

Sulzberger & Sons announce an arrangement for a sinking fund for the eventual retirement of preferred stock at 125 and accrued dividend. By the end of January next 1 per cent is to be cared for, and 1 per cent annually thereafter until 1917, when the 2 per cent retirements are to start.

Gross and profits of American Radiator in the first six months of the current year are stated to show an increase over the corresponding period of last year, and officials are hopeful over the outlook.

Application has been received at Washington for permit to organize the First National bank of Geneva, Ill., with $50,000 capital.

Auditor of Public Accounts Brady issued a permit to W. E. Finley, R. E. Laughlin, J. R. Howard, H. J. Hoppel, and E. H. Atkins to organize the Bridgeport Bank and Trust company of Bridgeport, Lawrence county, with a capital stock of $50,000.

Eastman Kodak Extra Dividend.

Eastman Kodak, whose earning capacity has been made manifest by numerous large and small dividends, has declared another extra dividend of 5 per cent on the common stock. This was announced together with the regular quarterly dividends of 2½ per cent on the common and 1½ per cent on the preferred, all payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 15.

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

New York, Aug. 22.—[Special.]—Some people talk about investment buying nowadays as if it didn't exist, or at least are inclined to think that it doesn't amount to much. A close study of the bond market at the present time would convince them that they are quite wrong. The whole keynote of the bond market at the present time is that there is no large supply of bonds anywhere near the present level of prices.

The bond market, in other words, has been thoroughly liquidated. The belief has been rejected that the recovery in bonds from the low of the year has been less on the average than that in stocks, and that activity is at an extremely low ebb. The demand for bonds may not yet be extremely large or insistent, but there are evidences that it is beginning to become greater than the supply. NoNwadays purchasers, unless they happen to want a bond just when it is offered, find that there are no bonds at all at the prevailing level of prices, and that it is necessary to bid to get them.

Chesapeake and Ohio showed inherent strength today. The best advance of the day over the price just before the reduction of the dividend was a gain of 2⅞ points. Mr. Trumbull's presentation of the outlook for the road in connection with its recent performance as a steady 7 per cent earner under ordinary conditions, showed the comfortable margin of safety the road will have in its 4 per cent rate.

The quick return to active operation on its lines put out of business by the floods and the resumption of heavy coal carrying traffic, point to a fulfillment of Mr. Trumbull's prediction that the present year will be a 7 per cent one. The attractiveness of the stock at the price did not pass unnoticed in London, and the buying there was continued here in sufficient amount to carry the prices substantially upward in the face of a heavy general market. Of course, short covering was prominent in the strength.

New Haven touched a new low record today when the stockholders authorized the $67,552,400 debenture. At 98½ it was ⅛ below the low mark reached on announcement of the debenture plan in the first of the month and the lowest it has been for nearly fifty years. The restlessness of the stockholders, as evidenced in the meeting at New Haven, and the criticism of the size of the underwriting syndicate commission, have been more definitely illustrated in the selling of the stock, which throughout the decline has been a parting of old holders with a long held treasure rather than in any wise a professional decline.

The restlessness of stockholders is probably a healthy sign in the New Haven, carrying with it a close watchfulness of the welfare of the property that will be to its benefit in the end.

Operating results of the New Haven for the quarter ended June 30 undoubtedly added to the weakness of the stock today. While gross was about the same as last year, net after taxes for the period amounting to $3,773,799, showed a loss of $1,429,479. The balance sheet of June 30, compared with that of Dec. 31 last, showed some very heavy shifting of accounts and large changes.

Securities freed from pledge during the six months have amounted to $115,000,000. The item "other investments" shows an increase from $75,000,000 to $133,900,000. Working assets show the big increase of $34,241,925 to $106,594,527, while working liabilities decreased about $7,000,000. The New Haven evidently is preparing for large changes in its financial makeup.

A large brokerage house reported today that its loaning of stocks has been considerably greater during August than during the corresponding periods of June and July. The fact would appear to be significant if this same condition were true in other large sources of stocks for loaning purposes. It would indicate that at the advancing prices in the market of late, a short interest has been forming steadily of rather large proportions. How far this lending has been going on is a question which brokers are quite uncertain about. The impression among a number of well informed men is that the short interest has been growing and that a good deal of borrowing has been going on privately outside of that done in the loan crowd.

SHEEP AND LAMBS RISE.

Receipts of 6,000 Head Cleared at 10@25 Cent Upturn; Cattle Hold Steady.

Hog prices at Chicago yesterday made a further gain of largely 10c and topped at $9.20, the highest price of the week. The market was active at the upturn, but weakened slightly towards the finish, when most of the desirable hogs had been sold. An average price of $8.34, against $8.26 on Thursday, was made and the bulk of fresh receipts cleared at $7.90 to $9.00. Shippers bought 4,000 head, while packers took, 11,800, and the stale supply was reduced to about 2,500 head.

Fresh receipts of 6,000 sheep and lambs were bought up about as fast as they could be unloaded at firm to 10@25c higher prices. Native lambs topped at $8.25, while more than 1,600 rangers cleared at $8.10. Good yearling wethers from Montana made $5.85 and lightweight wethers of medium quality went over the scales at $4.15. Country buyers paid $7.00 for feeding lambs.

Few desirable beef steers were included in cattle receipts of 1,500 head, and they cleared promptly at steady prices, although the demand for that class of stock was limited. Cows and heifers held steady, while calves were firm, with prime vealers at $11.50.

STATUS OF BUSINESS BETTER; RECORD EXCEEDS LAST YEAR.

Dun's Review Sees Encouraging Operations in Production and Distribution—Crop Marketings Heavy.

Dun's Review, published today by R. G. Dun & Co., will say:

"General business conditions maintain an encouraging basis, distinct betterment appearing in money and in the aggregate bank payments and trading defaults. These favorable developments induce a more confident tone in the industries, railroad, and investment circles. Current operations in production and distribution continue above those at this time last year, and there is less halting from the prolonged hot weather and reduced corn crop expectation.

"Crop marketings are seen to be well above those of a year ago, and there is also substantial improvement in arrivals of live meats and dairy products.

"Other movements," aside from those temporarily affected by outside labor troubles, indicate east and west bound tonnages sustained at the highest level, especially in crude materials, iron, and steel outputs, factory deliveries, forest, and mine products, and general merchandise.

"Current demands in both manufacturing and jobbing were stimulated by a notably increased attendance of buyers. New business, as expected, was mainly confined to early requirements, conservatism as to more distant needs and heavy financial commitments being maintained pending a better understanding of proposed tariff changes and the next official report as to crops.

"Contracts included no significantly large tonnages, but inquiries have been heavy for rails and quotations favored more extended buying by numerous consumers of moderate quantities. Metal working lines run steady, and more effort to obtain necessary supplies is a strengthening feature in the markets for hides, leather, wool, copper, and lumber.

"Bank clearings, $298,589,400, exceed those of corresponding week last year by 8.5 per cent and compare with $240,594,168 in 1911.

Failures reported in the Chicago district numbered 17, against 25 last week, 25 in 1912, and 19 in 1911. Those with liabilities over $5,000 number 5, against 9 last week, 6 in 1912, and 6 in 1911."

BANK CLEARINGS OF THE WEEK.

New York, Aug. 22.—Bradstreet's bank clearings report for the week ending Aug. 21 shows an aggregate of $2,814,864,000, as against $2,750,575,000 last week and $2,939,492,000 in the corresponding week last year.

FALL TRADE SHOWS SCARCITY IN DESIRABLE MERCHANDISE.

"Immediate business is keeping up strong and as the fall season opens up there is more evidence of the scarcity of desirable merchandise. The increase in road sales during the week, together with market purchases, indicated retailers are beginning to anticipate their needs liberally.

"Buyers have been in the market in unusual numbers from the south and southwest, particularly from Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Texas, and eastern Oklahoma, where crop conditions are much improved, and they report an increased confidence among the dry goods trade.

Good Foreign Reports Also Inspire, Though Trading Is Not Affected.

New York, Aug. 22.—A slow recession which carried down a dozen or more stocks from 1 to 2 points today, was succeeded by an equally slow recovery, and at the end of the session the leading shares were close to yesterday's final quotations. The day passed without important news concerning affairs upon which most emphasis is placed, and there was consequently a general disinclination to do much speculation.

Selling on the decline was concentrated in Steel, Union Pacific, and Reading, and the heaviness of these shares affected the remainder. There were no signs of weakness, however, and shorts grew uneasy. It was due principally to short covering that the market recovered its losses.

Crop News Brings Recovery.

Reports of rains in sections of the corn and cotton belts helped to bring about the recovery. Affairs in Mexico occupied less attention today for the reason that there was no news of importance from across the border. Reports of a record breaking foreign trade for July and the last year passed almost unheeded.

A small gain in cash for the banks this week was indicated by known movements of currency. There was an easier tendency in the money market, with quotable changes for the shorter maturities. Commercial paper also was easier, some paper being placed at a shade under 6 per cent, and scarcity of choice names was reported. Country banks continued to buy in volume.

Bond Prices Shade Slightly.

Prices of bonds were shaded slightly. Total sales, par value, $1,150,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BUSINESS. COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

SHARP REACTION IN GRAIN PRICES

WHEAT SUPPORT FEEBLE.

Corn Bulls Disposed to Take Profits; Hog Products Show Weak Undertone.

The tone of the wheat market was easier yesterday as the result of more favorable weather conditions in the northwest and on account of the heaviness in the coarse grains. Offerings were quite liberal, commission houses being fair sellers, while the demand was not at all urgent. Cables were generally steady to firm from the other side, and exporters were again moderate buyers of wheat. At the close prices were ¼ to ⅜c off.

Liverpool was unchanged at the close, Paris unchanged to 1c off, Antwerp ⅜c up, Berlin ⅜c off, and Budapest ⅜c higher. Russian advices were more favorable, but in the United Kingdom the weather was unsatisfactory. The demand for cargoes was reported good. Argentine reports indicated generally satisfactory conditions.

Exporters Buy Cash Wheat.

The cash demand was fair and prices were steady, especially for red winter wheat, which is gaining relatively to the May. There was reported a better milling demand here, and sales were 175,000 bu, including 150,000 bu to Baltimore exporters. Millers in Indiana reported light offerings from the farmers in their own sections, and consequently it is expected there will be a better demand for wheat at the terminals.

It is estimated there is nearly 10,000,000 bu wheat in all positions and on track in and around Kansas City, but at St. Louis the stocks of wheat are not particularly heavy and there continues to be a good demand. Northwest stocks are expected to increase from now on, but for the week there was a decrease of 800,000 bu. Duluth stocks decreased 226,000 bu for five days.

World's Shipments Small.

World's shipments were estimated at 11,400,000 bu, of which 7,032,000 bu was from this country and Canada, the bulk being from this country. Last year clearances from North America for the corresponding week were only 3,339,000 bu, or about half as much as shipped the past week. Argentina shipped 592,000 bu, India 936,000 bu, and Australia 360,000 bu. A moderate decrease in on passage stocks is predicted.

Receipts here were 206 cars, with 211 cars for today. Western receipts were 1,015,000 bu, against 1,212,000 bu a year ago. Northwest arrivals were 388 cars; last year, 204 cars. Winnipeg had 40 cars, against 74 cars last year. Clearances for the day were 895,000 bu wheat and flour.

Corn Bears More Active.

The cash demand here was good and there were sales of 300,000 bu. Sample prices were ¼@½c off.

Packers Buy Products.

While packers were credited with giving the hog products market a little support on the breaks, the buying demand generally was slow and prices were materially lower. The cash trade was of moderate proportions. Receipts here were 17,000 with 10,000 the estimate for today. Western points had 58,500, against 35,900 a year ago. Liverpool prices were unchanged. Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Cotton goods markets remain very firm in the gray goods division, but buying for the day was less broad owing to an easing in cotton. Wool markets are very steady and a broader demand noted for carpet wools. The world's raw silk markets show a crop shortage of 20 per cent which accounts for the rapid rise in the last two weeks. An active trade is passing in silk piece goods for spot delivery. Weekly exports, merchandise, $17,493,902.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

The weekly crop letter of Van Dusen-Harrington of Minneapolis said: "Excessive heat and rains have delayed harvest in North Dakota. Harvest fully one-third finished in extreme northern part, and with fair weather from now on should be completed by the last of next week. Rains have improved barley, but most early sown coarse grains and flax will be light. Thrashing started this week. In South Dakota the weather has been intensely hot, temperatures ranging from 93 to 108. Corn in the east central part is poor on account of the hot and dry weather, but in the southern part it is good. Flax suffered from heat and drought. The quality of the new thrashed wheat is good, testing from 58 to 63 lbs."

Indiana farmers were said to be after red winter wheat in this market yesterday, and this grade of wheat was quoted at 1c over the September in store. Mills reported light offerings of wheat in their home sections. The general cash demand here was fair and there were sales of 175,000 bu. Outside cash prices were firm. The seaboard reported sales for export of 120,000 bu. Cash corn was steady to ½c off and oats were ¼@½c lower. Offerings from the country were moderate. The shipping demand east was fair and sales for shipment were 200,000 bu corn and 300,000 bu oats.

Le Count wired Barrell from Foam Lake, Sask.: "From Yorkton here crop is splendid and wheat harvest will be general next week. Oats are principal crop in this territory and about half the crop is ready to cut, while much of the balance is very late. The Saskatchewan wheat crop is an average one and I believe 50 per cent of the wheat is safe from frost now and much is already in shock. Crop is maturing rapidly, and a few more days and most of the crop will be safe. Weather clear, warm, and favorable."

Bradstreet's reported exports of wheat and flour from both coasts this week at 7,083,000 bu, a decrease of 485,000 bu. Corn exports were placed at 66,000 bu, increasing 42,000 bu. Comparative totals follow:

	Wheat and flour.	Corn.
Previous week	7,517,000	24,000
Last year	3,389,000	87,000
Wheat since July 1	40,375,000	330,000
Last year	19,364,000	727,000

Argentine shipments of wheat this week were 592,000 bu, showing a decrease of 496,000 bu. Corn exports were 4,939,000 bu and flaxseed 780,000 bu. Compaartive totals follow:

	Wheat.	Corn.	Flax.
This week	592,000	4,939,000	780,000
Last week	1,088,000	7,642,000	683,000
Last year	224,000	5,832,000	120,000
Since Jan. 1	100,646,000	123,095,000	35,010,000

Modern Miller: "Most reports received this week refer to damage to the corn crop and little attention was given wheat. Thrashing of winter wheat has been delayed because of rains and in some localities it is said the grain shows indications of sprouting. There has been more plowing for the fall seeding of wheat as a result of the rains and cooler weather. Less than the usual acreage has been prepared so far, but with favorable weather this work will be facilitated. Since farmers have been busy in the fields plowing, there has been a marked falling off in the movement of winter wheat to market, and there is a tendency to hold for higher prices, especially since the market has been going up."

A provisions specialist's view: "On the steadier basis of prices the cash trade is reported good, and if hog receipts can be kept down to around a basis of 100,000 a week at Chicago, and the west in proportion or from that to 10 per cent more, the meats will go into consumption without much trouble around those levels, and the lard may work a little higher while that is going on."

Bartlett-Frazier: "Regarding the reports of free sales of corn to come here from Omaha, we have traced the same pretty closely and find that the quantity was about 30,000 bu at a price which would figure at least 1½c over our September, possibly more. We do not find that offerings from other sections amount to much and we think the whole matter very much exaggerated."

	This week.	Last week.	Last year.
Wheat	560,000	720,000	1,688,000
Corn	3,570,000	3,910,000	3,602,000

A Jacksonville grain man wired Bennett: "Have traveled over Morgan county for past three days and believe the farmers are being deceived in their corn as they were in their wheat, and also oats. Corn will be a great deal better than they expect."

A Buenos Aires cable said: "Have had plenty of rain all over. Floods have done much damage in the south part of Buenos Aires province. Communication suspended there on account of same. Weekly wheat shipments, 670,081 bu."

Indian shipments of wheat this week were 936,000 bu, against 1,848,000 bu last week, and 1,168,000 bu a year ago. Australian exports were 360,000 bu, compared with 584,000 bu a week ago, and 1,096,000 bu a year ago.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher; corn, steady to ½c lower; oats, steady to ⅜c lower; rye, ⅛@1c higher.

John E. Ross, Louis Brooks, and James E. Miller have made application for membership on the board of trade.

Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 800,000 bu for the week. Duluth decreased 226,000 bu for five days.

A. V. Booth reported the sale of three board of trade memberships yesterday at $2,150 net to the buyer.
